

SISTERS WIDOWS ON THE SAME DAY

Fred Gallagher, Popular Young Butte Man, Passes Away Suddenly.

Two sisters became widows yesterday in the one day, when James Mackie of Whitehall and Fred Gallagher of Butte passed away. Mr. Gallagher had just completed the arrangements for the funeral in Butte of Mr. Mackie when he was taken away suddenly while taking a bath at his home on West Park street.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Gallagher, who was Miss "Teas" Powers of this city, received a telegram announcing the death of her sister's husband, James Mackie, an employe of the Whitehall hotel. At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Mr. Gallagher, having completed all the arrangements for the funeral of his brother-in-law, went home to take a bath.

After he had been in the bath room for 10 or 15 minutes his wife jocosely called to him: "Are you going to stay there all day?" "I'll be through in a few minutes, Teas," he replied. They were the last words he said. Fifteen minutes later, Mrs. Gallagher, with her baby in her arms, called again. There was no answer. Mrs. Gallagher knocked louder on the door and on receiving no reply continued knocking. Falling yet to get a reply she became excited and called relatives who were in the house at the time. The door of the bathroom was forced and Mr. Gallagher was discovered, as his friends thought, unconscious in the bathroom.

While a call was sent in at once for doctors, passers-by were implored to help. M. J. Sheehan, passing on West Park street at the time and a friend of the family, rushed into the home and did what he could to help restore life. When the doctor arrived the sad news was conveyed to the relatives.

Born in Canada.

Mr. Gallagher was 36 years of age and had been born in St. Andrews, New Brunswick, Canada. He had, however, lived the greater part of his life in Butte. On reaching manhood he was associated with Hugh Daly in Mr. Daly's business interests. He worked for Mr. Daly on North Main street and later was assistant manager at the Gresson Springs hotel. When Mr. Daly purchased the Broadwater hotel at Helena, Mr. Gallagher went with his old friend. After the Broadwater closed Mr. Gallagher returned to Butte and was promptly given occupation by Patrick J. Boyle on North Main street at the old stand of Daly and Boyle.

Mr. Gallagher's death causes much sorrow to a large circle of friends for he was well liked, highly respected and admired by all who knew him. Cheerful at all times, in spite of a malady of the ear, which probably had something to do with his sudden end, "Freddie," as he was known to his acquaintances, went through life with a smile on his face and a joke on his

Just A Touch Of Ice-Mint. PRESTO!

Ah! How Cool, Easy and Comfortable Your Feet Will Feel!

Corn sufferers gather round: get right up close and listen, here's good news for you. The real, genuine "Corn Killer" is here at last. No humbug, Ice-Mint, the new discovery made from a Japanese product, is said to surely and quickly end all foot misery. Think of it: only a touch or two of that cooling, soothing Ice-Mint and real foot joy is yours. No pain, not a bit of soreness, either when applying it or afterwards and it doesn't even irritate the surrounding skin.

Ice-Mint just makes a pair of tired, swollen, itching, burning feet glow with cooling comfort.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, also toughened callouses just shrivel right up and lift off so easy. It's wonderful.

Every foot sufferer can appreciate a treatment like this, especially women who wear high heel shoes and men who are obliged to stand on their feet all day.

Try it. Just ask in any drug store for a small jar of Ice-Mint and learn for yourself what solid foot comfort really is. There is nothing like it.

lips. He was married more than a year ago to Miss "Teas" Powers of Centerville and two months ago a bouncing baby boy was born.

This afternoon the funeral of his brother-in-law, James Mackie, was held from the home of an uncle, James Perrie, 1111 Utah avenue, with services conducted by Rev. J. H. Mitchell. Interment was in Mount Moriah cemetery.

The remains of Mr. Gallagher were taken today from the Wash undertaking parlors to the home of Joe Nevill, 169 East Center street, from which place the funeral will be held. Besides his wife and baby, Mr. Gallagher is survived by his mother, three sisters, May and Bessie Gallagher, and Mrs. Mabel Neal, and two brothers, Harold and Walter Gallagher. The funeral will be held Friday morning at 9 o'clock with requiem high mass at 9:30 o'clock at St. Patrick's church.

IMMIGRATION OFFICER AT ANGEL ISLAND SUSPENDED

San Francisco, June 27.—Suspension of William H. Gassaway, Chinese inspector of the Angel Island immigration station here, on charge of malfeasance in office and juggling of records, was confirmed today by Commissioner of Immigration Edward White. The suspension of Gassaway and 10 others recently, including inspectors and members of the office force, was ordered by Solicitor John D. Binamore for the department of labor after an investigation of an alleged "graft ring" at the immigration station, which it was asserted, had netted many thousands of dollars by the illegal admission of Chinese to the United States.

Gassaway declared that the charges against him were unfounded.

FRANKLY ADMITTED.

"Do you enjoy grand opera?" "I might," replied Mr. Cumfox, "if in talking about it I weren't obliged to use words that I can't pronounce and don't understand."

SAFEGUARD PURITY IN YOUTH OF U. S. A.

Miss Charlotte White Gives Interesting Address at High School Auditorium.

The duties of parents and how they may safeguard the purity of their children was the subject of a most interesting and educational lecture delivered by Miss Charlotte E. White, national lecturer of the Child Conservation League of America, at the Butte high school auditorium last evening. Mrs. T. A. Grigg introduced the speaker and in a few well-chosen words emphasized the object of the meeting and the aims of the works presented. Two delightfully-rendered piano solos were given by Miss Selma Leopold of Rensselaer, Ind. The audience was not large but thoroughly appreciative of the very interesting hour's talk by Miss White.

