WRITTEN AT RANDOM.

Mrs. Theresa Gilbert, who volunteered her services to the government as nurse in case of war, received a reply from Congressmen Wheeler yesterday, saying that he had recommended her to the secretary of war, and would do all in his power to assist her in getting the place. Mrs. Gilbert is a well known Paducah woman, and was the second from Kentucky to volunteer her services.

Last night one young man was seen on Broadway tagging and pulling at another.

"Come on, come on," he insisted, as the drums and life stirred the blood of the young men.

"I won't do it," resolutely declared the other, as he strenuously resisted.

"Oh, come on, that will be all right," reassured the other.

"No, I don't want to go. If I go up there they'll talk me into signing, and I'm afraid to go to war," he declared. And when the procession passed he was one of those who did not get in the push.

"This war between the United States and Spain reminds me of something I saw up in Indiana," remarked a drummer at the Palmer last night.

"I was passing a store when a tall man, evidently about 6 feet high, camp along. A little man rushed out of the store and began kicking the tall man in the rear.

"Hello, Johnnie, what are you doing?" pleasantly inquired the tall man, as he looked around at his diminutive assailant.

"At an I going? Vy, you fann fool, I'm vighting! can't you tell it?" replied the little man.

"That will be what Uncle Sam asks Spain when fighting begins."

There is a well known resident of the county named Radford, who lives in the old Trilling place. His friends are telling a good joke on him.

The other night he had retired and about dropped off to sleep, when he heard the distant roar of cannon.

He has kept pretty well up in war news, and came to the conclusion that war was in progress. Hastily donning his clothes, he went outside and began firing his old muzzle-loader in his ecstasy. He awoke the remainder of the family, and everybody else about the place and made them all celebrate. The neighbors also joined in the celebration, and it was not until morning that they all found out that the supposed war was only an election celebration in Brooklyn, Ill.

The biggest coward I saw during the entire war," related an old soldier "was the bravest man in a physical fight I ever saw. He could whip almost any man in his town in a rough and tumble fight, and never hesitated to demonstrate his prowess whenever the opportunity presented itself. In fact, he was a bully.

"I was alongside him in his first battle, and I never in all my life, before or since, saw such an abject coward. He was as pale as a sheet, and finally going to the captain said, 'Captain, I just can't stay in here. I'll die if I try it.' And the man actually had to be sent to the rear. He was not simply frightened for the time being, no because it was his first battle, but was that way during the whole time he was in my company."

The old soldier explained the man's fright by saying that some men are afraid of the unseen enemy, while others are afraid of only the known enemy. A man who will willingly cope with a foe when confronted, will cringe and collapse when there is an unseen enemy about. Men who fear to get into even a fistfight, on the other hand, often make the best soldiers, because they fear only the foe they can see.

It is a matter of interest, if not disgust, to note that those who had been for months clamoring for the independence of Cuba, and who, ever since the destruction of the Maine, have cried aloud for Spanish blood, have now drawn in their horns, as it were, and have become devoted little boys. They have given some ridiculous excuses when asked to enlist, and it is very evident that nothing short of conscription will get them into a company for fighting purposes. Such people are all right, so long as there is someone else to do their fighting for them, and they are willing that the blood of the Spaniards be spilled—so long as someone else does the spilling. These people are the patriots, and are the same ones who persistently abused the president because he didn't have war sooner—so they could stay at home and read about it.

COLORED DEPARTMENT.

CHILDREN OUSE MOLE.

On the child subject it may be said that parents have no more right to treat their children inhumanly than they have to treat another man or woman inhumanly.

The utter indifference of some parents to the welfare, present and future, of their children, will be seen in days to come, when, for a woeful lack of those things that go to make a true man and woman, they will be shunned and scorned.

In most of our families reprints are met with a thoughtless negative, or which is equally as bad, a thoughtless affirmative. We do not in our intercourse with our fellowmen act so. Even an invitation to a party or a ball or dinner, is considered and accepted or declined, for some reason we are ready to give. If some person asks you to do a certain thing, if you have good sense you decide only after you have reasoned about it. This is the kind of treatment a child wants, but does not get—merely the right to be recognized as an individual. Too often the child is kept in a too strict subjection or in no subjection at all.

A writer tells of a child which some years ago was abandoned by its parents to the care of strangers, who to remove it from all evil influences placed it in an orphan's home. Then it was adopted by a man and woman who brought it up faithfully and affectionately, standing in the place of the parents and fulfilling the neglected duties of its own father and mother.

That child grew into a place of its own, knew nothing of its parents; drew to itself new affections, and gradually opened its nature to new influences. After a while its real father died; its real mother who had not been married, married and established a home for herself. Accident brought to her knowledge of the child, and, after eight or ten years, claims it under the rights of motherhood. There is good ground for that right being disputed by those who had performed the duties she had so wretchedly neglected, but that is not the point. The consideration is not the rights of these grown disputants, but that of the children. The child surely at that time ought to have had some right of choice, some right to be heard. A child is not a chattel. If it is to be so considered, if parents may renounce and at will remove parental control, then we had as well close the reformatories and leave the children to get on without the help of philanthropy.

We use this as an illustration, it has often been the case, and is full of instruction. We would not weaken the authority of father or mother, but father and mother should hold each other to an accountability for the abuse of their authority, and so learn to treat their children reasonably. In our dealings with children we are apt to be severe and exacting. Some of us are fond of them, ambitious for them, and so are dissatisfied unless they excel in everything. But how is it with ourselves? Have we in the school of life always won the great prizes, and can we give to our children as good an account as we require of them?

