

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR TACOMA STAR

Pillett Has Too Much Smoke for Ironmen and They Fail to Score.

Tacoma, May 24.—The Ironmen drew a blank from Herman Pillett, Tacoma's youthful pitcher, making the Tiger's third straight victory over the Butte club, while McGinnity's bats were unable to get past second base. Pillett has not been defeated this year.

Big Ben Hunt twirled for the Ironmen and the Bengals got two runs in the first inning. The Bengals also got two safeties in the second frame but failed tally and after that Hunt settled down and pitched steadily. The Tacoma club scored its third run in the eighth inning when Harper and Flagstead hit safely. In the seventh inning McGinnity and Hilbard hit safely, but Pillett retired the next three sluggers.

Both teams played errorless ball and neither pitcher walked a man. Carpenter, Grant and McGinnity figured in a sensational double play in the second inning cutting off a Tacoma score. The two teams will play a double tomorrow.

Speaker, Chapman and Wambussans in 300 Class—Burns Leads in National

Chicago, May 26.—Cleveland batters are setting a merry pace for 300 hitters in the American league race. Official averages released today show three of the team—Speaker, Wambussans and Chapman—in that class, Speaker leading the league with 329. The figures include games from last Wednesday.

Chapman also is showing the way to base stealers and sacrifice hitters. He has stolen 13 bases as against seven for Cobb and has made 15 sacrifices. Speaker, Cleveland, 329; Wambussans, Cleveland, 325; Hendrix, New York, 327; Miller, St. Louis, 326; Walker, Boston, 318; Slesler, St. Louis, 317; Cobb, Detroit, 315; Chapman, Cleveland, 314; Melinnis, Philadelphia, 309.

In the National League Burns of New York with an average of 351 has displaced Jack Smith, St. Louis, as the leading hitter among the regulars. Wilhoit, Boston, is a point ahead of Burns, but he has participated in only 13 games against 27 for the New Yorker. Burns also leads in runs scored with 21 and is tied with Baird, Pittsburgh, for stolen base honors, each having seven. Philadelphia has batted its way to a 15-0 margin against York for team hitting. "Three hundred" batters who have participated in 15 or more games are:

Wilhoit, Boston, 352; Burns, New York, 351; Roush, Cincinnati, 350; Fischer, Pittsburgh, 350; Jack Smith, St. Louis, 343; Reuther, Chicago, 345; Griffith, Cincinnati, 342; Cravath, Philadelphia, 337; Kauff, New York, 335; Killifer, Philadelphia, 326; McGarity, New York, 324; Cruise, St. Louis, 311; Zimmerman, New York, 310; Wheat, Brooklyn, 305; Whitted, Philadelphia, 307; Miller, Brooklyn, 300.

STORY OF POE'S ENLISTMENT IN FAMOUS BLACK WATCH

Two years ago Andover academy installed five targets in the basement of one of its buildings, and these ranges have since been in constant use during the free hours of the school, says an ex-ecutive writer. Even before war was declared some 400 boys were taking part in military training in place of the required gymnasium work, and the members of the athletic teams participated in this though allowed at that time also to continue with their special athletic training. At the present time military training is foremost. It is interesting to note two things in this connection. One is that very few of the boys at Andover—notably the younger ones—are prevented from taking part in the military drill, which now has full sway, on account of the objection of parents. The other is that Andover, in so far as rifle shooting alone is concerned, anticipated the general war preparatory movement in schools and colleges by considerable time.

In this war we deal in terms of tons and hundreds of thousands of men. Necessarily the individual is lost sight of. Courage, heroism and patriotic acts are the rule and not the exception. We Americans have rarely had it brought home to us. But when Johnny Poe, the old Princeton athlete, fell upon the field of Flanders there was that about his death which made us feel toward him as the rule and not the exception. We have always felt toward Nathan Hale, the revolutionary martyr, who, like Poe, was a college athlete in his day.

For the above reasons the accounts about Poe have been all too meager and the story of his enlistment, which was recently brought to Baltimore—Poe's

BOXING TOURNEYS FOR THE SOLDIERS

Physical Director of the Canadian Troops Tells of Benefits.

New York, May 26.—Boxing has proved of great benefit to the soldiers being trained in Canada, Australia and other parts of the British empire for the world war, according to Col. H. G. Mayes of the Canadian troops, who is director of physical and bayonet training of the soldiers now in England and France. In order to help matters along Col. Mayes arranged boxing tournaments for the soldiers in all the camps and stated that they were authorized and encouraged by the officials.

