HANNA IS ALL RIGHT.

Is Most Certainly on Top in Ohio But With No Votes to Throw At the Birds.

Gorman's Defeat Is Greatly Decried By His Washing on Friends—Other Late Telegraphic News.

Columbus, O., Nov. 6.—The Ohio Legislature stands 74 Republicans, 70 Democrats and one doubtful on the official returns received up to last night. With a dozen or more of the eighty-eight counties very close, there have been no material changes except in Wood county, which will be claimed by both parties till the courts pass on the action of the supervisors.

There have been no unusual proceedings before the retiring boards of any counties, except that of Wood, although both parties have had their representatives and attorneys in the county seats wherever the vote was close.

Chairman McConville, of the Democratic State committee, has not changed his claim of a Democratic majority on joint ballot, and will not do so till the official returns of all counties are in and show the final results to differ from those he has on hand.

Chairman Nash insists tonight that the Legislature stands 70 Republicans to 70 Democrats, and that the majority on joint ballot for senator will not be less than five. He says he is tonight satisfied with the situation in Wood county. What he feared was the official count might wipe out the small Republican plurality in that county.

Since the face of the official tally sheets show a plurality of 31 for the Republican representative Judge Nash says he is willing and ready to have any court pass on the case.

GORMAN'S DEFEAT.
Regretted By His Friends at the National Capital.

Washington, Nov. 6.—The defeat of Senator Gorman in Maryland is sincerely regretted by Democrats here. His valuable services to the people of the South in defeating the outrageous Force measure were of itself sufficient to always entitle him to the Southern people. It was also Senator Gorman who saved the election of Mr. Cleveland in 1881, for had it not been for his tact and nerve the state of New York would have been counted for Mr. Blaine. These are only two of the many noteworthy events in the political life of the Maryland Senator. He has always been a good Democrat and served his party with ability and courage. For years he has been the leader of his side in the Senate, and sustained his position with ability and diplomacy.

Wages Increased 10 Per Cent.
Martha's Ferry, O., Nov. 6.—When the fifty employees at the Martha's Ferry Blast Furnace opened their pay envelopes this afternoon they were surprised to find that their wages had been increased 10 per cent. They did not ask for a raise. It is due entirely to the Dingley bill.

FRANKS GETS THERE.

Will Succeed Yantell as Collector of the Second District.

Rumor That Hanna May Yet Be Defeated For Senator.

Washington, Nov. 6.—E. T. Franks, of Owensboro, will succeed Yantell as collector of the Second district. This has been thought to be the plan all along.

HANNA IN A TIGHT PLACE.
But the Ohio Legislature is Safely Republican.

Cincinnati, Nov. 6.—The Ohio Legislature is safely Republican, but a combite is said to be on foot to defeat Senator Hanna for reelection.

UNVEILING OF MONUMENTS.
Will Take Place Tomorrow at Oak Grove.

The unveiling ceremonies of the Woodmen of the World, which were to have taken place at Oak Grove last Sunday, and were postponed on account of the weather, will take place tomorrow, and the same program will be rendered.

Farmer Assassinated.
Tompkinsville, Ky., Nov. 6.—Christopher Smith, a wealthy farmer of this county, was assassinated last night by unknown persons.

BRADLEY FOR SENATOR.

The Governor "Announced" By His Friends. But of Course He Knows Nothing About It.

An Innocent Rumor That Won't Hurt Bradley Or Any One Else—Where Will Hunter Be About Then.

Frankfort, Nov. 6.—Hon. W. O. Bradley, governor of Kentucky, is an "announced" candidate for United States Senator to succeed Hon. Wm. Lindsay at the election to be held in January, 1900. The governor may not know about it himself, but he is announced just the same by two or three close friends who have whispered it to one another since last Tuesday night, and who have written confidential letters to other friends telling them the governor must and will make the race, etc. One of these was charged with originating such a movement and half confessing, in undertones, said:

"Well, why shouldn't it be Bradley against Blackburn, with party lines again tightly drawn, and a campaign for the office to precede the election of the Legislature? While I have no authority to speak for the Governor, I believe that will be the race. I believe it has been demonstrated that he is the best leader our party has; that when it allows him to lead we win, and when he is set aside we lose. If he goes into the thing before the new legislature are selected in November, 1899, he will go in to win. He will stamp every county in the state in behalf of the Republican nominees for the Legislature and in behalf of the Republican state ticket, which will be headed by some such man as John W. Yerkes for governor."

