SHORT LOCALS.

DIED IN LOUISVILLE.

Mr. Walter Kirkpatrick, an employe at Senmon's mill, received the sad announcement that his sister, Miss Corina, whom he did not know was ill, died yesterday in Louisville.

DELEGATES APPOINTED.

Mayor Lang is in receipt of a letter from the Memphis Cotton exchange, stating that there is to be a convention there on the 17th, 18th and 19th of November, and asks that delegates be appointed. The mayor will at once appoint them.

Four days more have been added to our closing-out sale. Thursday, November 3d, sees the last of it. THE KENTUCKY GLASS AND QUEENSWARE CO.

PAINFULLY BURNED.

The little son of Mr. Al Wicks, engineer at the Palmer house, was painfully burned late Saturday, his clothing catching fire at the grate. His arms and legs were burned before the flames could be smothered out. Dr. Robertson dressed his injuries.

Don't experiment, but get the old reliable Plantation Chilli Cure.

SPEAK AT BANDANA.

Hon. C. K. Wheeler went down to Bandana this morning to meet Mr. Reeves on the stump there today. He will not return until tomorrow. Although the campaign is nearing a close, there is little interest being taken in it.

Don't experiment, but get the old reliable Plantation Chilli Cure.

MULE BADLY HURT.

Mr. J. J. Read, the coal merchant, will ask damages of the city for an injury to one of his mules Saturday evening. The animal stepped on a culvert in Rowlandtown, and the plank broke, one end penetrating the animal's side half a foot. It was a recent purchase of Mr. Read, and he alleges that the accident was due to the city's negligence.

CUT HER THROAT.

Mrs. Jack Haynes, who lived three miles from Benton, cut two gashes on each side of her throat Saturday evening with suicidal intent. She is the mother of the one pound baby that died last week, and grief at his demise is alleged to have prompted the rash act. She died of her injuries.

Special arrangement has been effected to give the people of the city four days more, for bargains at our retail store cease Thursday, November 3d, sure. THE KENTUCKY GLASS AND QUEENSWARE CO.

SAW MILL TO BE MOVED.

Mr. J. H. Burkholder will shortly move his saw mill from Oaks, on the N. C. & St. L., to Ashville, Tenn. Mr. A. B. Cox, the superintendent will remain with Mr. Burkholder in that capacity.

THE BEST SHOES

In the city are found at Cochran & Owen's, at very low prices. 331 Broadway.

LODGE NOTICE.

Esther lodge No. 1162 Knights and Ladies of Honor will meet in regular session Tuesday night, Nov. 1st, at 7 o'clock, at their hall in the Campbell building. All members are requested to attend this meeting, as arrangements will be made to entertain some of the grand lodge officers.

Members of Rachel lodge No. 14 are requested to meet with us. J. G. SWETZER, Rec. Sec.

SWITCHMAN HURT.

Grant Thompson, a car inspector on the Illinois Central, had his left hand painfully smashed this morning at the Union depot. He was under a car trying the brakes when the fireman on the engine turned on the air and the iron came to and smashed him.

CIRCUIT COURT.

The case of the Wisdom executors against the First National bank is still on trial in the circuit court, and will probably not be finished until tomorrow night.

TEACHERS BACK.

Public School Teachers Out After Long Illness.

Misses Laura Hand, Katie White and Miss Parker, who have been ill for sometime past, the first-named for several weeks, all returned to their respective rooms today, and the only teacher now ill is Miss Murray. The average attendance of the schools last week was 2,165, and would have been larger but for the decrease in the colored schools.

KILLED IN MEMPHIS.

Former Resident of Paducah Meets Death There.

John Gottman, formerly a resident of Paducah, but lately a switchman on the L. & N. at Memphis, was killed while in the discharge of his duties yesterday at the latter city. He is a brother-in-law of Mr. John Boyke, the plasterer. The remains will be buried in Memphis.

LITTLE INTEREST TAKEN.

The Courier-Journal's Benton correspondent sends the following dispatch: There has been less interest taken in the approaching election than was ever known before in this country.

There seems to be no enthusiasm by the democrats; the republicans have little interest, as they have no candidate of their own, and even the Populists, who are usually hustlers in this county, have been very quiet so far, though their chairman claims that they are some of the best candidates. Reeves, now some interest being taken now and election day. Wheeler and Reeves will make their closing speeches of the campaign here on the day before the election.

SICK LIST.

Mr. Wm. Dimmick, foreman at Kilgore's mill, is dangerously ill at his home in Mechanicsburg.

Mr. Chas. Kiger, the well known Evansville drummer, is reported very ill from appendicitis at his home in Evansville. His many friends here will regret to learn of his illness.

Master Jessie, the son of Mr. John Hession, is ill.

Mr. George Prince, who has been ill for the past week, is able to be out again, as his many friends will learn with pleasure.

