Courier's Home Circle

It is one of the paradoxes of life that the more a woman keeps her husband in hot water the colder he grows toward her.

The man who never praises his wife deserves to have a poor one. And the man who praise a good wife more than she deserves hasn't been born yet.

A happy home does not result from a large income. A large amount of love, plenty of good sense and a very little money will make a happy home circle.

Never think you can afford to be dowdy at home. Cleanliness, hair well dressed, and a smile will make calico look like silk in the eyes of a father or brother.

When crepe on the door tells of a mother gone, only those who have moistened a mother's grave with their tears can fully understand and read aright the black threads in the bow.

We know from sad experience that it is very inconvenient to be poor, but no man is poor who has a happy home and it does not require lace curtains or velvet carpets to make a home happy.

Many a child goes astray, not because there is want of prayer or virtue at home, but simply because home lacks sunshine. A child needs smiles as much as flowers need sunshine.

There are many happy homes, thank God, in every community, and when they exist there goes out from them a blessed influence which can hardly be overestimated. "A real home with a mother in it," whose hospitable doors are ever open to those not so blessed, is a wonderful power for good.

Let us take time to get acquainted with our families. The wealth you are accumulating may be a double blessing to the son who is a stranger to you. Your beautifully kept house, busy mother, can never be a home to the daughter whom you have no time to caress.

The virtues grow about the home. They cluster, bloom and shed their perfume around the fireside. Love, husband, wife, father, mother, child and home—without those words the world would be a barren wilderness, and men and women but brutish beasts.

There are none of us so poor but we can train a few roses on the humble wall and their scent and beauty will long be remembered, and many a boy, instead of going to loaf upon the public highway will linger at home among the flowers. Moral: degradation always begins at home.

Of all places on earth, home is the most delicate and sensitive. Its chords move with a breath; its fires are kindled with a spark; its flowers are bruised with the least rudeness. Here our hearts wear no covering, no armor. Every arrow strikes them, every cold wave blows full upon them. If we would have a true home, we must guard well our thoughts and actions.

Why is it that we so easily forget that the little things in life are what make it easy or hard? A few pleasant words, a warm hand clasp, a cordial letter, are simple things, but they are mighty in their influence on the lives of those about us, adding a ray of hope to many disconsolate hearts, giving a bit of courage to disappointed, weary ones and helping to make our own lives sweeter at the same time.

When hearts are broken and friends fail, this active stirring world of ours makes room for us all to go to work and forget our trouble. If it were not for some thing to do and the chance to do it, what would become of the mother when her baby dies? Do you think she would ever recover from such an anguish if she found nothing to do but to close

Does yours bring joy to the breakfast table?

North—East—South—West—women are solving the coffee problem.

Armies have solved it. "An army travels on its stomach" and of the army breakfast, ask any soldier what he would miss most.

Famous restaurants have solved it. They know that without the right coffee they would have failed.

One of the greatest American judges has said that unhappiness in the home commences with the first cup of poor coffee.

There is a coffee which brings a million men to breakfast "in a hurry"—a coffee that makes all these men eager to get to the breakfast table, slow to leave it.

Your grocer has this coffee—Arbuckles'. Today you can introduce its rich, full flavor in your home. Serve Arbuckles' for a week and notice how much more his breakfast means to him. Bring joy to your breakfast table.

Today there are whole towns where Arbuckles' is practically the only coffee used. In one State, alone, in a year, four pounds of Arbuckles' Coffee was used for every man, woman and child in the State—four times as many pounds of coffee as the population of the State!

the empty cradle and fondle the unused garment? Be taken up by doing then, oh, broken hearted children of our common parent sorrow. So shall the heart heal and the balm be yielded. Work will keep off pity's pension list and maintain in your bosom the soul of the dear lost steed fast than that of a whimperer and a craven. Thank the destiny that sends you many tasks for prompt fulfillment and many perplexing things for wise adjustment, otherwise you would never forget the wound that throbs with fresh pain whenever night comes and the duties of the day are hushed to rest.

STYLE SAYS "THIN GIRLS."

The new girl is an unpuffed girl. Hips have vanished; skirts have lengthened; the flaring line is now the limp line, in a word, we now have a swagger, stately girl rather than a billowy, vivacious one. She takes up less room. But she's the model to cop just the same. Again it is the style that does it.

The Court of Appeals ruled that the nomination of M. J. Meagher, of Frankfort, for a Senate seat made vacant by the retirement of Senator George Speer, was void because the Governor had not issued a writ of election.