This is not the usual way of looking at the subject, but it is the only just way, and when it is acted upon parents are happier, and children reach manhood and womanhood with healthier minds and bodies, with happier dispositions and with a more reasonable hopefulness of the future.

The local talent is rubbing up on the national game.

There will be a rally at the First ward church all day next Sunday. Rev. I. N. Smith, of Bandana, will preach at 11 o'clock and 8 o'clock services, and Rev. J. W. Hawkins will preach at 3 in the afternoon. All friends are invited to come out and help us.

MILITARY MEETING.

A Large Crowd at the City Hall Last Night to Enlist—77 Names Secured.

Speeches Made and War Declared Against Spain—General Enthusiasm.

An enthusiastic meeting was held last night to secure names to a petition to Gov. Bradley asking that a military company be mustered in here all signers agreeing to become members.

Early in the evening the crowd began to assemble at Dicke's tailor establishment, on Broadway, and with fire and drum attracted great attention.

The streets were in a remarkably short time thronged with enthusiastic citizens, and cannon and giant crackers were fired in many places.

At 8 o'clock a march began, headed by Officer Fred Hoyer, as fifer, and Messrs Robertson and Bour, snare drummers, and Mr. Charles Warren with a bass drum. The line of march was down Broadway and up Court street, the city hall being the destination.

The crowd fairly overran the police court room, and Mr. Tom Jackson, sergeant major of the Second battalion of the Third Regiment, K. S. G., called the meeting to order.

Mr. Will Farley was chosen chairman, and stated that the meeting was called for the purpose of securing volunteers for a military company. He made some very patriotic remarks, which were greeted with enthusiastic cheers.

Officer Fred Hoyer, a veteran of the civil war, was called, but said he was no speaker, and could only play the fife.

The work of securing signers then began, and soon a large number was added to the list. Each signer, as he went up, was greeted with prolonged cheers. Capt. W. G. Whitfield was among the signers, being the oldest one, 60 years of age.

A committee composed of the chairman, Mr. Jackson and one or two others was appointed to draft the petition to Gov. Bradley and forward it at once.

The list included seventy-seven names when the meeting adjourned.

Rev. W. K. Penrod, of the First Baptist church, has sent in to Gov. Bradley, his application for the place of chaplain of the company to be raised here. He is very enthusiastic, and says he does not desire to go unless the troops are sent to the front.

Mr. F. G. Rudolph, although somewhat disabled by an accident which befel him over a year ago, is very anxious to go, as is also Mr. V. A. McCutchen, who lost an arm in the civil war. The city is full of men who desire to become soldiers, but the strange part is that so few young men want to go. It surely can't be that they are cowards, for Kentucky does not produce these. It looks strange, however, that 100 young men out of a city of 25,000 people cannot be found who are willing to go.

In some cities of only a few thousand, companies two or three in number have been raised.

Mr. Tom Jackson is at the Dicke establishment, where he will receive the names of all others who desire to become members.

U. S. COURT.

H. H. Stepto and Others, in Admiralty, steamer Beaver.

Whereas, a libel was filed in the district court of the United States at Paducah, Ky., on the 29th day of March, 1898, by H. B. Stepto and J. A. Campbell against the steamer Beaver, her engines, tackle, apparel, furniture and owners thereof, alleging in substance that said steamer is justly indebted to them for services as seamen, etc., in the sum of $200. That said steamer is justly indebted to them in said sum, that same has never been paid, and prays process against said steamer Beaver as aforesaid, and that said steamer may be condemned and sold to pay said claims, with costs and expenses.

Now, therefore, in pursuance to the direction under seal of said court, to me directed, I do hereby give public notice to all persons claiming the said steamer Beaver, or in any way interested therein, that they be and appear before the district court of the United States, in the city of Paducah, Ky., on or before the 2d day of May, 1898, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to interpose their claims, and to make their allegations in that behalf.

The big pump at the water works was repaired last night and put to work and by 7 o'clock this morning the standpipe had been filled to overflowing. A HOUSEHOLD REMEDY.

And it never fails to cure Rheumatism, Catarrh, Pimples, Blotches, and all diseases arising from impure blood, is Botanic Blood Balm, (B. B. B.) Thousands endorse it as the best remedy ever offered to mankind. The thousands of cures performed by this remedy are almost miraculous. Try it, only $1 per large bottle.

A PHYSICIAN'S EVIDENCE—AN HONEST DOCTOR.

Although a practitioner of near twenty years, my mother influenced me to procure Botanic Blood Balm, B. B. B., for her. She had been confined to her bed several months with Rheumatism, which had stubbornly resisted all the usual remedies. Within twenty-four hours after commencing B. B. B., I observed marked relief. She has just commenced her third bottle, and is nearly as active as ever, and has been in the front yard with "rake in hand," cleaning up. Her improvement is truly wonderful and immensely gratifying.

Coral May Become Fashionable.

Queen Margherita of Italy intends to be seen a good deal this season wearing coral jewelry, in order to encourage an industry which of late years has somewhat fallen upon evil days. It would not be surprising if the fashion were to spread to London, as coral is becoming to almost any complexion, and can of course be had in any shade. From rose-pink so delicate as to be almost imperceptible, up to a vivid red. If a revival of the dainty old filigree setting should also set in, the outcome should mean many pretty things of a kind that would be quite a novelty to the girls of to-day.

The Proper Sauce.

"You wouldn't serve mint sauce with Wall street lamb, would you?" asked the observant boarder.

"Certainly," replied the cross-eyed boarder, "I have had a variety of lamb with United States mint sauce. Brokers would not care for it without"—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.
