DOING ONE'S BIT

How gladly I would do my bit, if I but had the chance! How joyfully I'd go and hit a Prussian with a lance! But I have spavins on my knees, a ringbone on my wrist, and I have foot and mouth disease, and so I can't enlist. A lot of us must stay at home, too lame to seek the front, too old to sail across the foam and do a warlike stunt. And yet we need not throw a fit, or grumble day and night, for we can surely do our bit, although we cannot fight. I cannot make the Germans die, or sink their submarines, but I can help the food supply by raising fields of beans. I cannot chase the brutal foe, and hew him with an axe, but I can help to make things go by paying up my tax. And I can make the kind of spiel that patriots admire, that makes the young man grasp his steel, filled up with martial fire. And I can set examples here, and more examples there, by hooting down all talk of fear, all dirges of despair. E'en though my ailments make me sit supinely all the day, methinks I still can do my bit, and figure in the fray.

SECRETARY MADDOO CALLS FOR FUNDS IN BUTTE

Ryan: "New York City, May 3, 1917.—C. C. Swinburne, cashier Daily Bank and Trust company, Butte: Hope every bank in Montana will solicit subscriptions from depositors and the public for the government's Liberty loan of 1917, and that the banks themselves will subscribe liberally. Am sure Montana will do its share." Mr. Swinburne said today that the response in Montana to the government's request for money would be prompt and generous. "These bonds are especially attractive," he said, "and every bank will recommend them to its patrons and to the public generally. They not only draw a fair rate of interest, but they have the advantage of being instantly negotiable and form as good a basis for credit as can be had. We look for a large amount of the bonds to be subscribed in Butte. The three larger banks of Butte pay only 3 per cent on time deposits. The postal savings bank of Butte, one of the largest in respect to deposits in the country, pays only 2 per cent. Under these circumstances there will be a big demand for the bonds." John MacGinniss, president of the Silver Bow National bank, and D. J. Fitzgerald, its cashier, were among the first in Butte to subscribe for the bonds. "I believe that the people of Butte will respond generously to the loan," said Mr. Fitzgerald this morning. "The national reserve banks all over the country have been asked to do their share and the Silver Bow National bank is willing to use every effort to further the cause in Butte." Every bank and every brokerage firm in Butte has signified its willingness to receive subscriptions for the government's loan, without charge. Not only will the banks handle subscriptions from their patrons, but they will invest a portion of their own funds in the bonds. The salient features of the Liberty loan are that it will be free from federal, state or local taxes of every character except inheritance taxes, and the issue will be convertible into bonds bearing a higher rate of interest than 3 1/2 per cent if subsequent series are issued at higher rates before termination of the war. The denominations of the bonds have not been definitely decided, but it is understood that the same will be as low as $50. Payments will not have to be made on subscriptions until July 1.

FIRST CHECK FOR THE PRESIDENT'S WAR PLANS

Rankin voted to strike out the section on the resolution of Representative Graham of Pennsylvania. Democratic Leader Kitchin was a prominent advocate of the section.

Amendments Defeated.

Amendments by Representative Kahn of California to provide for a board of censors, and one by Representative McCormick of Illinois to limit suppression of news to movements of troops and ships and similar information were defeated.

Had Two Plans.

Administration house leaders informed Postmaster General Burleson when he came to the capitol today to urge passage of the bill that defeat was certain for the newspaper censorship section. Suggestions were made that the censorship section be stricken out and possibly offered later as a separate bill. Sentiment among members appeared to be divided as to whether the section should be wholly eliminated or whether the McCormick amendment to provide for the designation of certain specific news which could be suppressed by presidential proclamation should be adopted.

Representative Graham of Pennsylvania, whose motion to strike out the whole section was pending, attacked it again today.

"Let us take the people into our confidence," he said. "They are our sovereigns. This is their war and they have to make the sacrifices."

Kahn's Plan.

Representative Kahn today offered his amendment to create a board of censors to be composed of trained newspapermen and representatives of the state, war and navy departments.

In closing argument for the censorship section, Chairman Webb of the judiciary committee said he had just received word from President Wilson that the section would be necessary to the defense and success of the country.

"Was that message brought down by Postmaster General Burleson who is always snooping around here?" demanded Representative Norton of North Dakota.

Mr. Webb did not reply to the question, but launched into an attack on newspapers which, he said, were not standing by the president.

New Censorship Rule.

The new section, drafted by Representative Gard of Ohio, follows: "During any national emergency resulting from a war in which the United States is a party, publication, wilfully and without proper authority of any information relating to the national defense that is or may be useful to the enemy, is hereby prohibited, and the president is hereby authorized to declare by proclamation the existence of such national emergency, and is hereby authorized from time to time, by proclamation, to declare the character of such information which is or may be useful to the enemy, and in any prosecution hereunder the jury trying the case shall determine not only whether the defendant or defendants did wilfully and without authority publish the information relating to the national defense as set out in the indictment, but also whether such information was of such character to be useful to the enemy.

