CONGRER AT HOME

PEKIN MINISTER LANDS AT LAST IN IOWA.

AN OVATION FROM THOUSANDS

Greeting for Their Distinguished Fellow Citizen—Special Trains Meet Him on His Journey—An Ovation All Along the Line—As Noisy, But Far Safer Than Pekin Mob.

(Special to Inter Mountain.) Council Bluffs, Iowa, May 2.—Edwin H. Conger, United States minister to China, arrived in this city this morning from the west. He was met at Ogden by a body of representative citizens of Council Bluffs and escorted to this city. Special trains have been run from Des Moines and other sections of the state

Hon. Edward H. Conger.

And the grandest ovation ever given a citizen of Council Bluffs was given Mr. Conger upon his arrival here.

The journey of the distinguished Iowan through the state of Nebraska has been marked by a continuous ovation. Thousands of his old friends met and welcomed him in the towns through which he passed, and the reception has been entirely pleasing to the many admirers of the celebrated man.

The train upon which the Conger party rode was a special provided by President Burt of the Union Pacific, and at Omaha the train was met by an enthusiastic delegation of citizens of Council Bluffs who had come to welcome Mr. Conger to Iowa soil.

GOT A RECEIVER

(Special to Inter Mountain.)

New York, May 1.—J. A. Forrester and J. C. McGinniss obtained from Justice Andrews of the superior court for an order for the appointment of a receiver of the Boston & Montana company of New York and all the assets held by it of the Boston & Montana company of Montana, and to enjoin the payment of dividends until the accounting asked for in the action is had. The order is returnable on May 3, and the plaintiffs sue as stockholders.

The plaintiffs say that $20,000,000 in assets of the Boston & Montana were illegally transferred to the New York company, but were returned to the Montana company when a receiver was appointed in that state.

In the present action it is asked that the New York company account for the output of the mines, and all other assets not turned over while it had control of the Montana company. The complaint alleges that the officers of the New York company are unit, and assigns as one of the reasons that while they held assets of the Montana company, they made a contract to deliver the output of the mines for 12 cents a pound to Lewisohn Brothers' company, whose successors are the United Metal selling company. It is alleged that a loss of $3,000,000 was made on this one contract.

"The motion of J. C. McGinniss to restrain the Parrot Silver and Copper Mining company from paying its dividends into the Amalgamated Copper company in pursuance of the agreement attacked in the action, has been adjourned until May 19.

The above report from New York is self explanatory. The suit seems to have been successfully carried out at the other end of the line, and the New York company will have to fight hard to keep out of the clutches of a receiver. Receivers come high in these days. The Parrot case will not come up for three weeks longer. In view of the Boston & Montana decision it would seem that the order prayed for might be granted.

It is not likely that the decision will affect local interests, at least, not the workers themselves.

"HOODO" HARD ON THE TRACK OF THE "TELEPHONE GIRL."

IN TRIBULATION.

It's a bad hole. A few days ago, some 12 or 14 hours before the start of the race, the "Telephone Girl" was seen in the hands of "Hoodo". The girl was in a state of tribulation, and it was a bad hole for her.

A MISSOULA GIRL KILLED

SHE GAVE HOT AIR.

A woman fleeces several O. A. R. veterans. Made many gentle touches. Claimed to be a great grand daughter of Ethan Allen. Brought letters of introduction to Montana State O. A. R. Encampment. Told personal experiences and talked her listeners.

This is a little bunch of "scoops" from yesterday's Inter Mountain. They really belonged to our morning contemporaries but the Inter Mountain just couldn't wait.

THE STANDARD'S SCOOP

A "Scoop" is an item of news published exclusively by one paper. The Inter Mountain will show you something new in "scoops" every day. Don't miss them.

SO THE PEOPLE MAY KNOW.

The Inter Mountain presents a photographic reproduction of some of the exclusive stories published yesterday afternoon. How the woman visitor fooled the Grand Army men was given Inter Mountain readers yesterday—Morning Papers had it today. Then the story of the old man being robbed in South Butte the night before was in yesterday's Inter Mountain—Morning papers copied it more than 24 hours after it happened. And the story of the "Telephone Girl" troupe being held up in Butte by a case of smallpox—Morning Papers copied that too. Then there was the account of a fatal accident to a popular young society lady of Missoula—The story of the president's glorious reception in the South—And the assurance by Daniel McDonald that there would be no labor troubles in Montana. All these, and a whole lot more, Inter Mountain readers knew before they went to bed last night—It was all in this morning's papers too. See the point?

THE QUARANTINE MAN FRIGHTENS TWO WOMEN IN A DEADLY FIGHT

THE "TELEPHONE GIRLS."

The bells of the "Telephone Girl" company will not go "ting-a-ling-ling" at Anaconda tonight, nor at Helena, Great Falls nor Bozeman, on the days to follow. The members of the company were to have left for Anaconda this morning, but wise managerial discretion prevailed, and today the people of the organization are playing progressive euchre and penochle in their numerous and respectable rooms at the hotels in Butte.

