

NOTICE TO SICK WOMEN

Positive Proof That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Relieves Suffering.

Bridgeport, N. J.—"I cannot speak too highly of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for inflammation and other weaknesses. I was very irritable and would have terrible pains so that I could hardly take a step. Sometimes I would be so miserable that I could not sweep a room. I doctored part of the time but felt no change. I later took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt a change for the better. I took it until I was in good healthy condition. I recommend the Pinkham remedies to all women as I have used them with such good results."—Mrs. MILDRED T. COMBES, 821 Harmony St., Penn's Grove, N. J.

Such testimony should be accepted by all women as convincing evidence of the excellence of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a remedy for the distressing ills of women such as backache, inflammation, liver action, headache, painful periods, nervousness and kindred ailments.

WATER TRENCH DIGGER IS BURIED BY CAVEIN

Frank Patterson is Suffocated While at Work on East Broadway.

Frank Patterson, 35, a laborer employed by the Butte Water company, was suffocated early yesterday afternoon when a water trench in which he was engaged in digging on East Broadway, just off Arizona street, caved in and he was buried alive. Patterson was in a shoving position when the trench caved and he was unable to get out. Fellow workmen worked frantically to extricate the unfortunate man, and recovered his body within five minutes, but efforts to resuscitate him failed.

Patterson was a widower and lived at 417 Hopkins street. Coroner Lane will hold an inquest.

BIG ENLISTMENT OF MINNESOTA'S MEN

Minneapolis, Minn.—Between April 1 and June 28, Minnesota sent more than one half of one percent of her total population into the nation's armed service, according to figures compiled here. The percentage is based on the latest semi-official census estimate of every soul in the state.

A total of 12,141 Minnesota men have entered the army, navy and national guard, and various reserve corps in the 18-day period. The figure is greater than the unofficial estimates of the number Minnesota will have to offer in response to the first draft call.

CUT SHOES LOWER BUT RAISE PRICES

Minneapolis, Minn.—Women's shoes will be about eight inches high this fall, instead of from 16 to 18 inches, and prices will be increased 15 to 25 per cent, according to leading shoe dealers here. Lack of proper shoe will make it impossible to guarantee tan shoes, it is declared. Dealers say the government has placed orders for 4,000,000 pairs of shoes in addition to big orders for military, making the demand increase enormous.

TO MEMORY OF JOSEPH CORBY

Resolutions of Highest Esteem Prepared for Lincoln Republican Club.

Few men who have died in this city received higher honors than former Mayor Joseph Corby on the occasion of his funeral in the long procession were the members of the police force, the mayor and members of the city council, members of the Spanish-American War Veterans and a full company of soldiers from the national guard in camp near the School of Mines. It was a worthy tribute to an esteemed and honored citizen.

The committee appointed at the last meeting of the Lincoln Republican club to draft resolutions on the death of Mr. Corby has prepared the following:

Whereas, The Hon. Joseph Corby, a member of the Lincoln Republican club No. 1, of Silver Bow county, departed this life June 24, 1917, at the age of 85 years.

"In the course of life, with the promise of years of usefulness yet before him, the Creator, in his inscrutable wisdom, saw fit to remove him from worldly activities to the realm beyond the skies.

"While we humbly bow to the dictate of the divine Providence, it is fitting that we, the officers and members of this club, here pay tribute to the memory of a man endeared to us by years of faithful devotion to the advancement of our political policies and principles. This contact with his personality, our intimate knowledge of his character and ability, created many warm friendships with his associates and marked him as a leader among us.

"Of broad mind, his fairness, sincerity, earnestness and intellectual ability won from our political adversaries their respect and confidence rather than enmity and hostility.

"Raised from early boyhood in Butte, a center among the masses, every act of his life typified the unselfish, broad, high-minded character he possessed and lifted him among his fellowmen.

"Patriotic to the highest degree, when our country called in 1848 he went to the colors and served with credit and distinction during the Spanish-American war rising from the rank of private to a first lieutenant during the short period of that war.

"As a member of the Tenth legislative assembly of the state of Montana in 1907, he left his impress upon the constructive legislation of this state and in the legislative halls he warmly advocated every progressive measure upholding the welfare of the people.

