NOT SO BAD

At least, the legislature in session this year did not load the public with referendum propositions, to be disposed of at the election that will be held in November of next year.

One of these revives the proposal that there be a constitutional amendment providing for the exemption of mortgages from taxation, with the clause relating to church property cut out.

The other measure sent to the polls by the legislature relates to the building of an elevator at Great Falls. It is a plan that is of interest to the farmers and, as we understand it, they are to bear the expense if the undertaking is carried out.

OLD AND NEW

At the national capital the outstanding issue today relates to the process whereby, if it wants to, the senate can stop debate and get to a vote.

Senator Walsh is at the fore in today's senate doings. Yesterday, in a stirring speech, he told the senators that "action, immediate action by congress, is imperative.

UNDER ARMS

Action by congress authorizing the arming of merchantmen and the use of the military and naval forces by the president for the protection of American shipping will probably be regarded by Germany as equivalent to a declaration of war.

The first effect of this creating a state of war will be to extend the zone of submarine operations, as far as American shipping is concerned, to the seven seas.

The submarine may do business on our coast or wherever American shipping is found.

It may be expected that within a few days, or immediately, some of the large cruising German submarines will turn son and his senate supporters. Just about the time when our Senator Walsh, at the age of twenty-five, became his brother's partner in a Dakota law office, William E. Gladstone, dealing with momentous national issues, made up his mind to release the government from the tormenting obstacles which the minority in the commons could impose.

There isn't a doubt that the membership of the federal senate includes a number of men, republicans and democrats, whose relative rank in the country's esteem is very high and who opposed last week's filibuster, but who, nevertheless, will regret the necessity that compels the abandonment of the old rule.

THEY'RE AFTER HIM

Senator Jones of the state of Washington probably would be satisfied were the extra session to run on through several weeks.

GRAYSON AGAIN

In renominating Dr. Cary T. Grayson as medical director of the navy with rank of rear admiral, President Wilson has shown extremely poor judgment.

That is the way the country has looked at it, too. Some of the newspapers that are strongest in their support of Wilson have disagreed with him in this matter.

Our navy is weak enough without making it weaker by injecting politics into its affairs at a time when, any day, it may become the chief reliance of the people in the matter of national defense.

Because of the fact that the senate is engaged in more serious matters, it may be that it will not hold up the appointment. A late reporter says that Senator Weeks, who led the fight against confirmation in the last session, may drop the matter.

up close to our Atlantic harbors and repeat the performance of the U-53. This will at once involve the protection of our coastwise trade.

All merchant ships must take on arms. This armament will be furnished by the government from the navy yards and will be put in place by naval experts.

The advantage of arming merchantmen is recognized by all authorities. A moderate caliber gun mounted fore or aft can make things disagreeable for a submarine and increases greatly the chance of the merchant ship's escape.

Dandruff Heads Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't. It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely.

If you are unpopular there must be a reason for it. Maybe you try to monopolize the conversation. One good thing about the Middle Age is that when a man has reached it, he is so used to disappointments that he doesn't mind them.

Our own belief is that if George Washington had been a golf player he wouldn't have acquired such a reputation for veracity.

The man who brags that he is his own master seldom exercises the privilege of bossing himself.

A man can wear a white shirt and conceal the fact that he chews tobacco. But he can't wear white whiskers and get away with it.

Ever notice how mad the man who hasn't set foot in his Church for ten years gets when he hears any one knocking his church?

Another clinch bet is that the man whose expenses are being paid is going to make them higher than if he had to pay them himself.

Every man can recall a time when he was so close to death that the doctors gave him up.

Why do they say that nobody loves a fat man? There are more thin men who would like to be fat than there are fat men who would like to be thin.

Man's Letter Answered.

Dear Sir: In the year 1913, month of March, I read in my newspaper a recipe or prescription and had it filed, as I was in run-down health and was particularly nervous, weak and worn out. I was despondent and unable to work part of the time.

Answer—The prescription referred to is here-with given. Any well-stocked drugist can mix it. It really is a wonderful strength-giving tonic for nerve-broken men, and women, too:

Tincture Cadonene Comp ..... 1 oz. Comp. Essence Cardiol ..... 1 oz. Comp. Fluid Eulburtwort ..... 1 oz. Comp. Syrup Saraparilla ..... 3 oz. Mix. Shake well and take a teaspoonful before or after each meal and one at bedtime for several weeks. DR. LEWIS BAKER.

Note—Clip this out and retain it, as it will not appear again.

His sole companion during the last seven or eight years was a bull terrier, and during that time no human being was known to cross the threshold of his home. A gardener used to do shopping for the colonel two or three times a week, but he never entered the house. As he had not seen his master for several days, the gardener called assistance, and Colonel Sedwick was found lying dead from heart disease on the landing at the top of the house.

RIPPLING RHYMES

OPEN CONFESSION

I think Bill Shakespeare dry as dust; his books, untouched, on the shelf; and I could take my pen, I trust, and write much better junk myself. Long o'er his pages I perspired, and sickened 'neath his grievous strain; his noisy bombast makes me tired, his style gives me a pain. But when I'm in the social swim, I do not talk like this. The Avon bard! To read him fills my soul with awe. I hate the dismal, horrid daubs Old Masters painted long ago. At these old works I gaze and stare, and fail to find a pleasing thing. I hate the truth here in my den, where no rebuke can make me see, but when I'm with my fellow men, I whoop it up for ancient Aesop. Alas, the man has not been born, who dares to hoot the gibberish who has the nerve to laugh to scorn the chromos of a bygone age.

are having a large part in detecting and preventing crime in the Flatbush section of Brooklyn and in making it a place where women may walk the streets safely at night without fear of annoyance. The vigilance and activity of the dogs have done much to rid this cozy settlement of detached houses of tramps, idlers and criminals. The dogs also have done much in Riverdale, where several were dispatched after a series of burglaries. The police department is devoting considerable time to the serious training of these dogs with a view to finding out to what extent they may be used in certain lines of police work. Kennels for the accommodation of 24 dogs have been built.

A GOOD WINTER HABIT

Many people dread winter because the sudden climatic changes bring colds, grippe, rheumatism, tonsillitis or bronchitis. But thousands of well-informed men and women today avoid much sickness for themselves and their children by taking a few bottles of Scott's Emulsion to make richer blood, fortify the membranes of the throat and chest and create body warmth to resist sickness. Soldiers at war receive cod liver oil; it will also strengthen you.
