LABOR UNION NOTES.

Masters in union circles in Paducah have been very warm the past week and from present indications will continue in about the same state for some time to come. The blacksmiths are the latest tradesmen to form a union.

A blacksmiths' union was organized last night at Rodfus hall with a charter membership of seven. Six of the men are employed in the local Illinois Central shops, and the president of the union, Mr. J. W. Mayfield, is employed at the Shelton & Hassman machine shop. The following is the list of officers elected: President, J. W. Mayfield; vice president, Robert Kyle; secretary-treasurer and organizer, Ira Landrum; conductor Guy Randall; guardian, B. B. Cleary. The union will in time be one of the strongest in the city as not blacksmiths alone are eligible, but wagonmakers are also invited to become members. The charter has been sent for and all the other steps necessary to the proper installation, have been taken. This adds one more union to the already fast increasing tradesmen's unions and from present indications every trade in the city will soon be represented in the Central body.

The street car men formed a union Saturday night with a charter membership of 25. The organization was first mentioned in The Chat's union column several weeks ago but the action was postponed indefinitely for reasons best known to the street car employes. The members had some trouble with the company the following morning which came near resulting in trouble. The matter was patched up Wednesday in a way but was still incomplete. When the morning set for the men to go back to work came around the men were on hand to take out their cars but only seven were put to work. The remainder of the union members did not like this and called a meeting of the labor committee who met the street car officials that morning. The company explained that it was living up to its contract and would make more changes when things got straighter so the threatened trouble was again averted. The fight was won by the union and it is now recognized. The union was formed not for any purpose otherwise than legitimate and the members did not intend to inaugurate a strike. The trouble is ended, it is hoped, and the union will continue the steps necessary to installation.

The motomen held a meeting last night but the nature of the business transacted was not given out for publication. It is said that some of the motomen are dissatisfied and are thinking of withdrawing from the service and letting the new men that are now undergoing "breaking in" have the field.

The Carpenter union seems to again be on the verge of trouble. Mr. C. A. Colman, the carpenter contractor, doing the carpenter work on the Gridley buildings, on lower Broadway, and also on the News and Register buildings on Broadway, between Fifth and Sixth streets, told three of his men that he would have to make a cut in the rate of pay, as they were not worth the full union scale to him. The men are members of the union and stood up for their rights. It is rumored that some trouble will result from the cut. The three men quit work and it is reported that the matter will be brought before the union at its next meeting. Mr. Coleman told a Chat reporter that he had informed the men that they were not worth the full union rate, 27 7-9 cents per hour, and that he would have to make a cut to 25 cents per hour. He said the men quit work and further than that he had heard no more of the matter.

The Clerks' union is busy just now arranging for their big minstrel June 24 is the date set for the performance and the participants guarantee a genuine minstrel equal in every respect to the professional organizations. The program will be about two and a half hours long and there will not be one minute of dullness. The first rehearsal will probably be held today. The specialties have all been secured but the names of the participants will not be published until the rehearsals are well under way.

The Carpenter union in Mayfield is rapidly growing. There are several applications for membership and they are being received voted on and the members initiated as fast as they come.

There was a report afloat last week to the effect that a number of the I. C. machinists had struck. The report started by the resignation of seven machinists who did not like the rate fixed by Superintendent of Machinery Wm. Renshaw last week. They were all new comers to Paducah and not one had been in Paducah longer than three weeks. The machinists, the union men especially, are perfectly satisfied with the agreement and the arrangement of the scale and no more trouble is expected. There are more men all over the country going out on account of the nine hour work day but Paducah has not and will not, it is thought, be effected from this source.

It is thought that quite a number of wagon makers in this city will join the Blacksmiths' union as soon as the union is installed and every thing is running smoothly. The two trades are so nearly alike that it would be unnecessary to make any distinction and the one union will answer for both trades. There have been no solicitations on the part of the blacksmiths but The Chat is authorized to extend an invitation to all blacksmiths and wagonmakers to become members of this union.

Trade is picking up in all branches and the unions are flourishing.

Mr. Roy Culley has received a commission from Mr. Max Morris, the secretary-treasurer of the Retail Clerks' International Protective Association, of Denver, Col., appointing him the organizer of a Clerks' union in Mayfield. The application of the clerks in that place is signed by about 35 persons and the organization will be effected in about two weeks. This will make the second union formed in Mayfield inside of one month. There will probably be several more formed shortly and in time all the trades will be represented in that city. There will be four applicants initiated at the meeting Monday night.

The nomination of the officers of the Caulkers' union will be held June 13, the first meeting night in this month and the election will be held on the 20th, the second meeting night of the union. The installation will be held on the first meeting night of the union. The installation will be held on the first meeting night in July. From indications Mr. Perry Bryant, the present president of the Caulkers' union will be re-elected to the place as his record is an enviable one. He is one of the most vigilant workers in unionism and deserves even more honors than are now heaped upon him.

The Bartenders' union will run an excursion to Cairo on the steamer Wash this morning. They have made great preparations for the trip and every one is assured of an enjoyable outing. It was the first excursion to be run out of this city by any union and will no doubt prove so successful that the other unions will take it up and other excursions will run by the union this summer.

The street car
The charter for the street car union arrived yesterday and the installation will take place at once.

A member of the Caulkers' union is reported to have been expelled last week for continuing as an employe of the Street Car Co., after having been notified that he would be recognized as a non-union man if he continued to run a car.

There is talk of expelling one of the prominent union men from the Central body and subsequently from the union of which he is a member.

The Central body will hold its election at the same time the elections of the Caulkers' union is held. Mr. Archie Allen, of the Typographical union, has been mentioned as a possible nominee for the presidency of the body.

THE CHICKADEE.
"Were it not for me,"
Said a chickadee,
"Not a single flower on earth would be,
For under the ground they soundly sleep
And never venture an upward peep.
Till they hear from me,
"Chickadee-dee!"

"I tell Jack Frost when 'tis time to go
And carry away the ice and snow;
And then I hit to the jolly old sun,
'A little spring work, sir, should be done.'
And he smiles around
On the frozen ground,
And I keep up my cherrry, cheery sound,
Till echo declares in glee, in glee,
'The hat 'tis he!
The chickadee-dee!"

"And then I waken the birds of spring—
'Ho, ho!' 'tis time to be on the wing.
They fill and twitter and soar aloft,
And I send the winds to whisper soft,
Down by the little flower-beds,
Saying, 'Come, show your pretty heads!
The spring is coming, you see, you see!
For so sings he,
The chickadee-dee!"

The sun be smiled; and the early flowers
Bloomed to brighten the billesome
hours
And song-birds gathered in bush and tree;
But the wind he laughed right merrily,
As the snuzy nite of a snowbird he Chirped away, "Do you see, see, see?
'Tis I did it all!
"Chickadee-dee!"