And it is all because Miss Lillian Lewis is confined in the detention hospital with what is supposed to be a case of smallpox. Had the company made the other Montana towns it was feared that a quarantine of the entire company might result. Even had the company escaped detention, business would have been seriously affected and the company would undoubtedly have lost money, consequently the sudden change of programme.

All the grips and trunks of the members of the company were packed this morning and the soubrettes, specialists and others, including the leads, had assembled at the depot when they were notified by Max Plohn, the acting manager, that there would be "nothing doing" for several days.

Numerous lower jaws dropped and crestfallen expressions appeared on thirty or more countenances. Four days' salary gone, and summer starting them in the face. That was the first thought of the actors and actresses. But when the seriousness of the situation was impressed upon them they forgot salary and everything, seeing visions of detention hospitals and quarantines, with no chance or opportunity for those after-theater lunches and other social pleasures that the theatrical folk are naturally heir to.

So the leading man, the soubrette and the numerous girls who earn a weekly stipend for looking pleasant, hid themselves again to their hotels and resumed a sleep that was rudely broken to catch the morning train.

No, the manager did not sleep. He hustled about arranging transportation and sleeping car accommodations to carry the company to Fargo, where the "Telephone Girl" will hold the boards Monday.

Jake Rosenthal, manager of the company, left Butte late last night. He had business that called him ahead. When he left there was no sign of trouble, and he took a sanguine view of the situation. He had been up against hard luck in the company for so long a time that the illness of Miss Lewis did not disturb him much, though he sympathized with the actress.

It was not long after the departure of Mr. Rosenthal that the trouble began brewing, and it brewed so rapidly and persistently that by this morning Acting Manager Plohn began to figure that he was up against it good and hard. He wore a more or less troubled expression, and it was observed by members of the company. The result was that he was besieged with inquiries to which he at first would not give answer.

Finally, when the situation became grave, he communicated the startling intelligence to the members of the company that if the "Telephone Girl" played in Anaconda there was a strong probability that the entire outfit would be quarantined.

The information was not received with much enthusiasm by the members of the company, particularly the female portion of it. Pretty little Mabel Hite puckered up her rosy lips and pointed in great shape. She thought that from a matrimonial sketch that did not end well to quarantine in a short jump, was too good a thing, and she so expressed herself.

RAIN SPOILED THE DISPLAY

But the Crowd Thronged the Grounds to See the First Day—Formal Opening Deferred Until May 20—Gratifying Success of the Rush Work—Congratulations by McKinley.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 1.—The gates of the pan-American exposition were thrown open this morning and notwithstanding that it had rained all night and conditions were threatening the various routes to the grounds were well patronized by those who desired to be present at the opening.

At 8:30 o'clock the turnstiles clicked and the first of the millions of people who will visit the beautiful rainbow city during the six months of its existence passed into the grounds.

No ceremonies marked the opening. It having been decided by the management to combine the opening day ceremonies with those of dedication day, May 20. The change in the date, however, did not cause a moment's relaxation of the strenuous efforts being put forth by every one connected with the exposition to have everything as nearly ready as possible for today's opening.

Delayed by Storms. The appearance of the buildings and grounds this morning, bore ample evidence of their efforts. Storm and delays incident to any effort of this magnitude made impossible the realization of the hope that might be that the first great exposition to be completed on its opening day. But much has already been wrought that was deemed impossible at the inception that everybody was highly pleased with the fair as it appeared this morning, carried on from the beginning by the citizens of Buffalo without state or federal aid. Wm. Mamin was permitted by agreement to purchase the first ticket, having offered some time ago to pay $5,000 for the privilege. The ticket was sent to him yesterday.

At noon the paid admissions only aggregated about $1,000, the majority of the visitors being employees or others entering on passes. The weather continued threatening. At noon the government building was thrown open and General Brigham, chairman of the government board, made an address.

Message From McKinley. The following message conveying the congratulations of President McKinley was read: "Memphis, Tenn., May 1.—The president directs me to convey his congratulations to the citizens of Buffalo upon the auspicious opening of the Pan-American exposition so rich in blossom and ripe in expectations. May the hopes and ambitions of its promoters be realized to the fullest measure. By direction of the president. (Signed) "GEORGE B. CORTELYOU, "Secretary to the President."

In the government building many of the exhibits were practically complete. In the Midway Bostocks animals, the Indian congress, the Hawaiian village and other features were ready for business and attracted many of the visitors. At 2 o'clock a salute of 45 aerial bombs was fired and simultaneously hundreds of flags were raised on the buildings and grounds. If the weather permits 3,000 homing pigeons, entered by fanciers of various cities, will be released during the afternoon.

WHO! SAID QUARANTINE?