"In that campaign Blackburn, with a number of hold-over senators at his back, will be on the stump night and day speaking for Goebel for governor, the rest of the state ticket, and the democratic nominees for the Legislature. When have we in our party so able to meet Blackburn and Goebel in such a campaign as Bradley and Yerkes? And would not it be a campaign going sales to me?"

The state officers and the United States senators would depend upon it, and whoever won either half or all of the victory would be in a job for prominence and preferment in the presidential campaign of the following year. It is not as far off as it seems. Both parties will have out their candidates for both senator and governor not later than next spring. I have told you who at least one of them will be. Others of the present state administration may make mistakes, but he is making and intends to make none. No, don't say anything to him about it; he would nearly certainly say no, but I tell you a few of us have already announced him and whether he wants to or not, we know how to make him run the race and win."

"HOBBO" DAY.
Twenty-One Get Thirty Day Sentences.

Four Dismissed—One Had A Pistol Concealed

This was "hobbo" day in Judge Sanders' exposition. There was over a score of them, the majority of them being colored. Four gave sufficient reasons to show they were not vagrants, and were released, while twenty-one were sentenced to twenty days in the chain gang.

The four released were: George Jackson, Joseph Moore, Sam Smith and Clay. Joseph Moore committed over John Dyer, John Bell, Joe Lewis, Avery Lewis, Will Webb, Thomas Rake, Tom Crenshaw, Eugene Jackson, Tom Brown, Will Riley, Kow Jones, O. O. Weathers, Walter Washington, George Williams, Andy McDaniels, John Moore, Fred Clark, Henry Brown, John Conway, Wm. George and Charles Rekins.

Bozz Leure, an Italian, who has been in the county but twenty-two months, and who was caught in the mill made on tramps at the Y-m, made by Officers Eilman, Johnson and Cross, had a pistol and was fined $25 and ten days in jail.

Nancy Nelson, colored, was fined $5 and costs for striking Sallie Nater.

Mary Francis Caldwell, colored, was fined $1 costs for drunkenness.

DOUBLE WEDDING

Missouri People Come to Kentucky to Marry.

They Were Very Anxious to Dodge Newspaper Reporters.

A wedding took place at the court house at 11 o'clock this morning. County Judge J. C. Tully officiating.

Two couples arrived from Missouri on the forenoon St. Louis train and were driven to the court house this morning. They found their way to Clerk Graham's office and one couple called for a marriage license. Clerk Graham then issued a license to Patrick J. O'Rourke, aged 23, a mechanic, and Miss Julia Agnes Wood, aged 22, both of St. Louis.

After a brief consultation, the other couple asked for a license, and Clerk Graham proceeded to issue one to Cortez D. Bash, aged 25, a railroad engineer of Hannibal, Mo., and Miss Lulu McCubbin, of Breckinridge, Mo. This matrimonial quartette was then ushered into Judge Tully's office, where the latter couple were united in the presence of quite a crowd of spectators. The other couple, Mr. O'Rourke and Miss Wood, concluded to be married by the Catholic priest, but for some reason were not. They were married at 2 o'clock this afternoon by Justice Litta at the St. Nicholas Hotel.

Neither couple desired to have the announcement of the marriage made public, for some reason. The young men strenuously objected to giving a St. Louis reporter the names or any other facts relative to the wedding, being ignorant of the fact, apparently, that the affair was a matter of public record.

The young people are said to be cousins, and came over here to evade the Missouri law. They seemed unusually eager to have the marriages kept a secret. They will leave for home on the train this evening.

