BERNSTORFF BELIEVES NEW GERMAN PLAN WILL END WAR

Ambassador Delivers to State Department Memorandum Bearing on the German Naval Warfare Note, in Which He Declares Ruthless Determination of Entente to Destroy Central Powers Restores to Berlin Freedom of Action Abridged by Promises to U. S. in 1916 and Has Caused Her to Adopt Extreme Measures.

Washington, Feb. 2.—A second memorandum delivered with the German note was made public last night by the state department. It differs in some respects from the substance of the note itself. The understanding is that it was prepared at the German embassy on instructions from Berlin prior to President Wilson's peace address to the senate and withheld then on account of the address. When Count von Bernstorff received the note and memorandum yesterday from Berlin he decided to deliver with them the original documents prepared by him. The memorandum follows:

Entente's Determination.
"After bluntly refusing Germany's peace offer, the entente powers stated in their note addressed to the American government that they are determined to continue the war in order to deprive Germany of German provinces in the west and east, to destroy Austria-Hungary and to annihilate Turkey. In waging war with such aims, the entente allies are violating all rules of international law, as they prevent the legitimate trade of neutrals with the central powers, and if the neutrals among themselves, Germany has, so far, not made unrestricted use of the weapon which she possesses in her submarines. Since the entente powers, however, have made it impossible to come to an understanding based upon equality of rights of all nations, as proposed by the central powers, and have instead declared only such a peace to be possible which shall be dictated by the entente allies and shall result in the destruction and the humiliation of the central powers, Germany is unable further to forego the full use of her submarines.

"The imperial government, therefore, does not doubt that the government of the United States will understand the situation thus forced upon Germany by the entente allies' brutal methods of war and that the government of the United States will further realize that the now openly disclosed intention of the entente allies gives back to Germany the freedom of action which she reserved in her note addressed to the government of the United States on May 4, 1916.

"Under these circumstances Germany will meet the illegal measures of her enemies by forcibly preventing after Feb. 1, 1917, in a zone around Great Britain, France, Italy and in the eastern Mediterranean, all navigation, that of neutrals included, from and to England and from and to France, etc., etc. All ships met within that zone will be sunk.

Will End the War.
"The imperial government is confident that this measure will result in a speedy termination of the war and in the restoration of peace which the government of the United States has so much at heart. Like the government of the United States, Germany and her allies had hoped to reach this goal by negotiations. Now that the war, through the fault of Germany's enemies, has to be continued, the imperial government feels sure that the

STATE OF OREGON TO BE "BONE DRY" TONIGHT

Governor Signs Absolute Prohibition Bill at 4 o'Clock.

Salem, Ore., Feb. 2.—Oregon will be "bone dry" before tonight, Gov. James Withycombe having announced today that he will sign the absolute prohibition bill, which has passed the legislature, at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Immediately upon the governor's approval the bill will become a law and no more liquor can be sold for shipment into Oregon under the restrictions of the present prohibition law.

Five days' grace will be given liquor dealers in other states to ship Oregon orders received up until the minute the governor puts his signature to the bill. After the five days not a drop intended for beverage purposes can cross the line legally.

22 BELIEVED TO BE DEAD IN CHICAGO TENEMENT FIRE

flames burst the floors. When firemen arrived they were able to rescue a few children who were dropped by their parents from the upper windows. Some adults also were saved in this way.

An Iceberg on Fire.

At daybreak Fire Chief O'Connor said the ruins were so hot that it would be many hours before search of the wreckage could be made and an accurate account of the loss of life made. The water thrown upon the ruins froze almost as fast as it fell and the burning gas which remained alight long after the material of the building had ceased to burn presented an unusual spectacle, much as an iceberg were on fire.

To extinguish the fire completely it was necessary to dig down to the gas main. This, owing to the frozen ground, was slow work, and seven hours after the explosion the main had not been reached.

Patrick Donohue, an assistant fire marshal, said that when he reached the scene a great flame of gas was leaping across West Fourteenth place.

Caught in a Trap.

"A lot of those people," he said, "must have been caught like rats in a trap. They were in bed and asleep and had no chance to escape. Where gas and flames did not cut them off, falling stairways and crumbling walls did."

Others who were upon the scene early asserted that they saw women with hair and clothing ablaze carrying or dragging their young into the street, hysterical and screaming.

