CLERK OF COURT TAKES A BRIDE

Surprises Friends by Marrying Miss Smith—Makes Out Own License.

Otis Lee, clerk of the district court, did not fool his numerous intimate friends but very cleverly succeeded in "putting one over" on his friends. He was married this morning at an early hour at St. Joseph's church to Miss Doris Smith, one of the popular young ladies of the city, and was chief deputy clerk of the court. Miss Smith was aware when she reached the office this morning that Lee had been married and was then on his way to the Oregon Short Line with his bride on a trip to Salt Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Lee were out of the city for over two hours before any outside of the families of the contracting parties was aware that the marriage had taken place.

So carefully did Mr. Lee guard the fact that he was to be married this morning that he would not even trust some of his deputies to make out the marriage license. Some time Saturday morning he quietly slipped into his office, and the vault took out the marriage license book and wrote his own name, as shown by an examination of the book this morning. The marriage ceremony was performed at St. Joseph's church at 5:45 o'clock by the Rev. Father McCormack, after the ceremony the party drove to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Smith, Utah avenue, where breakfast was served and then the bridal party drove to the Oregon Short Line, where the train was taken. The bride is a native of this city and a graduate of the Butte high school.

BRITISH ENVOYS WILL COMPLETE TASK THIS WEEK

Members of Mission Will Visit Chicago and Then Go to Canada.

Washington, May 21.—Announcement was made today that the British official mission will finally leave Washington next week for a brief visit to Chicago, then visit Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa. Shipping problems were discussed today first by Secretary Balfour with members of the mission and later with Chairman Denman and Major General Goethals of the shipping board. British trade experts in conference with American officials have worked out accurately the amount necessary to continue the life flow to the allies, and the shipping board has a detailed program for meeting that need.

The British are understood to have supplied a priority schedule of the order of independence of the various exports with the minimum amounts necessary. At the same time, they have supplied the shipping board with full figures of their total tonnage, new construction and rates of depletion. Officials have stated frequently recently that the rate of destruction is most dangerous though not yet fatal.

Mr. Balfour today also saw J. P. Morgan and it is understood they discussed the future relations of Morgan & Co. to the British government. Just as the former have given up placing loans, now that the government is doing that work, it is probable that they will also give up the purchase of munitions and other supplies when the detailed arrangements for a central official buying committee are completed.

TWO BUTTE BOYS WANT TO GO TO ANNAPOLIS

Examinations Are to Be Held Throughout the State Thursday.

Two aspirants for appointment as midshipmen to the United States naval academy at Annapolis have already made their application in Butte to take the examination to be held here on May 24 under the direction of the civil service commission. The examination will be competitive in character and will be held in all of the principal cities of the state, the two aspirants with the highest grades to be appointed by United States Senator T. J. Walsh.

The appointments will be made in connection with recent decision to increase the number of midshipmen by 531. There are now 540 midshipmen in the academy. The 133 in the class graduated on March 29 would in the ordinary course be commissioned as ensigns on July 1. They are now in the service and will be commissioned as ensigns at once. Another class of 202 will be graduated early in September.

SOUTHERN HOSPITALITY.

Louisville, Ky.—Waiter, a round of mint juleps; the joke is on Louisville. Louisville got all ready to welcome Miss Margaret Woodrow Wilson, daughter of the president. Some of the very best people went down to the station where she was to arrive preparatory to starting work for the Red Cross here. A great crowd gathered and the band whooped up all the national anthems provided for in the union sheets.

Finally the trim figure of a girl appeared on the observation platform. The crowd yelled itself hoarse. Men waved their hats at her, and the band—well, it almost split its tubes. The girl bowed bashfully, and on the arm of a gentleman skirted her way through the crowd, which thought her extremely modest and followed in her wake until she disappeared.

Some hours later they learned that Miss Wilson had preceded the visitor they had welcomed by several hours and that the serenaded "Miss Wilson" was in reality Mrs. Attila Cox.

Walter, another round—make it two each this time—the drinks are on Louisville.

"The Japanese are great imitators," said Smith. "They can imitate anything." "Huh," replied Jones. "I don't think any of them would be mean enough to imitate some of our United States senators."

NO GROUND FOR HEINZE ACTION

Suit Brought Against Amalgamated Under Sherman Anti-Trust Law.

John D. Ryan and James Stillman, with Marcus Daly, entered a conspiracy to attack the United Copper company and secure monopoly of Montana copper interests.

As stockholders of the United Copper company, a majority of whose stock was controlled by the defendants, the New York federal courts, in dismissing the Heinze suit, held that they had no capacity to sue for injury to the corporation.