The first part of the talk dealt especially with different methods of child training, past and present, and emphasized the great need of definite, carefully planned moral teaching in the home, on personal, social and civic lines. Taking up one of the parents' most serious problems of today, that of purity, the speaker said in part:

"The greatest weapons of evil are secrecy and deceit, the most powerful armaments of good, truth and open dealing. The first impure suggestion is whispered secretly in the ear of innocent childhood. The problem the parent must solve early is how to so unite innocence with knowledge that the child may pass through early temptation unscathed. Such subjects cannot be banished from the child world, and there is peculiar danger in sex information from impure sources.

"Our adolescent youth, too, must be carefully warned, and in time. Must be made to realize that perfect purity and perfect virility go hand in hand. Healthy sport is nature's greatest safeguard. Athletic games are the safety valves of youth. Fresh air and proper food are prime factors for purity. Study the story told in the first chapter of Daniel.

"There are subtle dangers for our youth of today. What about the popular songs, many vaudeville features, many moving picture films? What use to talk of the evil of cigarette smoking when your boys see all their popular heroes smoking them? Children learn more through their eyes than their ears.

"Look to all these things, parents, if you would find the causes for the wreckage of young life, and for low ideals among our youth of today."

OUTWITTING THE U-BOATS AMERICAN INVENTOR'S "PORTABLE SUBMARINE FORT" TO RAISE SHIPS SENT TO BOTTOM BY SEA TERRORS

How submarine fort works. Two forts are here shown salvaging a sunken liner. The pontoons at the bottom are hinged to the chamber, which are vertical and filled with water. As the vessel is lifted the water is pumped out and the chambers and pontoons come together.

New York.—The wealth of shipping sent to the bottom of the ocean by German U-boats may yet be saved.

An invention is being tried out on a river near here with the purpose of perfecting it and making it suitable for deep sea salvage work. It is called a portable submarine fort and is the idea of Carl J. Linguist.

What makes engineers and shipping men here believe the millions of tons of shipping may yet be reclaimed is the simplicity of design and apparent practicability of this submarine fort. Linguist has tested it under all conditions he has thought possible, and says it has worked to his satisfaction.

The fort is a massive double steel chamber built in sections, so it may be adjusted to different depths. At the base of the chamber is the end of a pontoon or flat bottom, which is hinged, so that the chamber may rest lengthwise on the pontoon when not working. In this way the fort is towed to the sunken liner.

Just before the spot is reached, the base of the chamber is filled with water and allowed to settle until the chamber is upright and the pontoon is sinking horizontally. The chamber is filled until the pontoon has reached the depth of the wreckage.

Cables hold the chamber and pontoon taut. Others are let out and, by the directions of a diver at the bottom of the fort, passed around the sunken liner.

Many of the ships sunk by German submarines in the Atlantic are small enough to be salvaged by one of these submarine forts, but two forts may be used together when the work of salvaging is too heavy for one. In this case the forts work end to end, so the hoisting cables of each may intertwine about the wreckage and the salvaging be divided equally between the two.

There is no danger of the forts tipping over, because of the broad pontoon base and the powerful vacuum cup bottom of the chamber. These give the lifting chamber a firm grip for hoisting.

Sand-suckers free the wreckage from the sand bottom of the ocean, and allow for the passage of cables about the liner's hull. The cables are fastened to the upper ends of the pontoons.

As the water which has sunk the pontoons is pumped out, the pontoons rise and bring up the wreckage with them. At the same time the vertical chamber returns to the horizontal. This affords a leverage to aid the raising of the pontoons.

As the pontoons go up, the vessel drains herself, the water escaping the way it entered. Once above water, the damaged vessel is patched up temporarily and towed to port.

The principle of this submarine fort is based on the gasoline engine—as the water leaves the chamber the pontoon is sucked up to fill the vacuum left. In the same way water pushes the pontoon down.

To Make Hair Wavy and Curly in One Night

Someone has made the discovery that simply applying liquid silmerine with a clean tooth brush will actually make straight hair beautifully curly over night! The liquid, which is of course perfectly harmless, has the peculiar property of drying in pretty waves, creases and ringlets. It also serves as a splendid dressing, keeping the hair delightfully soft and glossy.

A few ounces of liquid silmerine, obtainable at any drug store, will keep the hair curly for weeks. It is neither sticky nor greasy, but quite pleasant to use. It produces a curliness which is the nearest thing to "Nature's own."

Main street returned home yesterday from Whitehall, where she has been visiting friends for the past few weeks.

Joe Finnegan, Tom Whalen, Jr., William Sullivan, Frank McMenamy and Michael Kelly, all of the Walkerville Mercantile company, have gone to Armistead on a week's fishing trip.

Mrs. Milton McLeod and baby son of 120 East Daly street have returned from Palisade, Nev., where they visited relatives for the past three weeks.

STRICT ENFORCEMENT OF RULES AGAINST WASTE

RAPID PROMOTIONS IN THE BRITISH ARMY

London.—The present war has seen some rapid promotions among officers, but probably the most rapid that of B. C. Freyburg, who at the age of 28, has been gazetted temporary brigadier general. Born in New Zealand, Freyburg was twice awarded the Gallipoli, where he won the distinguished Order for swimming across the Gulf of Saros and was mentioned in dispatches dealing with the evacuation of that place. He was awarded the Victoria Cross when leading the New Zealand brigade at Beaucourt last November and was wounded four times during the battle and was injured during the operations at Antwerp.

A daughter was born June 22 to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hereth, 423 N. and Quarts street.
