DESERT MADNESS DRIVES MINERS TO FATAL DUEL

Yuma, Ariz.—From Ajo has come a tale of bloodshed from hatred that flowed close association between men of divergent social views, also due in part, perhaps, to the half madness at times overcomes the lonely desert miners.

Working and operating the Yoopa cup of mines, 13 miles southwest of Ajo, were Albert L. Conley, Robert W. Alford, Jay Fredericks, William Wilson, and John Bach. The last two were held to have been a part of the labor argument that failed to secure control of the Ajo camp and to have been bitter their attitude toward their more operative partners. A break is said to have been precipitated by the action of Bach and Wilson in locating for themselves extensions of the ledge on which the partnership had been working. Fredericks, a newcomer, tried to be a peacemaker, but failed.

Bach, it is said, started hostilities by the heaving of a rock and was speared by Conley. The witnesses say that Wilson, who had secured a shot, a few minutes later shot Conley through the groin.

The pellets cut the femoral artery and made a fatal wound.

TURN OXMAN OVER TO POLICE CHIEF

California Supreme Court Orders Chief Witness in the Mooney Trial Held.

San Francisco, May 24.—Frank C. Oxman, leading witness in the murder trial of Thomas J. Mooney, was discharged from the custody of the sheriff and remanded to the custody of the chief of police by order of the state supreme court here today.

Oxman was held in custody of the sheriff to answer in the superior court on charge of attempted subornation of perjury. While preliminary hearings were going on, his counsel appealed to the appellate court for a writ of habeas corpus. This, the supreme court held today, properly constituted a stay of proceedings, and further action in the preliminary proceedings therefore was improper.

Action of the court, which was unanimous, placed Oxman exactly where he was when a warrant was first sworn out. The case, under legal procedure, now will go back to the police court of Judge Matthew Brady, as if there had been no preliminary hearing.

Oxman's counsel hastened to police headquarters to give bail.

VESSELS IN WAR ZONE TO USE SMOKE BOMBS

New York, May 24.—Smoke bombs, designed to protect merchant vessels from submarine attacks, are now being used on vessels passing through the war zone, according to information brought to an American port today on a French ship. The bombs are thrown by hand and on striking the water ignite and throw out a dense cloud of black vapor which hangs low over the water like fog, screening the movements of a vessel in danger of attack.

WITH PATRIOTIC FERVOR VETERANS OPEN SESSIONS

he graduated from school to the time he was admitted to practice law and finally to the time he was elected chief executive. But his proudest moment, declared the mayor, was in extending welcome to the Montana veterans to Butte. "Every citizen of Butte stands behind this welcome," declared the mayor. "I want to say to you veterans of the G. A. R., your wives and sons, that we are glad you are here and I hope and trust that every hour you spend in the city will be one of pleasure."

"Our nation stands on the greatest brink in its history. The history of this war will not be written behind the flag of Great Britain. Nor will it be written behind the flag of France or Belgium. But it will be written behind the flag we all adore—the Stars and Stripes."

Long and repeated cheering greeted the words of the mayor. When it finally died down sufficiently for him to continue, the city's chief executive declared: "The most glorious news of all will be that the American soldier will win in this war." The mayor concluded with the prediction that after the war Imperialism and Prussianism will be a dead issue, never to revive.

National Relief Corps Officer.

After Department Commander Reiche responded with a short speech in which he voiced the sentiments of Mayor Maloney, introduced Mrs. Ida K. Martin of Minneapolis, national president of the Woman's Relief Corps. Mrs. Martin, who has the distinction of being the first national officer to attend a local G. A. R. encampment, brought the greetings of the entire organization composed of nearly 170,000 members. She also brought the greetings of the commander in chief of the G. A. R. rank, whom she recently conferred with in the east. She complimented the G. A. R. in having such a grand order in the Woman's Relief Corps. Reviewing the work of the women, Mrs. Martin declared that in 1866, the organization struggled along for 15 years. Something was needed, declared Mrs. Martin. Finally in Denver in 1883 the National Woman's Relief Corps was formed as an auxiliary of the G. A. R.

From that time the relief corps has prospered. As the name implies, Mrs. Martin declared, relief is the first consideration—not charity. In the 34 years of its existence the corps has expended nearly $5,000,000 in relief work. In spite of the enormous amount of money, Mrs. Martin declared it is a low rate of interest which is owing to the veterans of the G. A. R.

Abreast of the Times.

