DUTY OF CITIZENS THEME IN PULPITS

Pastors Preach on Food Conservation and the Need for Higher Education.

In every church in the city, Protestant and Catholic, the duties of the practical citizen to his state were emphasized yesterday. The need of higher education, especially in the present time of stress; the necessity of food conservation and food economy and the moral obligation of every one to assist this country in the successful prosecution of the present war were the principal points of all the speakers. Instead of dogmatic philosophies, Sunday congregations heard practical patriotism explained from the pulpits.

In the Catholic churches special reference was made to supporting the home institutions like Mount St. Charles. One of the principal talks of the day was made by Rev. John J. Tracy, vice president of the college who occupied the pulpit at St. Patrick's. Using the position of Germany today as a potent example of the necessity for supporting home industries and the danger of encouraging outside industries to the detriment of the local ones, Father Tracy said in part:

"Learn a lesson from the conduct of the civilized world toward Germany. For 30 or 40 years before the present war the greatest countries of the globe were accepting German manufactures as the standard of excellence. 'Made in Germany' was the slogan that opened the purse strings of the ready purchaser in this country and elsewhere. American and English students and representatives of other nationalities went to Germany to complete their education. All the nations of the earth gave Germany power and influence by patronizing her manufactures and colleges, and now Germany withstands practically all the nations of the globe. Do not make that mistake here in Montana. Don't make other states and distant parts powerful by unnecessarily patronizing their wares and their colleges. Rather build up your own state by the purchase of home-made articles and by having your sons educated in your own diocesan college where they will become acquainted with Montana conditions and Montana character and thus be more in sympathy with our own people among whom they will later labor for the prosperity of the grand commonwealth and for the extension of the church. In this way through your wise display of patriotism and sincere practice of religion will God be best glorified."

Paying the Price.

How every citizen of the nation, not alone soldiers and sailors, is actually engaged in the present war and the manner in which each and every one may help the government was explained by Rev. G. D. Wolfe of the Mountain View church when he said: "Oh, the cost of it. Let us not try to hide it from ourselves. There can be no turning back. We have put our hands to the plow, we must go on. Yes, the money cost will be enormous, the price we shall pay in the lives of our best, in tears and agony and blood is too fearful to contemplate. But we are following in the footsteps of the eternal God who gave his only begotten Son to die for his enemies. For freedom did Christ set us free."

"And this is a nation at war. All of us. Not only the soldiers and sailors, but each and every one of us. To do our bit, is the supreme duty of all. How shall we, the members of this congregation, do ours? We will give, have given our young men. We will buy, have bought the bonds of the nation.

"We will contribute, have given to Red Cross and Y. M. C. A. funds. Oh, it was a glorious thing that when our soldiers landed in France this last week they found a Y. M. C. A. camp with its welcome, its atmosphere of purity and home waiting for them. We will save our food, cut down on all unnecessary waste; again, following that first preacher of conservation, Jesus Christ, we will gather up the fragments that nothing may be lost." Sermons of similar import were given in every church in the city, following the receipt of an appeal from Food Controller Hoover for the active co-operation of the churches of the nation in preaching the patriotic duty of every citizen to conserve the food and strength of the nation in the great war crisis.

NURSE HAD POOR HEALTH

Suffered Much Pain, Yet Had to Work. Finally Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Toledo, Ohio.—"I am a widow and go out nursing, and suffered from a female trouble that caused a great deal of soreness across my back, and through my abdomen. Sometimes it would be very painful after a hard day's work. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and tried it and it has helped me wonderfully, so the soreness is all gone now. I believe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is just the remedy for female troubles." — Mrs. ELIZABETH JOHN, R. F. D. No. 4, Toledo, Ohio.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and today is regarded as the most successful remedy for female ills. There are thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., to prove this fact.

BOY ACCIDENTALLY KILLED WITH RIFLE

The Weapon Exploded When His Companion Laid it on a Log.

Elmer Lemoyne Mott, 14-year old son of Mrs. J. Mott, 1014 Delaware avenue, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon near the Basin Creek reservoir when a .22 caliber rifle used by the boy, his brother, Healy, and David Yorath exploded as the latter laid it on a log for a moment while he ran to adjust a tin can being used as a target. The bullet entered the boy's body just under the arm and penetrated the heart. Coroner Lane was notified and will hold an inquest some time this week.

It was while the three boys were shooting at a target that young Yorath laid the rifle on a log on which they were all sitting with a view of changing the target. As the butt of the gun struck the log the weapon was discharged. Young Mott keeled over dead and his companions ran to a nearby ranch for help. A physician was called, but he found death had been almost instantaneous.

The Yorath boy is the son of Mrs. William Yorath, widow of the late Police Captain Yorath, and he lives at 419 East First street.

NO DISORDER IN DEMONSTRATION

A Critical Day in Petrograd Passes Without Clash of Factions.

Petrograd, July 2.—The great demonstration by workmen's and soldiers' delegates and the revolutionary democracy, which has been discussed for some days past with considerable anxiety owing to the declared intention of anarchists to make a counter revolutionary outbreak and to carry arms, passed off without disorder. Unarmed processions of many thousands marched through Petrograd to the Marsovskoe Pole, the military parade ground, where victims of the revolution are buried, headed by bands and carrying banners.

None of the latter bore material or patriotic inscriptions, only declarations of hostility against the wealthy and bourgeois class. "Down with the duma and the council of empire; down with the capitalist ministers," "the people's fight for peace," were among conspicuous mottoes. A body of infantry carried a banner reading: "Down with the imperialistic war. We want an armistice on all fronts to discuss peace." A few banner inscriptions denounced a separate peace and secret treaties of Russia with Great Britain and France.
