A RED HOT BLAZE

It Warmed the Vicinity of Park and Ohio.

LOSS PLACED AT $20,000

Origin Cannot Be Determined--Supposed to Have Started in a Bath House,

The fire fiend visited Butte on the coldest night of the season and caused a damage of at least $20,000. The buildings destroyed were located at the corner of Park and Ohio avenue and consisted of the two-story veneered building owned by Joseph H. Case of Case, Gravelle & Ervin, and S. H. Courtney, formerly a member of the same firm, and the two-story frame building adjoining owned by A. Tighe. The buildings are a total loss, together with nearly all the stock in the buildings were several roomers who had narrow escapes, many of them barely having enough time to get on a few clothes.

The fire was first discovered about 11 o'clock in the second story of the building occupied by A. W. Noble as a drug store. The upper story was leased by Dr. Noble to the Butte Bath and Massage company and to Mrs. Rolf, who conducted a lodging house. As nearly as can be ascertained the fire started in the Turkish bath rooms on the second floor, but the cause cannot be ascertained. The blaze was first discovered by L. Cook, the grocer, who lives on the opposite side of the street. He came out of his store about 11 o'clock and noticed a big volume of smoke issuing from the windows over the drug store. About the same time Officer Wilson discovered the blaze and an alarm was turned in. A crowd soon collected and their efforts were at once directed to arousing the inmates of the burning buildings and taking them to a place of safety.

The department responded promptly but owing to the inflammable nature of the contents of the buildings the interior was a raging furnace when the firemen arrived. A stream of water directed against the burning buildings had little or no effect and a second alarm was turned in for an extra hose wagon. This was followed a few minutes later by a third alarm as the water pressure began to weaken. The fire continued to burn fiercely and the heat became so intense that the brick walls of the veneered building adjoining fell. The fire continued to burn until 2 o'clock this morning.

The Case and Courtney building was formerly the works of the old Mahoney foundry. Five or six years ago it was rebuilt as a business block by the present owners. It was brick veneered and was worth in the neighborhood of $8,000. It was insured.

The Klondike house, or Tighe building, was a frame structure, and though old, was substantial and was worth about $6,000. It was also insured. It was occupied by Charles Heckler. His loss will be about $3,000. Dr. Noble's loss will be about $7,000 with insurance of $3,500. The Royal Milling company occupied Nos. 394 and 396. The loss of this company is estimated at $1,500. The Butte Bath and Massage company will lose about $1,600 and Mrs. Rolf's loss will be about $500. With the thermometer below zero the firemen had a difficult time. The men all suffered severely from the cold.

"SPOT" SATTERLEE'S ATTEMPT TO CARVE GUS MARION.

Florence Harper, a tenderloin girl, one of the star boarders in the Mercury street resort of Grace McGinnis, and Gus Marion, horseman and sport, were before Judge Ferrell this morning, as the result of a jealous play, between Joseph Satterlee, known in the half world as "Spot," which concluded in an attempt on the part of Satterlee to carve Marion. Satterlee was taken to the county jail and a charge of assault in the third degree preferred against him. Marion and the woman were arrested for assault and disturbing the peace. Both entered pleas of not guilty, and their troubles will be aired before Judge Ferrell tomorrow afternoon. They furnished bonds and were released. The trouble began last night in one of the wine rooms of the M. & M. saloon. Satterlee quarrelled with the Harper girl, and struck her in the face with his fist. The girl called Marion and told him of the brutal blow. He resented it, and after telling Satterlee what he thought of a man who would strike a woman, followed up his oath emphatically on Satterlee by knocking Satterlee down. He then called a hack and sent the woman away, turned back into the saloon, and had called several friends to the bar when Satterlee reappeared upon the scene. He sprang at Marion with a knife in his hand, but could not use it advantageously. The men struggled about the room. Marion slipped and fell, and as he did so Satterlee struck him several times in the shoulder, the blade entering his shoulder three times, and doing but little damage. In the melee Julius Jones attempted to take the knife from Satterlee and received a cut in the hand. About this time the police appeared and took the belligerents to jail, where Marion's wounds were dressed by City Physician Shultz. The knife did not penetrate to any great depth, the hurt to Jones' hand being a home painful one. Marion is well known among horsemen. He has a string of horses in California, and several animals here.

William Hill and James Carey were arrested by Officer Harrington for creating a disturbance in the Klondike saloon, on East Park street, this morning. The men were about to assault Nick Johreiss, when the officer put in appearance. In police court the men entered a plea of not guilty, and their case was set for tomorrow afternoon.

Boyd Dickinson was fined $10 in Justice Harrington's court last evening on the charge of assaulting Charles H. Cammans. The story of the trouble leading up to the trial has already been detailed in these columns. PASCOE'S DEATH

Coroner's Jury Investigated Stevens Mine Accident.

DECEASED WAS WARNED

Not to Travel in the Bucket and Jury Held Him Responsible For His Own Death.

It developed at the inquest held yesterday afternoon to investigate the cause of death of William Pascoe in the shaft of the Stevens mine Tuesday that the deceased had been frequently cautioned against riding in the bucket and the jury held him responsible for his own death.

Frederick C. Thomas stated that at about 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon he was called by his partner and told young Pascoe had been caught in the shaft. He went down and saw the body wedged in between the bucket and wall plates of the shaft. Witness also said that about a quarter of 5 o'clock deceased called up to know what time it was and he replied it was quitting time. Young Pascoe loaded some dull tools into the bucket and witness got the signal to hoist. He started the horse and then went to dump a car of dirt. While doing so witness noticed the horse had stopped and ran back to see what was the matter. He got a signal to come to the shaft, and his partner called up that the boy was killed. Witness went down and found the body crushed into a space of about seven inches between the bucket and a timber. Deceased had been frequently cautioned not to ride in the bucket.

William T. Bennetts, uncle of the deceased, said it was quitting time and his nephew started up ahead of him. He was waiting to change his shoes. He was in the drift and did not know the boy got on the bucket. Witness changed his shoes and started up the ladder and immediately saw his nephew hanging in the shaft. Witness gave it as his opinion that the young man was riding on the bucket and his head and shoulders struck the timber and he tried to throw himself over against the wall plates to save himself, and the bucket coming on, crushed him to death. Witness said it was an impossibility for a man to ride all the way up the shaft without getting hurt, and no one had ever been allowed to ride. He did not believe his nephew ever attempted to ride before.

Erick C. Larson gave similar testimony. Deputy Mine Inspector Frank Hunter testified to examining the shaft after the accident. He found that it must have ducked under one set on the east side of the bucket and four feet further on, to have gotten out of the other side of the bucket to duck under another timber, and he did not have time to do so. The shaft was in very bad condition, but from the fact that no one was allowed to ride in the bucket, witness did not believe any one was to blame for Pascoe's death.