James Conley, of Clements mill, is on the sick list.

GREAT SCENE.

Chattanooga at Morton's Opera House Tomorrow Night.

The crowning effect which is produced by the locomotive in the last act of Chattanooga is most creditable to Mr. Carter's ingenuity. A big engine and tender standing in the middle of the stage is given the appearance of rapid motion by means of a back ground, provided by one of the motion picture appliances. The effect continues for several minutes and is simply startling in its realism.

NEW WINDOWS IN.

The Baptist Church Nearing Completion—Very Pretty. This morning the new stained glass windows for the First Baptist church, which is undergoing repairs, were placed, and greatly improve the beauty of the building. The repairs are rapidly nearing completion, and the church will be ready for dedication the latter part of the month.

FINE PRODUCTION.

Chattanooga at Morton's Opera House Tomorrow Night.

Seats are now on sale at Van Cullin's book store for the great scenic production "Chattanooga" which appears at Morton's opera house tomorrow night.

IS MEETING WITH SUCCESS.

The many friends of Mr. J. Weightman Smith will be pleased to learn of the improved condition of his health and his success in business in California. He is now located at Los Angeles, and has just been elected manager of the Magnolia Fruit Company, a mammoth industry.

Monday to Thursday night—but four days more of our special sale. THE KENTUCKY GLASS AND QUEENSWARE CO.

Exalted Ruler Andy Weil, Jr., of Paducah Lodge, B. P. O. E., entertained the lodge Saturday evening at Elks' Hall in honor of his forty-ninth birthday. Refreshments and cigars were served to a large number of members, and immediately after the "11 o'clock toast" Mr. A. W. Grief, in behalf of the lodge, presented the exalted ruler with a handsome silver smoking set.

Two train-wreckers, arrested at Acworth, Ga., confessed a plot to wreck a passenger train on the Western and Atlantic.

New York papers vary widely in their estimates of the result of the election in that state, but most of them think the chances in favor of Van Wyck.

The work of mustering out the Second Kentucky regiment was completed at Lexington yesterday except as to the officers, the most of whom are yet to be discharged.

The Rev. Samuel Matchmore, one of the most prominent ministers in the Presbyterian church, died in Philadelphia yesterday. Years ago he occupied a pulpit in Louisville.

Rev. M. E. Chappell, of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, leaves in the morning, accompanied by his family, for Brownsville, Texas, their new home. The church is now without a pastor, but will doubtless soon have another.

BEAUTIFUL PADUCAH!

Its Past, Present and Future Will Be Set Forth in the Sun's Columns.

The great industrial edition to be published on Thanksgiving day is not intended to mark any special feature in the history of Paducah or of the Sun, but it is intended to convey to the citizens of this busy city the fact that Paducah is wide awake and progressive; that there are to be found advantages here greater than those of neighboring towns, and that with the splendid railroad facilities and superior water connections, Paducah has a great future.

The history of Paducah will be set forth in a manner that will be attractive and command the respect of the people at large.

The Sun on that day will be the largest newspaper ever published in Paducah, and the circulation we guarantee many thousands in excess of the regular edition.

POOR HOUSE CHANGES HANDS

Tomorrow morning the newly-elected keeper of the poor house, Mr. Sam Sneed, assumes management of that institution, succeeding Mr. Hugh Craft, who has held the place one year. There are now about seventeen inmates at the poor farm, all that can be accommodated.

GOES TO TEXAS.

Rev. M. E. Chappell, of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, leaves in the morning, accompanied by his family, for Brownsville, Texas, their new home. The church is now without a pastor, but will doubtless soon have another.

BUSIER AND BUSIER

Week after week our sales grow, and our store becomes more important and popular. To charge high prices would be a blunder, and no store has ever grown on a blundering policy. Our goods can be absolutely depended upon. Further, we stand ready to refund the money you spend here, if, for any reason, you wish it. No wonder our store gets busier and busier.

SUITS and OVERCOATS.

Still the marvelous selling continues—every day our clothing floor is packed and more and more salesmen are necessary to keep up with the rush. It's values like these that bring the crowds—values that no other stores can possibly hope to duplicate.

Men's Nobby Suits. A remarkable assortment—all the new shades, as well as blues and blacks, in Scotch Cheviots and smooth Thibets—every suit splendidly tailored and finished with extra good linings and trimmings, single and double breasted sack styles—worth $12.50 and $15. The Hub price $10.

Finer Men's Suits. Genuine Auburn Meltons in solid blues, browns, blacks and grays—neat smooth Casimeres, nobby Scotch mixtures and handsome Clay Worsteds in black and Oxford grey—all cut in the latest style, elegant in design and faultless in finish, real $16 and $18 values. Hub price $12.50.