"Provided: That nothing in this section shall be construed to limit or restrict any discussion, comment or criticism upon any fact or any of the acts or policies of the government and its representatives or the publishing of the same. Whoever violates the foregoing provision shall upon conviction thereof be punished by a fine of not more than $10,000 or by imprisonment for not more than 10 years or both."

In the Senate.

At the same time the senate was debating the bill and President Wilson's approval of the export embargo section was used there.

Senator Overman read a letter from the president dated April 14 endorsing the section.

The letter was read after Senator Reed had challenged a statement by Senator Overman that the president personally endorsed the embargo proposal.

"A few weeks ago," said Senator Overman, after reading the letter, "it became known that this country was sending food, clothing and many other things to Germany through some of the neutrals, and the president decided to ask legislation to stop it."

Senator Smith of Georgia contended the embargo was likely to check food production. He said there is no danger of a food shortage in America.

Walsh's View.

Senator Walsh of Montana, supporting the embargo proposal, said it would be sanely exercised by the executive authorities.

Declaring that the embargo clause proposes surrender of congressional power to the president, Senator Townsend of Michigan said:

"We are legislating under hysteria and magnifying the necessities of the times. This hysteria is not felt so much outside of Washington."

During the senate debate Senator Thomas of Colorado declared his remarks on Wednesday relating to hanging of food speculators to lamp posts had dealt with the danger of it, not that he advocated it. He declared he had said he feared food conditions might lead to it.

U-BOATS WERE LYING IN WAIT FOR SHIP

through their glasses to penetrate the haze both specks disappeared. Then we knew they were submarines which had been floating along practically awash. We were already steering a zigzag course and the gunners were ready at the sight of any target to turn a murderous fire upon the enemy. Nobody sighted anything, however, and suddenly there came a terrific explosion, the results of which made it impossible to handle the guns.

The torpedo had hit us in the engine room on the starboard side of the ship. She sank quickly by the stern, going down in less than 20 minutes. One of our lifeboats was shattered. The other three were launched safely.

"Naturally, our great regret is that we did not get an opportunity to use the guns. We had a picked gun crew who had proved their marksmanship repeatedly in practice on the way over."

STEAMER TAKEN INTO GERMAN PORT AS PRIZE

London, May 4.—Confiscation by the Germans of the Belgian relief steamer Carmetta is reported in a Central News dispatch from Copenhagen. A Danish sailor, who is a member of the crew, is authority for the report. He says the Germans ordered the crew to leave the ship and placed a prize crew on board to take it to a German port. The men from the Carmetta, in two small boats, asked for provisions, but the Germans refused. After six days of terrible suffering the men in one of the boats reached the Norwegian coast.

NOT A RELIEF SHIP.

New York, May 4.—Officials of the commission for relief in Belgium here said today that the steamship Carmetta, reported confiscated by the Germans, was not one of their ships.

RESCUERS DISPLAYED THE UTMOST BRAVERY

Paris, May 4.—A Marseilles dispatch to the Matin says that the patrol ships which went to the rescue of the torpedoed transport Arendian showed great heroism in saving the men. Boat officers and men leaped overboard and helped drowning soldiers. One patrol saved 236 men in an hour and a half.

MISSING MEN OF THE ROCKINGHAM ARE SAFE

London, May 4.—The admiralty reports that the missing boat from the Rockingham, with all the 14 men, has been picked up by a British steamer.

TWO KILLED WHEN THE VESSEL WAS ATTACKED

New York, May 4.—The crew list of the American steamer Rockingham, on file in the office of the owners of the ship here, gives the home address of Second Engineer Harry Marrey, killed by the torpedo which sank the vessel at San Francisco. William Wann, the other man killed, was from Honolulu.

CAT EXTENDS RIGHT HAND OF FELLOWSHIP AND WINS A HOME

Sandusky, O.—A black cat approached Fred Wyant as he was about to start for his home on his bicycle from a west side winery where he is employed, and, according to Wyant, extended a paw as if it wanted to shake hands.

"I took the proffered paw," said Wyant today, "and shook it vigorously, whereupon the cat moved as if it was trying to say something."

Wyant says that when he mounted his bicycle to ride away, the cat leaped and landed on his right shoulder, where it remained until he arrived at his home. There it is permanently quartered.

WATER LIKE BLACK INK

Bloomfield, Mo.—Oliver Scudder, who has charge of one of J. W. Budd's farms, was in town recently with a peculiar sample of water. They had been drilling a deep well on the place and at depth of 150 feet struck the water, which has the appearance of black ink. It is not oily and has practically no odor. Mr. Scudder went to the experiment station at Missouri university to have it analyzed.
