VOLUME 51—No. 22
DAILY PAPER IN WESTERN KENTUCKY

HICKMAN, FULTON COUNTY, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1909.

WHOLE NO. 2478
ESTABLISHED IN THE YEAR 1859

THERE is a distinguished something about International Overcoats that is totally absent in the ordinary kind. This is due in part to the unusual smartness of the fabrics and the clever way in which the work is done.

New and exclusive Models at prices that are popular.

To measure only.

Commissioners Count the Vote

The Fulton County Board of Election Commissioners, composed of J. T. Seat, F. U. Harris and Bailey Huddleston, met Friday at the court house in this city and made an official count and tabulation of the vote cast in last Tuesday's election. This count made no material change in the standing of the candidates, as given in the Courier last week. Some of them did gain one or two votes, but this failed to effect the result.

Many ballots were rejected by the election officers, because the voters stamped under both the Republican and Band Wagon devices. Of course this killed the votes thus stamped.

The total number of votes cast in Fulton county was 19,531.

The following is the vote received by each candidate:

For Railroad Commissioner:
L. B. Finn (D) 1262
John P. Haaswell (R) 237.

Circuit Judge:
R. J. Bugg 1309.

Commonwealth's Attorney:
R. L. Smith 1255

Representative:

JESSE WALKER DEAD.

Jesse Walker, formerly city marshal of South Fulton, and well known over the county, died in Cairo, Friday, of heart failure, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. D. B. Ely. The funeral took place at Fulton, Saturday.

Fresh Oysters, any quantity, at the Crescent Cafe.

Maud Muller on a summer day with her fellow ran away, in a benzine touring car, scooted to a preacher far; her father saw the fleeting car, smelled the benzine scented air; he caught the mule whose name was Maud, and scooted down the dusty road; the auto swiftly ran, but burned all the oil out of the can. The auto stopped upon the hill, but Jane was on just fit to kill. Alas! for Maud, alas! for Maud; alas! for empty benzine can. Maud's daddy on the very mule came and took her back to school. The mule most wrecked the benzine cart, the fellow had of a broken heart. The moral of this tale so sad, "Don't steal the mule, but ask her dad."

Among Mine Own By Willur D. Nesbit

"And he said unto him, Say now unto her . . . Wouldst thou be spoken for to the king, or to the captain of the host? And she answered, I dwell among mine own people."—II. Kings vi., 13

"Among mine own!" This Shunammite knew all of rich content,
She knew that through the day and night
The roads forever went,
That they led to the city wall
Where merriment and moan
Were mingled in their rise and fall—
She stayed among her own.

The many roads that lead away
Stretch far and fair to see.
On some the pipe and tabor play
And ring with revelry;
Down on the glow of glory waits
For him who fain would roam
The many roads that hold our fates—
They also lead us home.

The roads that tempt the wand'ring feet
Lead on through scenes that change;
Lead on to where we long to meet
One face that is not strange,
Perchance they skirt the desert sand
Or meet the flying foam—
But, lead to whatsoever land,
They also lead us home.

The Shunammite—'twas hers to go
Where jewels flashed as fire
Amidst the 'brodered garments' glow,
Yet she had her desire.
The subtle harmonies that blent
In cadence round the throne
Dimmed in the carol of content
She heard among her own.

"Among mine own!" Where friendly eyes
And friendly hands are mine;
Where humble songs of pleasure rise
And there are bud and vine,
And honey bees to search the sweets
Upon the breezes blown—
There, satisfied, the heart repeats
The croon, "Among mine own!"

ENTERTAINED.

One of the most delightful social functions of the season was given at the palatial home of Mrs. J. C. Braun on Carr street last Friday evening in honor of her charming guest, Miss Bettie DeBow, of Hickman.

The entertainment consisted of a delightful musical program by Miss Helen Caldwell, Robert Caldwell and Frank Carr, after which a delightful course of dainty refreshments were served.

Participating were Misses Helen Caldwell, Eunice Meacham, Lillian Fields, Marianna Cox and Messrs. Robert Caldwell, Ed Paschall, N. G. Cooke, Frank Carr and Clint Sellars. —Fulton Commercial.

Lexington has been chosen as the place for the mid-winter business meeting of the Kentucky Press Association. The date of the meeting fixed for December 28 and 29.

Drugs—Hickman Drug Co.

G. E. Hicks, age 70 years, of the Crutchfield neighborhood, was struck by a train in the I. C. yards at Fulton, Friday, and considerably bruised up but not seriously. Mr. Hicks was in a wagon with a load of provisions and as he is blind in one eye, he did not see the backing train as it approached.

NOTICE.

We must insist on all accounts and notes, due us, or falling due be paid promptly, or they will be put in the hands of the officers for collection. There should be no excuse, with the existing high prices for corn and cotton.

These women are only a few of thousands of living witnesses of the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. Not one of these women ever received compensation in any form for the use of their names in this advertisement—but are willing that we should refer to them because of the good they may do other suffering women to prove that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a reliable and honest medicine, and that the statements made in our advertisements regarding its merit are the truth and nothing but the truth.