SANCHEZ CONFESSES.

Says He Killed Jennie Warren. But Claims It Was An Accident—Latest Developments of the Case.

Something of the Young Spanish Villain's Past Life—The Remains of His Victim Buried This Afternoon.

Jose Sanchez, alias "Fred C. Saunders," under which latter name he was married to Jennie Warren, with whose murder he is now charged, has confessed. He now admits that he shot his young and pretty wife, but claims it was through accident. The remains of his innocent, unsuspecting victim were interred in Oak Grove this afternoon. Sanchez is in jail at Denver. In a confession to detectives he stated that he was standing beside the bed when his pistol went off and killed his wife. To several newspaper reporters the following day he said he was sitting on the side of the bed beside his sleeping wife when the pistol was accidentally discharged. Neither story is credited by the police, however, as the bullet went in the side of the girl's head and emerged over the right ear, taking off a piece of that member, and penetrating her pillow directly beneath. It is evident that the girl was asleep when the fatal bullet was fired by her inhuman slayer, and that he was standing directly over her at the time.

After the killing an empty vial was found in the room. Sanchez claimed he had given his wife a dose of bromo-quinine, but when taken to a chemist the latter said it had contained poison.

One thing is known by the girl's relatives here, and that is she had been gradually becoming more and more ill, and had lost sixteen pounds of flesh lately. She often complained of this illness in her letters here, and the supposition is that her husband was attempting to poison her by degrees.

The stomach was removed from the remains of the girl and retained at Denver for analysis. Another thing that might strengthen the theory of attempted poisoning is the fact that one of Sanchez's most intimate friends, a prize fighter called "Mexican Pete," visited their room on the day preceding the killing and found the girl vomiting. Her husband said he had taken a cold and he gave her some bromo-quinine.

After the victim had been carried to the morgue and the remains prepared for burial, the authorities went to Sanchez to obtain money enough to bury her. He said he had none, and it was decided to inter the remains in Potter's field, but the kind-hearted police started a fund and soon the contributions began coming in thick and fast. In the meantime Officer Barnhart, of the city, telegraphed the money with which to bury her. Sanchez attempted to have the remains held at Denver until today, saying that his father from New Mexico would be there with plenty of money.

Sanchez seems to be a typical Spanish villain. He resided in New Mexico until the 5th of last June. He attended a ball on the night of June 5th and there, after dancing with his sweetheart, left the ballroom or a few moments. When he returned he found her dancing with a rival, and drawing his pistol he pointed it at her head and fired, but his rival at this juncture knocked the gun up and the bullet flew wild. The father took him immediately to the station in a hack, gave him $1200 and a ticket to Chicago, via Denver, and told him to skip. When Sanchez reached Denver he concluded to stop there instead of going to Chicago. One day he saw in a book store window a copy of Gannell's "Mormon Journal," published at Toledo, Ohio, and bought a copy. In it he saw an advertisement from Miss Jennie Warren, of Paducah, Ky. He answered it. The letter reached the residence of Officer Jeff Barnhart, and Mrs. Barnhart ascertained its contents and burned it. Some one told the girl and in indignation she left the officer's home and went to Metropolis, to live with her father. She received another letter from Sanchez, which in some way was forwarded, and soon agreed to marry him. Her relatives were always opposed to the match, and her indiscretion finally proved her death. Her husband did not treat her well, and it is said when his pugilistic friend, Mexican Pete, was ill, compelled her to nurse him during his illness. It is gleaned from his letters that he deliberately planned to marry some orphan, have her life insured, and then get rid of her in some way.

Sanchez claims that the killing was an accident, and that he was prompted in his admission to the shooting by the desire to save the state the cost of a trial. The police think, however, that it was deliberate murder.

There is no capital punishment in Colorado, and should the husband be convicted he will get nothing worse than a life sentence. His father is a rich sheep owner of New Mexico, and will doubtless turn loose plenty of money to free his son. He is now at Denver.