Col. Mayes was himself an athlete in Canada and has given all his men the benefit of his teaching in that direction. The London Sporting Life sent a man to watch the work of the Canadian troops and to see what results were obtained from the athletic end of the training. "It is remarkable what hold Col. Mayes has on the men through his knowledge of sports and the excellent training he gives them aside from the regular military training. He makes it a pleasure for the men and the boxing tournaments have become wonderfully good and well attended. Of course there are those who oppose this, as they oppose everything which they are pleased to describe as brutal and degrading. There has not been so much of this talk of late, but it is illuminating that the ranks of conscientious objectors are recruited almost exclusively from the milk-and-water faddists who would make it a criminal offense for men to put on the gloves and give boxing displays in person."

"We have reason to be grateful to boxing for the fighting spirit it has developed in the British troops, this term including all those contributed by the dominions overseas. It must not be forgotten that the essence of training soldiers for this war is that every officer, every N. C. O. and every man must be taught to fight as men have never fought before. It is a question of going forward to kill or be killed, and doing so under stress of great mental excitement. The fighting on the various fronts has revealed again and again that physical fitness and the development of the fighting spirit are essential to success.

Boxing Develops Courage.

"Courage is developed in a man by his being trained to have the greatest confidence in his fighting weapon, and it would be just as absurd to send a man forward to fight an enemy with the bayonet unless he had complete confidence in his weapon as it would be to put an untrained man in the ring against a professional boxer trained to the hour. The professional boxer is without question the best boxer because of his careful training, added to his aptitude with the gloves, and it is certain that an untrained man of the flimsy class would face Jimmy Wilde with as little confidence as an untrained soldier would the enemy. The overwhelming importance of physical fitness and thorough training for every one of our forces is not realized by the average civilian, who appears to think that all that is necessary is to give a Britisher a rifle and ammunition and a bayonet, and his natural courage will do the rest. This is not the view of the army authorities, and we have in the official scheme for recreational training of the British expeditionary force in France upon sport as a means of developing those qualities.

"To tell a man how to box and give him instructions by the hour will never make him a good boxer. He must combine theory with practice, he must put on the gloves and measure his skill against that of others, and the more he does this, provided he is instructed on the right lines, the greater the degree of proficiency to which he will attain. From a fighting point of view, boxing is most invaluable as an aid to training."

LAD SHOWS PROMISE AT HEAVING THE PILL

When Joe McGinnity comes to Butte he might not be wasting time to give the "once over" to a local lad who spends his spare time tossing the pill. McGinnity could stand another twirler on his staff and Roy Neill, who is but 18 years old, is said to have all the smoke that a youngster usually possesses. Added to this his friends state that he has good control and is billed to be given a trial some time in the near future, if not this summer. Sam Fuld, who discovered Jimmy Sheppard, the former Cub and Brooklyn star, has been working out with Neill evenings, and Sam says the lad "is there." Sam knows a ball player when he sees one and for years in the late nineties played with Atlantic City and other teams in eastern leagues. He later was president of the Pennsylvania league club and it was then that he gave Sheppard his first trial. "Watch

Ames, Iowa, May 26.—With not more than seven entries in any event of the Missouri valley conference track and field meet here today, all preliminaries excepting in the 40-yard dash were called off by previous agreement of the coaches. Grinnell, Simpson and Iowa university were the only non-conference schools entered. The field also included Ames, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas and Drake. A feature of the classic was the last appearance of Robert Simpson, world's champion low hurdler, under University of Missouri colors.

SETTING-UP EXERCISES DEVELOP THIGH MUSCLES, SAYS JIM

Perhaps the muscles in front of the thigh are of more importance in walking than are those of the calf. Except in the heel-and-toe style of walking the thighs have far more to do than the calves.

This is the simplest known way to develop the frontal muscles of the thigh:

Stand with the feet six inches apart with the toes out. Have your chin in the air. Then by bending your knees drop vertically as fast as you can. In the army this is known as the "full-bend" setting up exercise.

At first you probably will not be able to do this more than half a dozen times. But with steady practice you can do it at first 50 and then 100 times.

All the time your leg will be getting bigger, so that at the end of three months you will have added three inches to the circumference of your thighs.

Lajoie and Mathews Those Failing to Me approval of Critics

Washington, May 26.—There is no big stir in the baseball world over the fact that Jim Lajoie and Fred Mathews are both 20 years old today. The Philadelphia Inquirer writes an opinion that Manager Bill Carrigan has picked up the old-timer Phil Geier, but they are about Lajoie and Mathews. The same deal. So capable a batsman as Lajoie of Boston looked up to Nash got him and turned his course by doing it. Lajoie is a major league player of a major league caliber. Lajoie is hitting pretty well, until the pitchers discover his hitting weakness of the right eye.

A FLOATING BAND.

Oakland, Cal., May 26.—A floating band is an innovation to be tried out here. Forty-five musicians, members of the municipal band, under the leadership of Paul Steindorff, will embark in a small boat which will make its leisurely way following the shores of Lake Merritt while they discourse music to the residents who live along its banks. It is approximately three miles around the lake, a placid sheet of water set in the heart of a populous district of the city.
