JACK STARR

LOCATED AT HICKMAN.

Stanley D. Stenbridge left Bardwell the early part of this week for Hickman to establish a law office there. Mr. Stenbridge will be associated with his brother in law, Commonwealth's Attorney Ben S. Adams, and the style of the firm will be Adams & Stenbridge. Mr. Stenbridge is a Virginian, but has been here for quite a while, during which time he has been preparing himself for the practice of law.—Carlisle Co. News.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surface. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quick medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O. FACTS ABOUT COTTON AND COTTON PRICES.

The movement of the 1916 crop has been rapid. More than 95 per cent of it has been ginned; 8,100,772 bales up to December 15 has been brought into sight, an increase over the same period of last year of 1,415,609 bales. The exports to the same date were 2,795,026 bales an increase of 729,091 bales. The takings by northern spindles were 1,407,261 an increase of 150,442 bales; by southern spinners 2,008,295 bales, an increase of 421,486 bales. Over one-half the 1916 crop (on government estimate) has reached its ultimate destination.

This fall and winter has been one of extraordinary prosperity for the United States and its hundred million people. Never before has the country been so prosperous. It has been a remarkably fine trading season. Few dry good stores have large stocks after the great business they have done in the last few weeks. They will soon have to replenish. When prices are high merchants do not overload; they couldn't overload for the chief reason that deliveries could not be made by oversold jobbers and mills. Dry goods stores have been buying from hand to mouth, either because deliveries could not be made or hoping that goods would be cheaper, but such has not been the case, and the demand for cotton goods next spring is bound to be enormous.

One reason why cotton has been high, of course, has been natural increase of value of all commodities. It is not necessary to go into the causes of this increase, such as a surplus gold supply, huge paper war credits, etc. The fast shrinking purchasing power of the dollar is due to some extent to these causes, consequently all things are high. Some commodities have risen 300 per cent in value, but on a long list of commodities an appreciation of about 5 per cent above normal exists. Now the price for the past six years has averaged over 12c per pound so that the average increase alone as applied to cotton would seem to warrant at this time not less than 18c per pound basis Middling.

The world at present is consuming more than the world at present is able to produce. There is more demand for iron and steel than all the iron and steel plants in existence can turn out. There is more demand for food stuffs than the farmers of this and other countries are able to present to supply. There is more demand for cotton than the South this year grew. Between 30,000,000 and 40,000,000 men in Europe have been taken away from the production and made consumers of food stuffs and clothing. Conditions under which they live and waste connected with feeding and clothing an army probably doubles ordinary peace requirements for the same men. It might be said that there has been a sudden added demand for food and clothing for 30,000,000 to 40,000,000 people. This means that aside from the cheapness of the dollar and the shortness of certain grain crops and the scarcity of other materials, food stuffs and clothing materials generally would be higher in price. Should peace come other commodities might fall in price. But it would seem that cotton is not so apt to, for the reason that should peace be declared all the spindles of the world would become active of which there are 148,500,000. The markets would be freer and even with a bumper crop cotton would still be in great demand. With the declaration of peace it is estimated that Germany and Austria alone would require three million bales of cotton; this being so, cotton should sell at much higher prices.

It is easy for you to arrange to hold your cotton if you do not wish to sell at present prices. Your local bank will loan you up to 90 per cent of the market value. There should be no difficulty about this, for money is easy and it is an easy matter for the local bank to get the notes rediscounted by the Federal Reserve Bank. All those who want to hold their cotton should have no difficulty in arranging to do so.

A HICKMAN MAN GIVES EVIDENCE.

His Testimony Will Interest Every Hickman Reader. The value of local evidence is indisputable. It is the kind of evidence we accept as true because we know we can prove it for ourselves. There has been plenty of such evidence in the Hickman papers lately, and this straightforward testimony has established a confidence in the minds of Hickman people that will not be easily shaken.

R. B. Brevard, prop. hardware store, Main & Union Sts., Hickman, says: "I think from catching cold, my kidneys became out of order and my back ached and pained. A friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills and when I was troubled in that way, I used this medicine. I sure did get good results from it and am glad to say a good word in its praise." GOOD DISHES FOR LENT.

This is the season when we should appreciate our delicious cheese and use it in many combinations with vegetables for the main or chief dish of the meal.

Escalloped Onions With Cheese.—Boil until tender a dozen or more small sized onions, drain carefully and place in a fireproof serving dish, pour over a cupful and a half of thick white sauce, and a cupful of finely chopped cheese, cover with buttered crumbs and place in the oven long enough to brown the crumbs. Too long or too hot a cooking will toughen the cheese.

Lentil Soup.—Wash a half pound of lentils and soak all night in a quart of water. Cut one medium sized onion in small pieces, also one turnip, one carrot and two stalks of celery. Cook these in a tablespoonful of butter for five minutes, add the lentils and water in which they were soaked and one teaspoonful of salt. Boil and skim, then simmer two hours. Rub through a sieve. Return to a saucepan, and bind with two tablespoonfuls of butter and flour with a cupful of milk. Serve at once.

Macaroni With Chestnuts.—Bake twenty chestnuts until soft, then pound in a mortar with pepper, salt and butter. Add a half pound of cooked macaroni, four tablespoonfuls of butter and a tablespoonful of onion juice, if too dry add a little milk, stir in a cupful of grated cheese, heat very hot and serve.

Fricassee of Onions and Potatoes.—Take a dozen small potatoes, peeled, and a half dozen small onions, also peeled. Place in a saucepan with two tablespoonfuls of butter and cook five minutes. Add a cupful of water, salt and pepper and cook until the vegetables are tender. Mix together four tablespoonfuls of flour and a half cupful of milk, add to the vegetables, cook five minutes, beat an egg and add to the mixture. Arrange a ring of cooked spaghetti on a hot dish, sprinkle with grated cheese and bake in the oven until the cheese is melted. Serve with the vegetables in the center.