"Elected and serving as mayor of the city of Butte, May, 1907, to May, 1909, he labored faithfully and well to advance the interests of our city, and this at a sacrifice of his personal interests.

"During the later years of his life he served as state inspector of weights and measures and later as a valued member of the office force of the sheriff of this county. Therefore, he is

"Resolved, That we here commend the memory of the late Joseph Corby as a man staunch and true; a faithful friend, possessed strongly with sympathy for those less fortunate and constantly having in mind their temporal advancement and happiness of exemplary habits, his life was filled with devotion to his family and those dear to him; and always inspired by the highest ideals of good citizenship we commend his life and character as worthy of emulation to all. Be it further

"Resolved, That copies of this resolution be furnished the public press, that it be recorded in the minutes of this club and that a copy be given to his widow, Mrs. Sena Corby, as a testimonial of esteem, with our deepest sympathy in this her great hour of bereavement.

"Passed July 1, 1917.

NATHAN R. LEONARD CALLED BY MAKER

Well-Known Educator Dies in Butte at the Age of 85 Years.

THE LATE N. R. LEONARD.

Montana lost one of its best known educators and a citizen of highest ideals when death claimed Nathan R. Leonard, first president of the Montana School of Mines, and for more than a half century a prominent figure in the world of letters and science.

The end came yesterday morning at the Leonard hotel and it culminated a long illness, incident to the weight of years.

It was at the age of 85 that Professor Leonard died.

Long after he had passed the allotted three score and ten of man, Professor Leonard was actively engaged in the work of education and in literature. It was in 1860, when a president was needed for the Montana School of Mines and the whole north-west was being combated for the best man, that Professor Leonard accepted the executive responsibilities of the institution, remaining at its head for six years. He threw his splendid personality into the work of building up the school and it was largely through his impetus which he gave it that the school has taken its place in front rank of American mining colleges.

Ohioan by Birth.

Professor Leonard was born in Columbus, O., Nov. 25, 1832. His father, a major in the Union army in the civil war, was a Pennsylvania farmer who moved to Ohio early in the nineteenth century. The family moved to Iowa when Mr. Leonard was still a boy and, after attending the common schools, he entered Yellow Springs college at a year at Harvard, where he specialized in mathematics.

He selected education as his life work and entered the Yellow Springs faculty as professor of mathematics, remaining for seven years, when he was called to the Iowa State university. There he remained for 21 years. He soon began publication of those articles on mathematics and astronomy which brought him the attention of scientific men throughout the United States. He was either dean or president of this school from 1884 to 1888, when he returned to become editor and publisher of the Fort Wayne (Ind.) Gazette.

Came to Butte in 1898.

After 16 years of successful editing, Professor Leonard disposed of his interests in the Gazette in 1897 and went to California for a rest. But his active spirit would not long tolerate idleness further articles on scientific subjects. His contributions to the science of astronomy had already raised him to front rank of American science, and in 1900 Montana was so fortunate as to secure his services as head of its new School of Mines. After his retirement he continued writing scientific articles and until the fall of 1912 he served as a member of the state board of education, in point of service being its oldest member.

Professor Leonard married Miss Elizabeth Heiser, an Ohioan. Mrs. Leonard died nearly three years ago. Four children survive him. They are: Charles R. Leonard, the Butte attorney; Levi O. Leonard, a railroad man of Miles City; P. M. Leonard, a well-known mining man of San Diego, Cal.; and Miss Minnie E. Leonard, a former teacher in the Butte high school.

Professor Leonard was a republican in politics. He was a deacon of the First Presbyterian church of Butte.

The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Services will be conducted at the home of C. R. Leonard, 843 West Broadway, and interment will be made in Mount Moriah cemetery, where Mrs. Leonard was buried nearly three years ago. Rev. E. J. Groenewald will officiate at the services.

FREE AND EASY AS TO TRAFFIC

The Automobilists Do About as They Please in the National Capital.

Washington, D. C., July 8.—The national capital, pointed to with pride by Americans as the model city of the world, is conceded to be weak in one particular. Automobilists who come here from various parts of the country, who have experienced automobile travel under all conditions, say it is one of the hardest, if not the hardest, cities in the United States in which to operate a car.

