BUTTE IS HEALTHY BIG CLEANUP OVER

Three-Week Campaign Ends Today—No Place is Overlooked.

After three weeks of concentrated effort to clean up Butte, Street Commissioner M. D. Cahill will call off the 20 extra teams, with their complement of men, this evening with the work done.

Thousands of Butte men and women have participated in the clean up this year and the general condition of Butte's streets, alleys, homes and buildings is excellent.

I. W. W., CHARGED WITH MURDER, IS SET FREE

that the conduct of members of the I. W. W. during the preceding three months in Everett and on former occasions in other cities was such as to lead the Snohomish county authorities to fear violence from the organization and to warrant the use of severe repressive measures.

The state also sought to show that a conspiracy, to which Tracy was a party, existed for the purpose of violating an Everett city ordinance, that they were determined to brook no opposition to their program of law breaking and that when the legal authorities attempted to prevent them from landing in Everett on Nov. 5 they fired upon the posse, precipitating the battle in which Officer Beard, another deputy, and five Industrial Workers of the World were killed and more than two score wounded.

Peaceful Character. The defense introduced testimony, much of it from citizens of Everett, to show that the Industrial Workers in Everett had been law-abiding, that their opposition to the use of violence and that members of the organization were constantly subjected to brutal treatment by the Snohomish county authorities, control over whom had passed to Everett mill owners and Commercial club members.

A great number of witnesses testified to the peaceful character of the crowd which went aboard the Verona on Nov. 5, and several who were aboard the boat declared that the battle was opened by a shot from the dock, combating the state's contention that the first shot was fired from a cabin window by the Defendant Tracy.

As to Other Cases. It is understood, though not officially announced, that the cases against 73 other men who were on the Verona during the battle, and all of whom are charged with first degree murder, will be dropped.

Tracy and the other 73 men have been in the King county and Snohomish county jails since the day of the fight, having been arrested in Seattle when the Verona returned here with five dead men and scores of wounded aboard. The state was believed to have its best case against Tracy, who was a stout man with round, smooth face, that could be identified in a crowd. Several witnesses testified that Tracy occupied a certain seat in the cabin and that he fired through the window. Tracy admitted occupying the seat in question, but declared he was unarmed. The expenses of his defense were paid by the national organization of the I. W. W.

AUGUST FUNERAL. Many friends attended the funeral services held today in memory of Mrs. Marie August. The cortege proceeded from the Daniels and Bilboa parlors to St. Patrick's church, where a high mass was celebrated. Burial was in the Holy Cross cemetery.

BRITISH HEIR WILL WED HIS COUSIN, IS REPORT

Prince of Wales Decides for Himself Much-Discussed Question.

London, May 5.—Prince Edward Albert of Wales, heir apparent to the British throne, has answered for himself the question whom he will marry, according to the National News, a London weekly. The News says the prince has decided he will ask for the hand of his first cousin, Princess Maude, the youngest daughter of the Princess Royal and sister to Prince Arthur of Connaught.

The report of the National News contradicts the rumour current some time ago that the prince sought the hand of Princess Yolanda, eldest daughter of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy. Recently London newspapers, perhaps influenced by the downfall of the Russian aristocracy and the American stand against Germany's separate royal caste, have been urging that the old system under which kings chose mates for themselves or their heirs among the daughters of their own nobility should be revived.

NEW MINISTRY OF RUSSIA READY TO RESIGN OFFICE

which in my conviction is impracticable, we would be repulsed."

The minister made an allusion to a secret telegram which has been received from the allies. It is significant that the ambassadors of England, France and Italy have called upon the foreign secretary, M. Milukoff, concluded his statement by saying:

Dependent on America. "Respecting our needs and means of continuing the war we are dependent to a great extent upon the allies, especially upon America. It will be an everlasting blot on our history if there should be a possibility of concluding a separate peace. But the council itself has declared against a separate peace."