Heard Voices in Ruins.

Firemen attacking the ice-covered mass of wreckage penetrated through the outer crust at 10 a. m. and declared that they could distinguish what seemed to be voices talking beneath them. Efforts to remove the debris were redoubled and ambulances were sent for in the hope that victims still alive might be rescued.

Forty Are Missing.

Morris Feldman, janitor of the building, said that 67 persons were or should have been in the building. As a result of investigations he was forced to the conclusion that of these 67 persons were missing and probably dead. A Mrs. Spitzley was taken from the debris fatally injured and died on the way to the hospital. Firemen dragged her from the ruins with her husband Peter, in whose arms she was clasped. His injuries were comparatively slight. Their five children are missing and are believed to be dead. Joseph Bielek, 12 years old, is believed to be the only member of the family who escaped.

Saved Her Six Children.

Mrs. Lancowski told of how she escaped from the second floor after rescuing her children.

"I heard an awful explosion and then a hissing sound," said Mrs. Lancowski. "The building was swaying and I could hear the sound of things falling and glass cracking. My husband is a night watchman and I was alone with my six children. I dragged the children from their beds and ran to a window and screamed for help. Firemen were sweeping across the street and moving towards where I was. August Schweisthan heard me and came under the window. I dropped my children to him one by one."

Lost His Toy Dog.

Little Ben Mas, eight years old, who was garbed only in his pajamas, received much commiseration until it was learned that he was among the least unfortunate of those who lived in the building. Ben was standing on the street and crying lustily.

"And are your father and mother and little brothers and sisters in that awful place?" asked a sympathizing fireman.

"No," said the little fellow. "They went visiting last night. But I lost my toy dog and my nose is cold."

Find Some Alive.

After working for an hour at the wreckage where the means came from, firemen came upon a man and a woman in a semi-conscious condition. The firemen said that the voices were becoming plainer and that a number of persons seemed to be imprisoned in a sort of wreck-choked grotto arched over by fallen timbers.

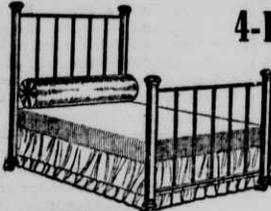

The names of those rescued from the wreckage up to noon were given out by the police as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnson, aged 31 and 27, respectively, and three girls of the Spitzley family—Gertrude, aged 8, Mary, aged 12, and Charlotte, aged 18.

TROUBLE WITH JAPAN AGAIN LOOMS LARGE

Secretary Lansing a telegram from the Idaho state senate explaining that the anti-alien law just passed by the house is aimed at all aliens and not particularly at the Japanese, and asking that the federal government not attempt to interfere with its passage.

Secretary Lansing was interested in the explanation, but said it did not change the situation in as much as it did apply to the Japanese. Senator Borah took no further steps. Senator Chamberlain repeated today he did not expect to interfere, as he believed the legislature of Oregon has a right to pass such a bill.

OREGON'S ANTI-ALIEN BILL WITHDRAWN IN SENATE

Salem, Ore., Feb. 2.—Oregon's anti-alien land bill was withdrawn from the legislature here today by Senator George R. Wilbur, democrat, Hood River, who introduced it, because, as he said, he did not want to handicap President Wilson with possible Japanese complications during the present international crisis.

Senator Wilbur said nothing about receiving requests from Washington to withdraw the measure. "I have been noted by the press dispatches the desire is that these bills should not be pressed at this time in view of the present grave diplomatic situation," he said.

"If these were normal times I would not withdraw this bill, but on account of existing conditions I wish to leave the government at Washington free to handle the situation.

"I have not lost faith in this bill," he added. "I think the time is coming when members of the Oregon legislature will be sent here with instructions from their constituents to pass a law."

DANGER TO PEACE OF HOLLAND IS INCREASED

Amsterdam, Feb. 2 (via London).—Commenting on the German note, the Nieuwe Rotterdamse Courant reaches the conclusion that it considerably increases the prospects of Holland being drawn into the war. It expresses doubt, however, whether Germany will be able to increase the effectiveness of her submarine warfare.

BOTH HOUSES PASS THE ALASKA PROHIBITION LAW

Washington, Feb. 2.—The Alaska "bone dry" prohibition bill, already passed by the senate, was passed today in the house after an unsuccessful attempt to prevent its consideration.
