

SUMMER COURSES IN LOCAL SCHOOLS

Grade Opened Monday—High School Will Restart Tomorrow.

The summer course for grade school pupils started yesterday at the McKinley, Grant and Emerson schools with an attendance of 1,000 students. This number was largely increased today, and a further increase in the attendance is looked for tomorrow. The announcement that the high school summer course would start on Wednesday confused some students who intend to join the grade summer course, and consequently many of them had made arrangements for Wednesday morning. The work of the summer course was started at the three schools without any delay yesterday.

The fifth annual summer high school session will open tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, at which time pupils will be enrolled for the several courses offered. Pupils who are behind their grade on account of failure or sickness and those who wish to shorten their high school courses to three or three and a half years will take advantage of the summer session. Last year 263 pupils enrolled for summer work, and in anticipation of a heavy enrollment for the present term several new courses are offered. For those who completed the work of the eighth grade last week, English, algebra and ancient history classes will be provided, and classes in commercial arithmetic, English 2 and algebra 2 are scheduled for pupils who entered high school in January. For second, third and fourth year pupils the following courses will be offered: English 3, 4, 5, 6, 7; geometry 3, 4; algebra 5; history 3, 7; stenography and typewriting 5, 6, 7, 8; Spanish 4 and industries. If enough pupils elect the work, a class in chemistry will be provided. It is important that pupils register on Wednesday morning, and where class enrollment is small the work will be cancelled. Pupils entering late will find some of the work they would elect discontinued.

The daily session is from 8:30 until 1, but no pupil need attend for the full time. Each pupil may elect two subjects, with recitation in each twice a day, for which credit equivalent to one-half that of the regular session is given. Regular attendance at classes is required, but students may prepare work between classes either at home or in a pleasant study hall provided. A period is also provided during which teachers may be consulted and individual assistance given. The summer high school will close on Aug. 1, one month before the opening of the regular fall semester.

RESCUE WORK AT SPEC RETOLD AT INQUEST

Survivors and Helmet Men Tell of the Scenes Enacted Underground.

Miners entombed in Speculator workings as a result of gas and smoke from the Granite Mountain shaft fire recounted their experiences late yesterday afternoon as witnesses at Corner Lane's formal inquiry into the disaster. Helmet men, engaged in the rescue work, also told of exploration of the underground workings in search of the living immediately after the fire broke out, graphically describing the scenes in the various workings incident to rescue work. The hearing adjourned last night to 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Henry Fowler and Albert Cobb told of their rescue with the party which under leadership of the late Manus Dugan built a bulkhead on the 2,400-foot level by means of which they kept back the gas and smoke for more than 48 hours.

Tom Le Martin of the Leonard mine rescue team vividly described the rescuing of the men on the 2,400-foot level and also the finding of the 10 men who with Shift Boss Moore bulkheaded themselves in a drift on the 2,200-foot level.

Melvin McCoy, Luther Goodell and William Budelier, shift bosses, described many incidents of the rescue work.

John L. Boardman, safety first engineer of the Anaconda company, described in detail organization of the company's mine rescue squads. He told of the general call for rescue men, issued immediately after the fire broke out, and said that 22 reported within a very short time. Later he said there was an excess of rescue men. More than 100 were employed in the work. Mike O'Neill, assistant foreman at the Diamond mine, told of recovering the bodies of Foreman Con O'Neill of the Diamond and Ed Lorey, who were overcome while inspecting a bulkhead on the 1,800-foot level of the Diamond to make sure that it was holding back the gas.

A number of others employed at the Diamond recounted circumstances of the death of O'Neill and Lorey.

ALUMNI BALL OF CENTRAL HIGH A SOCIAL SUCCESS

Dances may come and dances may go, but the alumni ball in honor of the graduating class of 1917 of the Central high school given last night at the Columbia Gardens, in memory at least, will go on forever. From the moment the programs were distributed with their waving American flags in color on the cover, with the initials of the association in gold and white, the school colors, to the "Home, Sweet Home" dance, hundreds of young people, dressed in their finery, with bright, cheery faces, to whom the world looked very sweet, enjoyed every minute. The capable committee had neglected nothing that would add to the pleasure of the occasion. A large electric sign, "C. H. S. '17," greeted visitors and explained the object of the party, a well-