Mrs. Martin continued that the W. R. C. has kept abreast of the times, having been affiliated with the Red Cross since 1900. Mrs. Martin called attention to the fact that while the G. A. R. is the first love of the relief corps, its work extends to the needy in every line. She added that the corps stands ready now, as it has at all times, to do anything and everything for the men who now go to the front and do their part in this great war.

Mrs. Martin concluded by declaring that at present the people of the United States are greatly interested in foreign-speaking people. "I refer to four classes," she said. "First, those found here; second, those brought here; third, those invited here, and fourth, those who belong here. I wish to speak of the third class especially. There are hundreds of thousands coming here annually. When they reach our shores they are all strange. Therefore it is our duty as a patriotic organization to teach them about our institutions in which we take so much pride—it is our duty to instill into them the patriotic spirit of '61.'"

Ladies of the G. A. R.

Mrs. Martha White of Hamilton, department president of the Ladies of the G. A. R., followed. She declared that to become a member of the organization one must be a blood relative of a soldier. Mrs. White declared that she was glad to have the G. A. R. and the benevolent work of the organization by telling of the recent burial of a confederate soldier by the men who wear the bronze button of the G. A. R.

Sons of Veterans.

W. C. Crum of Helena, division commander of the Sons of Veterans, was given an ovation when, with a number of Sons, he was called to the platform by Colonel Reiche. Round after round of applause followed the singing of "The Old Flag Never Touched the Ground." In a speech Commander Crum urged the aid of the G. A. R. and the ladies in locating a camp of Sons of Veterans in every city and town in Montana. Without their aid this could not be accomplished, he declared.

A patriotic oration, entitled "The Man Without a Country," by Michael Harrington, was roundly cheered. A decided hit of the encampment is being made by the Boy Scouts. Not only last night when the veterans gathered at the hotels, but today a band of 50 youngsters clad in regulation khaki offered assistance. The boys are divided into four troops. Troop 1 was on duty last night and today. Troop 3 will take up the work tomorrow, while on Saturday troops 2 and 4 will act. During tomorrow's parade the scouts will act as orderlies and couriers.

Tonight's Program.

Tonight's patriotic entertainment in the Auditorium will begin at 8 o'clock. The program follows:
Bugle call assembly.
Medley, "Songs of Uncle Sam" (Hosmer).
A. C. M. Barry.
Remarks, Joseph R. Corby, chairman.

Charles Warren, who has never missed a state encampment of the organization; Simon Hauswirth, listed for the next department commander; Col. E. S. Faxon, of Missoula, artist and old timer, who is chaplain of the Spanish War Veterans, and Pat Conlan, a confederate veteran. The local boys were busy all day meeting the new arrivals and extending the greetings of the city and what is said to be the warmest welcome that was ever extended to a state encampment.

In fact the local members of Lincoln corps were busy all day exchanging courtesies with the visitors and conducting them to their rooms in hotels and private houses. Headed by General Warren and Mr. Hauswirth, the local committee omitted nothing that would add to the comfort and convenience of the soldiers of the Republic. They were ably assisted by the ladies, headed by Mrs. Clara O'Connor Daly, Mrs. Estella Worth and Mrs. Della Peets and the Boy Scouts, under the direction of Rev. G. W. Thomas.

SMALL COINS DISAPPEAR FROM CIRCULATION

Berne, May 2.—German papers report a vexatious and almost mysterious disappearance of small coins, making it constantly necessary to issue new provisional iron money which must be "cashed in" after the war.

The government, since 1916, has coined and issued 10,000,000 marks worth of silver, 50 pfennig pieces, most of which have disappeared from sight almost as fast as put out. In addition it has put out 116,000,000 10-pfennig pieces and about as many 5-pfennig pieces made of iron, and even these are disappearing. Business firms are known to have in some cases as much as 70,000 marks worth of iron money.

The situation is to be relieved, it is reported, by a huge issue of "bons" for 50 pfennigs apiece, which will be put out by individual municipalities and taken up after the war.

The shortage of small money and its retirement from circulation and into countless stockings have been under way for more than two years. It began originally in the occupied portions of France, then spread to similar districts in Russia. Its first result was the issue of municipal paper money all over northern France, and the issue of military orders for holding the natives to accept either French or German money but to accept only town "bons."

Then Governor Whitman of New York dubbed him a "slacker" and refused to allow him to appear in the ring in the state. This action was followed by similar orders by the governors of Wisconsin, New Orleans, Ohio and other states where the game flourishes. The result was that he was not able to get a single match in this country. He then declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States and enlisted in the aviation corps.
