GERMAN AGENTS ARE EVERYWHERE

Eavesdroppers Said to Over-run National Capital—The Espionage Bill.

The Post's Washington Bureau, Washington, D. C. April 18.—Unless members of congress are very much mistaken German spies are thick about Washington these days. There is a great deal of complaint by members that their footsteps are dogged and that they are harassed by eavesdroppers who presumably are in the employment of the German government.

"The other day," said Representative Tom Hollin of Alabama, "I accosted Representative Percy Quinn, who had just arrived from his home in Mississippi. We were on the steps of the house office building. A strange man added up to us and with an apparently unconcerned look on his face gazed into space while he put himself in a position to catch an ear-fall. This is only one of many instances of espionage that are going on."

While the bills to punish espionage pending in congress have been denounced as extremely drastic, those who are informed as to the activities of agents of the central powers in the United States agree that it will require some strong remedy to offset their work. The passage of a bill introduced in the senate by Senator Culberson, chairman of the judiciary committee, would make the United States and all its possessions virtually spy-proof, in the opinion of administration leaders. Punishment ranging from a fine of $10,000 or two years' imprisonment to life sentences is provided for violators of the proposed law.

"The bill covers every form of espionage, violation of neutrality or treason in the event of war. Spying on canals and rivers, creating dissension in the army or navy, making false statements that might influence the action of the United States, fomenting expeditions against friendly nations—which would include helping a revolutionary movement in Ireland—are all covered in the proposed law.

Profiting by the difficulties encountered in prosecuting recent German plot cases, government experts co-operated with members of congress in framing the measure.

Some facts have crept out which throw a light on the significance of President Wilson's warning of German spies "even in our offices of government." It has become known that trails of the activity of the German secret service in the most closely guarded executive departments at Washington have been discovered.

Attorney General Gregory states that numerous reports of activities of persons furnishing confidential information to foreign countries have been sent to the department of justice by other federal departments. That this information has been secured by persons connected with the departments is evident, he said, from the fact that no one other than an employe could have revealed information of the character in question.

Since the European war began the bureau of investigation of the department of justice, charged with the prosecution of foreign agents and disloyal citizens, has been enlarged several times and that bureau is doing a very thorough work under the direction of A. Bruce Bielaski. It now is expected to be given much wider facilities and powers and to become an increasingly important part of the federal government.

An organization of 400,000 commercial travelers of the United States has written to Attorney General Gregory offering to enlist in the service of ferreting out spies and keeping the department advised of acts inimical to the welfare of the country.

CHICAGO MAN IN FOREIGN LEGION

Hugo Nobel of 1540 Monticello Street Received Medal From French Government.

The following signed statement was made by Mr. Hugo Nobel, who lives at No. 1540 Monticello street, Chicago, Ill., and is a painter by occupation. Mr. Nobel served in the French Army, and for five years served in Africa and China in the Foreign Legion, being wounded four times. He received a medal from the French government for his gallantry and heroism. He says:

"Long service in the French army had put my health in a very bad condition. My food fermented in my stomach and caused gas to form and I was always nervous and dizzy, could not sleep at night and felt very weak and all played out. For years I had tried various remedies and so-called 'cures' without any permanent relief. About two weeks ago I read in the daily paper where Plant Jules had cured a man who suffered exactly as I did, so I bought a bottle of Plant Jules and noticed almost immediate relief in my kidneys and stomach. My food began to digest properly for the first time in years, and now I am feeling fine, the heat I have in years, and give all credit to Plant Jules for my recovery. I am recommending it to all my friends."

There are numerous symptoms of this trouble that Plant Jules can relieve. In fact, any one of the following may denote afflictions of the stomach: Indigestion, dyspepsia, belching of wind, bad breath, sick, throbbing headaches, poor circulation, constiveness, coated tongue or a poor complexion.

Plant Jules is sold in Butte at New-Bro Drug company and in Anaconda at the Smith Drug company.

SPECIAL ORDERS TO G. A. R. CAMPS

Extra Solemnity in Observance of Memorial Day This Year.

In view of the solemnity which will attach to the observance of Memorial day this year because of the fact that the United States has entered the greatest war in the world's history there is considerable interest in the annual proclamation from the headquarters of the Grand Army of the Republic at Pittsburg, Pa., a copy of which has been received here and which follows:

"In accordance with the custom and requirements of the Grand Army of the Republic," the proclamation states, "May 30 will be observed as Memorial day. For almost half a century this day has been devoted to honoring the memory of our heroic dead. This is the day on which a grateful people pay homage to those who died that the nation might live. This is the day set apart by our order to fittingly commemorate the glorious deeds of the men who fell in battle or who followed the flag in action to the end of the war and have since answered the last roll call.

