HULLS AND MEAL!

Cotton Seed Hulls have more nutritive value than common hay, which costs 50% more, is more convenient to handle, is perfectly free from dust or foreign matter and is healthful and appetizing.

Cotton Seed Meal is the most concentrated and richest feed known; has about six times the nutritive value of corn and four times that of wheat bran, while its cost is about the same, and for feeding cattle and milch cows will reduce your feed bills and give better results.

The Mixed Feed forms a "Balanced Ration," giving better results, (increasing milk and butter production in cows and flesh, fat and general condition in all other animals) than Any Other Feed in The World!

Let us Supply You With Cotton Seed Meal and Hulls NOW! The demand is increasing, and dairymen should take advantage of the remarkably low prices now being asked for this product, and purchase their winter supply immediately. A mixture of cotton seed hulls and cotton seed meal makes one of the best feeds known to the stock-raising and dairy industry. This is THE BEST feed in the world for feeding Sheep, Cattle, Milch Cows, Horses, Mules, Hogs and Poultry.

An Editor's Love Letter.

"Dear darling delinquent! Our precious subscriber in arrears! You are shy. Do you think we have sold out and gone? No, little sugar plum, we could not get away if we wanted to. We are still at the same old stand dishing out the advertisers on sweet promises and bright expectations. They make an excellent diet, darling, with a little pudding flavored with a word of encouragement to serve as a dessert. We are waiting and watching for thee, our turtle dove. We long to hear thy gentle footsteps on the stairway below and to hear the ring of happy dollars within our office. Dear one, we feel unusually sad and lonely without you, dear. Now, little piecrust, will you come? Do we hear you answer in a voice so sweet and beguiling: "I am coming," or is it only the winds that around our office roar? We pause for further developments.—Editor's Scrap Book.

Towboats Burn at Cairo.

The towboats Beaver and George Gardner, belonging to the Barrett Towboat Company of Cincinnati, burned Wednesday night at the landing at Cairo, and are probably a total loss. A fuel barge of coal was also burned.

The Beaver was getting ready to go out and her crew was aboard. They all succeeded in getting off, although one deckhand, who was sleeping directly over where the fire broke out on the Beaver, was missing. The burning boats were cut adrift and floated down the river.

The Beaver was valued at $40,000 and the Gardner at $7,000. The Beaver was built in Cincinnati in 1886, and was 170 feet long 30.6 feet beam, with a tonnage of 314 tons. The Gardner was built at Point Pleasant, W. Va., in 1903, and was 120 feet long and 22 beam, with a tonnage of 72. Both boats were partially covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown.

The Beaver worked at Hickman awhile last year.

MEANDERING.

A city girl writes: "It's a fond dream of mine to become a farmer's wife, and meander with him down life's flowery pathway." Ah, yes, that is a nice thing to dream about, but when you have lived on the farm and followed this meandering business for a month or so, you will discover a wide chasm between the dream and the reality. You'll think of this about the time your husband meanders off and leaves you without wood, and you have to meander up and down the lane pulling splinters off the fence with which to cook dinner. And when you meander around in the wet clover in search of the cows you will have a dim preception that fond dreams do not always pan out a hundred cents on the dollar, and that there are several meanderings in farm life that are not listed in the dreaming category. The meandering business on the farm is not what it is cracked up to be.

A SENSELESS HABIT.

The young lady that habitually uses slang in her conversation cannot have a very exalted opinion of herself. The estimate placed upon her by those who hear her use it is certainly not a high one. It sounds coarse and vulgar when used by a man, but when used by a woman its tone is degrading and repulsive. How often one hears a young lady speak of children as "kids." That word comes from the slang of English thieves. Not exactly a proper word for a lady's use, is it? "Mash" is another word in common use, young ladies of both high and low degree. The word originated in the immoral relation sustained by a thief and his mistress. It is essentially foul, and when issuing from the lips of innocence and purity gives a startling shock. Even thieves, toughs and disreputables, of either sex, who know the whole vocabulary of slang, seldom, if ever, use a single word of it in the presence of honest people. Slang, in English, has but two sources—thieves and showmen; and any young person who imitates those classes, either in conduct or conversation, is plentifully endowed with a lack sense.