M. Tchekide, president of the council, repeated previous declarations "at the imperialistic attitude of the government was unacceptable. He said: "Neither the soldiers nor the workmen are for war. If the government does not mean to hide our watchword of peace without conditions it will have to make itself clear."

M. Tchekide called attention to the fact that there was no interior discord and that the only trouble was in respect to Russia's foreign policy.

ALL MEETINGS IN PETROGRAD FORBIDDEN

Petrograd (via London), May 5.—All meetings have been forbidden for two days by order of the council of Workmen's and Soldiers' delegates. All armed demonstrations are likewise forbidden. Troops are forbidden to leave their barracks with arms.

AUTHORITY OF KAISER TO BE RESTRICTED

when treaties are inaugurated and concluded, when war is declared and when peace agreements are being settled, the Berlin dispatches state.

The committee also has rejected the proposal to introduce a bill giving the reichstag power to dismiss the chancellor when it wishes, the advices add.

GOVERNMENT WARNING IS DEFENDED IN REICHSTAG

Amsterdam, May 5 (via London).—A Berlin dispatch says that General Groener, minister of munitions, defended before the reichstag his May Day manifesto to the workers. His defense was in answer to criticism by the social democrats.

Deputy Schoepflin, a social democrat, supported the minister and declared that the manifesto was necessary "because the German people were at a fatal parting of the ways, of which one led to defeat." The deputy said that no one must interfere with the army at home and in the field and until the end of the war the working classes must remain absolutely calm.

WOMEN ARE ADAPTED TO THE SHIPBUILDING ART

London, May 5.—The head of a big Glasgow shipbuilding firm, speaking at the opening of the Exhibition of Women's War Work here this week, paid a warm tribute to the excellent results obtained in his business from "dilution" with women labor.

PRESIDENT SITS IN HOUSE GALLERY

He Listens to the Address by British Foreign Minister Balfour.

"Your fate has been a happier one. You were called into existence at a much later stage of social development. You came into being complete and perfected and all your powers determined and your place in the constitution secured beyond chance of revolution, but though the history of these two great assemblies is different, each of them represents the great democratic principle to which we look forward as the security for the future peace of the world. All of the free assemblies now to be found governing the great nations of the earth have been modeled either upon your practice or upon ours or upon both combined.

Deeper Than Courtesy. "Mr. Speaker, the compliment paid to the mission from Great Britain by such an assembly and upon such an occasion is one that any of us is ever likely to forget, but there is something after all even deeper and more significant in the circumstances under which I now have the honor to address you than any which arise out of the interchange of courtesies however sincere between two great and friendly nations."

Mistakes of Democracies. "I am not one of those, none of you are among those who would say that democracies make no mistakes. All free assemblies have made blunders; sometimes they have committed crimes. Why is it that we look forward to the spirit of free institutions and especially among our present enemies as one of the greatest guarantees of the future peace of the world? I will say to you, gentlemen, how it seems to me.

"It is quite true that the people and the representatives of the people may be betrayed by some momentary gust of passion into a policy which they ultimately deplore, but it is only a military despotism of the German type that can through generations, if need be, pursue steadily remorselessly, unscrupulously and appallingly the object of dominating the civilization of mankind. And mark you, this evil, this menace under which we are now suffering is not one which diminishes with the growth of knowledge and progress of material civilization, but on the contrary it increases with them.

The Great Danger. "When I was young we used to flatter ourselves that progress inevitably meant peace and that growth of knowledge was always accompanied as its natural fruit by the growth of good will among the nations of the earth. Unhappily we know better now and we know there is such a thing in the world as a power which can with unvarying persistence focus all the resources of knowledge and of civilization into the one great task of making itself master of the world. It is against that danger that we, the free people's of western civilization, have banded ourselves together.

"It is in that great cause that we are going to fight and are fighting at this moment side by side. In that cause we shall surely conquer and our children will look back to this fateful date as the one from which democracies can feel secure that their progress, their civilization, their rivalry, if need be, will be conducted not on German lines, but in the friendly and Christian spirit which really befits the age in which we live.

"Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen, I beg most sincerely to repeat again how heartily I thank you for the cordial welcome which you have given us today and to repeat my profound sense of the significance of this unique meeting."

President Applauds. President Wilson was among those who applauded loudest as Mr. Balfour began speaking. He removed his gloves and entered into the handclapping with vigor.

Mr. Balfour concluded by again thanking the house and saying he had a "profound sense of this unique greeting."

Apparently he did not know that President Wilson was one of the most interested listeners and when he ended his speech went to the well of the house, where members began passing by to shake his hand.

In the Line. President Wilson came down from the gallery and joined the line. As he appeared on the floor he was cheered again and took a place just ahead of Representative Jeannette Rankin.

President Wilson chatted a moment with Mr. Balfour and then shook hands with Speaker Clark. Another receiving line formed quickly and the president greeted many members of the house.

Justices of the supreme court, headed by Chief Justice White, occupied chairs on the floor. In the diplomatic gallery were American, British and French officials.

Mr. Balfour gave a cordial greeting to every member as the line filed by. To one he confided that he was a little nervous, he said, "al-

Do You Consider Your Appearance?

DOES YOUR BREATHING BOTHER YOU after work or when you awaken in the morning, does your nose seem all stopped up? Do away with this objectionable hardship. Breathe as you used to.

It is essential that you do so. Your success in life may sometimes depend upon your appearance. A man or woman who may be the personification of honor and truthfulness is sometimes wrongly judged on account of MARRED FEATURES. Do not continue to go on struggling through life with this handicap. Imperfections of the nose, chin, mouth, ears, eyes, unsightly or deformed noses straightened by the very latest scientific methods.

Do You Consider Your Comfort?

You should do so. A comfortable person is a happy one. A happy one is a successful one. Any one suffering from weak ankles, dislocated and enlarged joints, crooked toes or flat feet cannot be comfortable or happy. ARCH TROUBLES, entirely done away with by the most advanced orthopedic methods. RHEUMATISM—the chances are 85 per cent of the people who are treated for this dreaded complaint are suffering from Chronic Arch Trouble.

Do not continue to poison your system with drugs for RHEUMATISM until you first find out the real cause of those aching joints.

HOPE TO SEND BILL TO PRESIDENT NEXT WEEK

Representative Jeannette Rankin introduced a little bill to Mr. Balfour. "I am so glad to have this pleasure," said the British minister.

The members cheered again as the party left. On motion of Republican Leader Mann, the proceedings which were in recess were ordered printed in the congressional record.

BREAKING THE NEWS.

The rector of a church in Maryland was in his study, hard at work on his sermon for the coming Sunday, when a visitor was announced. She was a big muscular woman, and when the minister had brought forward a chair she flopped into it and opened up bluntly, as follows: "You're Minister Jones, ain't you?" "I am."

CONFERENCE IS NOW BUSILY AT WORK UPON THE ARMY MEASURE.

Washington, May 5.—Conferees on the war army selective draft bill again today sought to iron out differences between the house and senate. Work on the measure was postponed from yesterday because of the necessity of conferees responding to frequent roll calls in both houses on espionage bills.

"BROADWAY JONES," MILE-A-MINUTE SORT OF PLAY, FULL OF PEP AND GINGER—FEATURING GEO. M. COHAN, GREAT STAGE PERSONALITY, MONDAY AT AMERICAN

And now George M. Cohan has become a regular dyed in the wool, honest to goodness motion picture actor. He took a long time for the famous Yankee Doodle Boy to succumb to the lure of the screen, but at last he has really entered the silent art at the head of his own company, Artcraft Pictures. Here George M. is set a receiving his first lesson in motion picture acting from Joe Kaufman, his director, while pretty Marguerite Snow of "The Million Dollar Mystery" fame and who has been selected as Mr. Cohan's leading lady, occasionally offers a bit of valuable advice in connection with the screen production of "Broadway Jones." Many will remember this subject as George M. Cohan's greatest stage success.