Traffic regulations exist here, as elsewhere, but there are too many who interpret these rules to suit their own convenience. These rules are supposed to be observed, but unfortunately their violations are about as numerous as are the occasions on which they are complied with. There are a great many automobile drivers in the city who, frankly speaking, should not be permitted to sit behind the wheel of a machine. Their ego is so large, because they have graduated from the class of pedestrians to that of automobilists, that it has affected their ability to consider any one but themselves.

In the street they occupy about all the space they can possibly make their car take up.

Streets with car tracks on them are their favorite highways of travel. Washington has a rule that all traffic must stop at least 15 feet behind a street car when it is either taking on or discharging passengers. Saucy and careless automobilists frequently break this rule. They either try to run by the car while it is coming to a stop or they stop so close to it that those who are alighting or boarding it have but scant room to get by.

Washington likewise is infested with another pest, the driver of the delivery car. He sits there upon his seat, monarch of all he surveys. Curbers are taken on two wheels, traffic is blocked by his "hog-trotting" in and out. He knows nothing of traffic rules and cares less. All he appears to think of when behind the wheel of his car is the bicycle or motorcycle policeman, both of whom he imagines are his mortal enemies and for whom he must be constantly on the look-out.

Automobilists coming to the national capital from other cities complain that there is a more general disregard of the rules of the traffic laws than anywhere they have been and they express the opinion that in nine times out of ten the trouble is due to inexperienced drivers. The driver of experience knows that if he is in a hurry he can make better time in getting to his destination by taking back streets, obeying the traffic regulations in all respects and giving the pedestrians an even break. So notorious are the violations of traffic rules here that a movement is starting among the real friends of decent traffic to take the numbers and report the worst offenders, believing that refusal of permission in one or two instances to drive a machine for a period of anywhere from six months to a year would have a widespread and salutary effect.

ROOSEVELT ENDORSES BRITISH RECRUITING IN UNITED STATES

Minneapolis, Minn.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt, in an open letter to the British recruiting mission in the United States, a copy of which has been received at the local British recruiting office, endorses the recruiting agreement entered into by the United States and Great Britain and declares that there are now 160,000 men of English birth and of military age in this country.

"Many of these men wanted to go to war of their own accord, but most of them had no means of paying their way to England," says the letter. "Now they can go to the nearest recruiting office and if fit, be sent to England at the expense of the British government. Those accepted are immediately put on the payroll and if married an allowance given to their wives."

"It is to the interest of the British government, as well as that of the United States, to assist England in enlisting these men."

MONTANA LAWYERS TO MEET HERE IN AUGUST

Word has been received by Carl J. Christian, president of the Silver Bow County Bar association, that the Montana Bar association will hold its annual meeting in Butte on Aug. 17 and 18. This announcement is made by Lew L. Callaway of Great Falls, president of the Montana Bar association.

The program for the meeting will be arranged under the supervision of the state association, and if congress adjourns before the dates given Senator Borah will address the meetings. The arrangements for entertainment of the visitors will be under the auspices of the Silver Bow County Bar association.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS PATIENTS ARE MANY

St. Paul, Minn.—An average of 20 children are examined daily at the University of Minnesota, in Minneapolis, in an effort to find a treatment which will cure infantile paralysis or alleviate the deformities.

A live clinic will be established in this city early this month and it is expected that the children who suffered with the disease last year, and have been left in a crippled condition, will be subjected to treatment which will remedy the defects left by the disease.

Dr. W. P. Greene of the division of health, is at the head of the medical part of the clinic work, and Dr. A. J. Gillette, professor of orthopedic surgery of the University of Minnesota, is acting in advisory capacity.

LACK OF NEGRO LABOR BLOW TO RIVER BOAT

New Orleans, La.—Because of scarcity of negro labor for steamboats, boat owners and agents are considering employment of deckhands and roustabouts.

River men say they have never known a time when labor was so scarce on the levee as at present. Several boats were unable to leave on one trip a week when they scheduled call for two on account of days in getting labor.