"It is the bounden duty of every loyal citizen to participate in the patriotic services of Memorial day. Let us remember the men whose mortal remains now rest under the sod and the dew who rendered their full measure of devotion to the country. Let us not make this solemn day a holiday day wholly a day of sorrow. While we draw a sympathetic tear for those who have left us since last Memorial day, let us rejoice at the high standard of patriotism that inspired the stalwart youth of our land to stand as a living wall of defense of our country in its years of peril.

"Let us continue, while our beloved order lasts, to keep Memorial day bright before the American people. Let the living defenders of the republic honor the memory of our dead comrades in arms by placing flags and flowers on the green mounds that cover them."

The observance of Memorial day on May 30 will follow the state enactment of the patriotic societies in Butte. As usual the local camps will visit the schools and bear patriotic programs given by the camps.

UNCLE SAM'S NAVAL HEROES

ADMIRAL GEORGE DEWEY

All America mourned the death last January of Admiral George Dewey, hero of Manila bay and highest ranking officer of the United States navy. Dewey's success was due to thorough schooling and discipline. He was born in Montpelier, Vt., Dec. 26, 1837, and was trained at Norwich military academy at Annapolis. He became lieutenant in 1861 and was under Admiral Farragut on his famous drive to New Orleans.

Commander Smith of the Mississippi did not know the channel, so he called on Dewey for help.

"Do you know the channel, Dewey?" he asked. Dewey did not, but he answered, "Yes."

Under fire of forts on each side, the young lieutenant set his ship safely through the channel.

When the Spanish-American war began in 1898 Dewey was in command of the Asiatic fleet at Hongkong. With six fighting ships he sailed into Manila bay, arriving at Cavite, five miles off Manila, at dawn of May 1. Before him was Admiral Montojo's fleet of 10 ships.

Dewey went straight for the enemy. The Spanish forts and ships belched fire at him, but he moved on closer without firing a shot.

When near enough Dewey turned to Captain Gridley of the Olympia and quietly said:

"You may fire when you are ready, Gridley."

Immediately the guns of the Asiatic fleet opened fire and when the battle was over, six hours later, Dewey found not an American was lost and only seven wounded, while 200 Spaniards were killed and between 500 and 700 wounded.

Dewey's victory was the greatest event of the war. Congress made him admiral by special act in 1899, and the whole country sang his praise. He retired from active service and became a member of the naval advisory board, which office he held when he died.

CONTRACT LET TO HANSON COMPANY

Wallace Thanks Members for Courtesies at Last Meeting of the Old Board.

The contract for the heating, plumbing and ventilating systems for the new Lake Avenue school and the school to be built south of the present Emerson school was awarded last night to the Hanson Plumbing company at the figure of $29,750. This was the lowest bid submitted at the meeting of the school trustees of the Butte district. Last night was the last meeting of the old board and Chairman Wallace expressed his appreciation of the courtesies extended to him during his term by the other members of the board and the officials of the school in general.

Architect Smith was instructed to prepare plans and specifications for the proposed changes and additions to the Greeley school. Consideration of bids for sites for a school in the Gilman addition was left over until the next meeting. The use of the high school auditorium and of the Franklin, Harrison, Emerson and Blaine schools was granted on request of a committee for "Baby week." A vote of thanks was passed to A. J. Davis for flags which had been donated to the schools. In reply to a suggestion by Mrs. Potter, Superintendent Maddock stated that he would have fitting mention of the death of Miss Dinsmore, late drawing supervisor, in his annual report. An extension of time to June 29 was granted to the plumbing contractors at the new Cleveland school.

BENEDICTS ARE ANXIOUS TO DRILL

Suggest That Hundreds Could Be Taught the Modern Maneuvers.

Young married men of this city, while appreciating the government's consideration for them as providers for dependents, are not at all content to sit idly by while the young single men are preparing for active service in the army. Several of them have asked the question: Why could not volunteer drill be established here so that the married men, who are not asked to go to war at the present, might be trained to such a degree that they would be available at a moment's notice?

One young man, who asked that his name be withheld, said today:

"We may never be called to serve in the present war, but I believe that several months of training might be saved later on when time might mean everything, if we were called now. I know hundreds of young married men who would gladly give an hour or two every day in order to learn the rudiments of drill and discipline. This would entail no sacrifice on their part and if the time came when we were needed in a hurry we would be ready and it would not be necessary to spend months getting us in condition."

Mary Lightfoot got all money of $19 a month and the others seem to think they're entitled to it also.