Gentlemen's Dress Suits. Made of specially selected silk mixed Worsteds, fancy Cheviots, Clay Worsteds and Thibets—every suit a gem of art and equal to anything that the custom tailors can turn out at $22.50 and $25.00. Hub offers these fashionable suits to you at $15.00.

Stylish Topcoats and Overcoats. That are the peer of any you'll see elsewhere at $12.50 and $15.00. English Covert cloths in drabs, tans and blues. Best domestic Kerseys in blue, black, brown and tan, Italian lined and skeleton coat, satin sleeve, marvels of goodness. $9.50.

A GREAT SURGEON.

Genius of Carl Thiersch—Took Real Interest in His Patients.

Thiersch is reported to have said of himself that he was really an anatomist gone astray. In the interest of suffering humanity, however, it was surely well that he turned from anatomy to surgery, for he was a surgeon by the grace of God. He possessed not only the necessary firmness of eye and hand, but also a sovereign calmness that even in the most trying situations never failed him. Above all, the most beautiful quality that a great physician can have was not: he was possessed of delicate sensibilities, and was thoroughly humane in his disposition. The last quality was perhaps the most prominent of Thiersch's many virtues, yet it was the one he endeavored most carefully to conceal. He burdened his heart with every one of his seriously sick patients, in critical cases he hurried to the hospital at the most unusual times, and if, contrary to his expectations, a serious operation resulted unsuccessfully, it was often days and even weeks, as Lenderer tells us, before he could reconcile himself to the result. He would criticize himself severely in order to determine whether he had not some mistake or neglect with which to reproach himself. Thiersch's favorite resort was the children's wards. There he could devote himself to each without reserve. He remembered each of his little patients, and when, after leaving the hospital he occasionally met them in the street, he used to speak with them and inquire after their health. And for this "Herculean" labors, he was deeply revered by all who had been his patients, and it was a festival for them when his birthday or some other occasion gave them an opportunity of showing their affection by some little attention.—Prof. Wilhelm His, in Popular Science Monthly.

THE ELECTORAL COLLEGE.

Is a Curious and Complicated Piece of Machinery.

The electoral college is a piece of political machinery so complicated that to the uninitiated its working is difficult of comprehension. When men vote for president of the United States, they do not find the name of the candidate for whom they vote upon their tickets, but, instead, a list of names of men, most of whom they never heard of before. These are the electors, who, when chosen, proceed to the capital of the state in which they live, and there cast the vote of the state for the man of their choice. They are supposed to vote for the ticket on which they were elected, and there has never been a case in our political history in which an elector proved false to the trust reposed in him. After the state electors have cast their votes the result is recorded and transmitted in duplicate to Washington, where the vote are counted in congress. The original intention of the framers of the constitution was that the candidates for president and vice president should not come before the people at all. This intention has been frustrated by changes in our political system, but the electoral college remains, although regarded by many as a rather cumbersome piece of governmental machinery.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

HADN'T PAID HIS DEBTS. A libel on Mark Twain—Difficulties of Whistler's Creditors.

The recent cablegram Mark Twain sent to the effect that the report concerning him is all a lie and he has not paid his debts reveals the jests of other great wits. Artemus Ward used to put at the bottom of his programmes: "N. B. Mr. Ward will pay no bill of his own contracting." For that matter, neither would Whistler, the eccentric artist. A few years ago the creditors of the genius had a meeting and submitted to him a proposition which was refused. Another meeting resulted in another proposition and Mr. Whistler likewise refused to consider that. "But, Mr. Whistler," at last spoke up one exasperated business man, "we are merely trying to get you out of your difficulties." "My difficulties!" Whistler replied in great astonishment, "my difficulties, did I understand you to say? Why, gentlemen, these are not my difficulties, they are yours!"

Starvation is confronting the striking miners at Baskett, Ky., and they have appealed to County Attorney Taylor, who will take a hand in trying to settle the strike. Serious trouble is feared unless some settlement is reached today.

STATUTE OF AMERICANS.

Figures Collected by a United States Army Surgeon.

In a paper read by Maj. Henry S. Kilbourne, surgeon, United States army, before the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States, he advocated the theory that the physical power of a race or people, and consequently their capacity for work, is measured by their average stature.

For every inch of height between five and six feet the extreme breathing capacity is increased eight cubic inches; the vital capacity being at its maximum at 55 years. A table of measurements of 190,021 native white Americans, accepted for the military service of the United States, shows that the number of men below 63 inches in height is but little greater than that of the class above 75 inches. The most numerous class is included between 67 and 69 inches, and this standard class would have a greater chest girth than the average.

The mean height of 125 United States naval cadets above the age of 23 years was 67.80 inches. As these men are drawn from all parts and classes of the United States, they represent very nearly the typical physical development of the American people of 23 years of age.—Boston Transcript.
