THE UNIONS

MUCH INTEREST IN ALL LABOR UNIONS IN PADUCAH.

A Clerks' Union to be Organized in Mayfield This Week—New Unions in Paducah.

The Brewery Workers have been formed into a union with a membership of about 13. The charter and supplies were sent off for Friday night and will arrive in the course of a week. The installation will take place immediately upon their arrival. This is the latest union to be formed in Paducah and speaks much for the good work being done in union circles.

The Bartenders' Union excursion given last Sunday on the steamer Wabash to Cairo was a success in every way. The union cleared quite a neat sum and will run another excursion out of Paducah soon. There was the best order on board. When the boat started it went with the understanding that all boisterous persons would be put off the boat. The enforcement of the rule was not necessitated except in one or two cases.

There was more talk of trouble among the Street Car Union last week, but nothing developed. There was one report afloat to the effect that the union contemplated withdrawing or striking, but nothing of this kind was even thought of according to one prominent union man's statement. The company is working many of the old men and will put more of the old employes on as soon as they find places. The union has held several meetings this week but nothing of importance was done.

The threatened trouble in the Carpenters' Union did not terminate as it was thought it would. The matter was not acted upon by the union as near as the facts could be learned.

The Electrical Workers organized last week with a charter membership of about ten. Most of the electricians in the city are members.

The Blacksmiths' Union has one candidate to act upon at its next meeting. When the union is in good shape it is thought that all the blacksmiths in the city will become members.

The Clerks' Union is busy rehearsing for the big minstrel to be given the 24th. About all the good local talent has been secured and the public is assured of a treat in the entertainment line.

There are very few trades left in Paducah that are not represented by a union.

The Central body held a very important meeting last week but the nature of the business transacted was not given out for publication.

Mr. Roy Culley will go down to Mayfield this week and organize a Clerks' Union in that place. The residents are taking a lively interest in union work and will soon be comparatively as important as Paducah.

The blacksmith bosses have formed a union. They meet every second and fourth Fridays every month at the shop of Mr. Henry Grief on south Fourth street and have a membership of seven. Mr. A. W. Grief is president and Mr. J. Y. Grief is the secretary and treasurer. All other blacksmith bosses are invited to join.

There are 26 unions all told in Paducah not excepting those lately formed and that have not yet received their charters. When all the new unions have been installed the unions all told will be more than thirty. This is a good standing for a city of Paducah's size and she is gaining in importance in union circles daily.

The Chat is requested to correct the false report that an executive officer of the Amalgamated Street Railway Employees is in the city.

The Sort of Table He Wanted. The following conversation was overheard between a Joiner and his customer a short time ago:

Joiner—Please, sir, I've brought the table you ordered me to make.

Customer—Well, put it down here, my man, and let's see what sort of a job you've made of it.

The man set it down in the middle of the room, and the customer examined it with the air of a critic.

Customer—Why, my man, there is here a crack filled up with putty.

Joiner—Yes, sir, Well, sir, I know about that, but it won't be noticed when it sets hard.

Customer (coming across some more putty)—But here's some more, my man. What is the meaning of this?

Joiner—Well, sir, you see, a little bit of wood chipped off the corner, and I just put a little putty there to fill up. It won't do no harm, sir, when it's set hard.

Customer (finding some more putty patches)—Look here, my man, this won't do. Why, here's a big lump right in the middle of this leg. What can you say about that?

Joiner (scratching his head and trying hard to find some excuse by which to retrieve his honor)—Well, sir, that's no harm whatever, and the putty when it sets hard will be firmer and harder than the wood. So, you see, it will be all the better if you wait a bit, sir.

Customer (sarcastically)—Here, my good man, just take this table home and bring me one made of putty altogether. I want a good strong one, and you can fill up the cracks with wood—London Tit-Bits.

How the Spanish Gypsy Dances. I held my breath as I watched the gypsy in the Seville dancing hall. I felt myself swaying unconsciously to the rhythm of her body, of her beckoning hands, of the glittering smile that came and went in her eyes. I seemed to be drawn into a whirling whirlpool, in which I turned, turned, hearing the buzz of the water settling over my head. The guitar buzzed, buzzed in a prancing rhythm, the gypsy called about the door in her trailing dress, and so much as showing her