LACK OF COURTESY.

Trifling discourtesies of speech and manners constantly indulged in do more to destroy the peace of a household than an occasional war of words which lasts for a brief period and is then at an end. Chief among the causes to create a murky home atmosphere is the habit of "nagging" one another. Husbands and wives give expression to every pretty feeling of irritation, and bandy words back and forth till some molehill assumes the proportions of a mountain. A tendency to nag goes unchecked among the children, and almost before the parents are aware there is a chronic condition of unpleasantness in the home. Young married people, especially, need to learn to control in this direction. Another disagreeable trait to be guarded against is the habit, peculiar to some people, of always being on the opposite side of a question. Call attention to the good points of a book, a person, a public movement, a work of art, or what not, and this individual is ever ready to interpose, "Yes—but." Conversation in such a home gives one the chills.

BEAUTY.

What is beauty after all? Each eye makes it for itself. You think Smith's lady-love raw-boned and hard-featured. He calls her a "magnificent woman," and wonders what you see in your little angel with her baby face and stature. So it is the world over; and yet, we would each give something to be beautiful after our own fashion. How the powders and lotions which are to bestow upon poor billious mortals skins of satin and snow, and the hair-dyes and pomades, and cosmetics of all sorts, sell, we need not mention to prove the facts. In France old ladies are being made over, at the cost of half their fortunes. Yes, we all want to be beautiful; and if only our ideas of beauty were what they should be, we might accomplish our desire easily. Meekness and love make all faces pleasant. Were we good we should be beautiful. We all feel this. There are plain features so charming with the sparkle of good humor, that we love them. There are blemished faces so sweet that they are pleasanter to look upon than the most perfect. After all, it is in the expression that the actual charm lies. So that were some one to promise the secret of beauty for twenty-five cents and a post-paid envelope, he would scarcely be an impostor should he return the golden rule with instructions to learn and practice it. If we only could do this earnestly and truly for one generation, the next might wonder whether it were not a fable that such a thing as ugliness was ever known upon earth.

A WOMAN'S WORK.

Could anything be a better illustration of the way women do their work as compared with the way men do theirs, than to look over a village of say, a thousand families, on Monday? In a thousand little kitchens a thousand women would be seen thrusting wood into a thousand little wash boilers, heating a thousand little wash boards, bending their backs over a thousand little washboards, and hanging their clothes on a thousand little clothes lines. If, by some singular social revolution, the men of such a village were to undertake to do the work, their first step would be to get up a

AFTER SUFFERING TEN YEARS

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

MARKTOWN, N.J.—I feel that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has given me new life. I suffered for ten years with serious female troubles, inflammation, ulceration, indigestion, nervousness, and could not sleep. Doctors gave me up, as they said my troubles were chronic. I was in despair, and did not care whether I lived or died, when I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; so I began to take it, and am well again and relieved of all my suffering. —Mrs. GEORGE JORDY, Box 40, Marlton, N.J. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., from women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaints, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. Every suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

stock company, invest capital in building and machinery, so organize the work that about a half dozen men would do the work for the whole town, receive good salaries therefor, and the rest of the men would go about their own business on Monday just as on any other days.

SENSITIVE PEOPLE.

Sensitive people seem to enjoy sensitiveness. They are always on the look-out for something to give them pain. They are much like a cat would be with a tail forty feet long, dragging around on the floor ready to be tramped upon. We are crowded pretty thick upon life's great thoroughfare, and can't well help elbowing each other as we pass along. Ninety-nine times out of every hundred no harm is intended, but those sensitive people, who have the longest and sharpest elbows of anybody, are always attributing a motive to every accidental jog they get. Fact is, personal importance is at the bottom of this whole thing. The world is not thinking about you—has no desire to hurt you—but you imagine that the whole world should be run in your interest.