The action was brought in the law side of the courts by the United Copper Securities company and Arthur P. Heinze, plaintiffs in error, against the Amalgamated Copper company and others as stockholders of the United Copper company and on its behalf to recover damages under section seven of the Sherman law, alleged to have been sustained by the United Copper company as the result of an alleged conspiracy among the defendants to monopolize the interstate trade in copper. The United Copper company was made a party defendant.

In the brief for the Amalgamated copper company, presented to the supreme court, it was asserted for the plaintiffs in error that the alleged cause of action was in favor of the United Copper company and that the plaintiffs in error individually had no cause of action against any of the defendants. This also appeared from the complaint and the judgment demanded was that the damages sustained be paid to the United Copper company. The only connection of the plaintiffs in error with the alleged transactions was that of stockholders; and the interest of each in the total capital stock of the company was the inconceivably small percentage of one-fiftieth of one per cent, each claiming to have 100 shares of the common stock, of the par value of $100 each, out of a total capitalization of $50,000,000, of which $5,000,000, par value, consisted of preferred stock.

The brief further adds: "A demand upon the corporation to commence this or a like action is alleged to have been made; but the corporation and the board of directors refused to comply with the demand. No wrong doing or misconduct on the part of the directors or officers or any of them, is charged or intimated."

"It is respectfully submitted that a representative action of this kind cannot be maintained at law, and that the complaint does not state facts entitling the plaintiffs in error to any relief."

AMUSEMENTS

"HELL MORGAN" MISSING BIG SHOW IS POSTPONED

What would you do if you had been hunting, had succeeded, after much effort, in bagging some prime venison, invited your friends to a big game dinner, and then—10 minutes before dinner—you found that your venison had been shipped by mistake to Podunk on the Raritan or some other non-telegraphic point?

It was a somewhat similar dilemma that confronted Manager Jensen of the Rialto Saturday night. Much advertising and intensive display informed the Butte public that "Hell Morgan and His Girl," with all their gaudy finery, would disport themselves through five spicy and highly interesting reels of barbery coast etiquette and earthquake for the exclusive benefit of Rialto fans.

"She's going to be some show," so blurted Mr. Jensen, secure in the knowledge that he had "Hell Morgan" and his girl safely canned in the operating booth. After the Saturday night show the theater attaches distributed themselves comfortably around the theater to witness the preliminary run of the film.

Through four reels so tense was the interest that no sound excepting the whirr of the machine was heard, when suddenly the small audience found themselves thrown bodily, figuratively speaking, into the middle reel of a real effect entitled "Little Eva."

The crowd—of eight people constitute a crowd—yelled lustily at the operator; there was much hurried investigation, but it was found the fifth reel was occupied by "Little Eva." "Huh," and his followers of the under-world. The rest of the night was spent in wiring and telephoning to almost every town between St. Paul and Seattle in an effort to locate the missing reel—many country reel magnates cursing at a telephone call at 2, 3 or 4 o'clock in the morning—but the only result was that "it might be in White Sulphur Springs."

All day yesterday between naps Manager Jensen tore his hair—what there is of it—and wondered "why is White Sulphur Springs, 'Little Eva,' 'Hell Morgan' and a picture exchange?" He says it is an impossible combination anyway. In spite of the efforts of the entire theater staff and the Universal Film exchange the missing reel could not be found in time for the Sunday show, so Mr. Jensen, instead of putting on a "patched-up" show, which he admits would be best from a box office viewpoint, but not up to Rialto standards, he elected to hold over "Idle Wives" for one day. "This will at least," he says, "give those who missed the regular run of this feature another chance to see it."

Yesterday a complete film of "Hell Morgan's Girl" was shipped from Portland but missed train connections at Spokane so Mr. Jensen has secured

"Reckless Romeo" IS AT LIBERTY THEATER

Attracted by "Fatty" Arbuckle in a "Reckless Romeo" crowds filled the Liberty theater this afternoon. The comedy is said to be one of the best that ever came to Butte and the little theater rang with laughter during the afternoon.

According to the management the price of 10 cents will remain throughout, despite the expense of securing such a film as "Reckless Romeo."

Since the change in the management of the Liberty the number of people attending each day has been doubled. This rate is expected to keep up as long as the theater maintains the high standards with which it has started out.

ANTI-TRUST SUITS WILL BE REARGUED

No Decisions in Cases Until Country Has Readjusted Itself to War.

Washington, May 21.—All the big anti-trust suits before the supreme court were today ordered reargued next term.

This announcement by the court today bears out the prediction that there would be no decisions in the great anti-trust suits at least until the country had readjusted itself to war conditions.

The suits against the steel corporation, International Harvester company, Reading and Lehigh railways and the United Shoe Machinery company are among the cases which go over. Court recesses for the summer June 11.
