PERCY STONE HAS MUCH PRAISE FOR WORK OF Y. M. C. A.

Percy N. Stone, formerly of the editorial staff of the Butte Miner and now in the aviation camp at Camp Kelly, San Antonio, Tex., has written J. R. Wharton of this city highly commending the work being done by the Y. M. C. A. in the soldiers' camps throughout the country. He tells of the concerts that are given and of the opportunities afforded the men for enjoying the few hours of leisure afforded them. Reading rooms where letters may be written home are provided, and there is a room where the soldiers can hammer the piano or listen to the latest selections on the phonograph. "It is a wonderful institution," concludes Mr. Stone, "and should have the support of every man who stays at home for any reason. To me it seems to rank with Liberty bonds and the Red Cross."

CLOCK RESTORED.

The clock which formerly reposed on the side of the street car company little building at the corner of Park and Main street, removed by order of the city council, has been replaced temporarily. Later it will be permanently located on the building at the corner of Park and Arizona streets.

ACHES AND PAINS

Don't neglect a pain anywhere, but find out what causes it and conquer the cause. A pain in the kidney region may put you on your back to-morrow. Don't blame the weather for swollen feet; it may be an advanced warning of Bright's disease. A pain in the stomach may be the first symptom of appendicitis. A creak in a joint may be the forerunner of rheumatism. Chronic headaches more than likely warn you of serious stomach trouble. The best way is to keep in good condition day in and day out by regularly taking GOLD MEDAL HAARLEM OIL CAPSULES. Sold by reliable druggists. Money refunded if they do not help you. Beware of substitutes. The only pure imported Haarlem Oil Capsules are the GOLD MEDAL.

CRUELITIES INFLICTED UPON THE BELGIANS

Belgian Government Gives Details of Atrocities Practiced on People.

Havre, July 12.—The Belgian government has received from various sources evidence proving that deported Belgian civilians are subjected systematically to mistreatment to bring them to forced labor for the German army. This evidence shows cruel punishment, hard conditions, brutal work and no consideration given them for conditions of sickness and disability. At noon a half litre of soup, generally made of beets but sometimes of potatoes, in the evening a fifth of a litre of porridge made of corn meal or barley, was the ration these men were supposed to get each day, and some days this allowance was cut down. Breakfast consisted of a beverage resembling acorns which was to represent coffee.

The interned are never given meat, fish or cheese. In certain camps the evening meal was suppressed altogether to those who refused to work for the Germans.

For days together the foods are reduced systematically until they reach the proportions of a half ration only for two days substance. Another cruel practice was to force them to undergo an experience similar to a severe application of the Turkish bath. Several witnesses have confirmed this fact among them the son of a manufacturer of the region of Antwerp who, with several of his comrades, was shut up in a small room heated to a very high temperature. There was only one erect in the place for them to stand erect and then so crowded they were scarcely able to turn. They were left there 24 hours. Then they were led to a factory in the neighborhood where they were asked if they would work. Upon their refusal, they were taken to a field under military escort and relieved of overcoats, shoes and hats or caps and exposed in a snow storm an entire day and night with nothing to eat or drink and under the absolute prohibition against making the slightest movement. Some of them lost consciousness after a few hours.

A number of witnesses called attention to the fact that frequently groups of deported men have been through a similar experience, forced upon them in order to overcome their resistance and impress their comrades.

There is also another means of constraint used upon the deported in the punishment where the method is still more severe than in the other internment camps and where the deported are forced to work in the marshes, often in most excessive cold weather, dressed in nothing but trousers, shirt and wooden shoes, without food during an entire day.

Some of the deported are sent to agricultural centers where most victims are forced to work in the field 15 hours. From all the evidence, it appears certain that the mortality of men subject to these different forms of treatment is very high; two to three are found dead every day.

Detectives who had been working on the case believe McCarthy is married. He is a painter, 26 years old. He met the girl three weeks ago while he was working for her father.

SWITZERLAND TWIXT DEVIL AND DEEP SEA

Makes Plea Against Food Embargo by the United States.

Little Switzerland, one of the few European neutrals, is suffering quite as much from the war by reason of the fact that she is entirely surrounded by belligerents, each jealous of the other's advantage, as if she were an actual participant in the conflict, according to representations of representatives of the Swiss government in a protest against the proposed food embargo, directed to Senator Stone of the senate's foreign relations committee.

The allies have restricted food shipments to Switzerland and Holland, alleging that foodstuffs are being exported by these neutrals to Germany. Holland has been pictured as facing starvation from such restrictions and now Switzerland, in the protest to Senator Stone signed by Dr. Jur. J. A. Schwyzmann, is pictured as 'twixt devil and sea.'

The protest points out that Switzerland is an entirely industrial country; that products of its territory nourish its population for but 58 days of the year; that imports of grain before the war were drawn up to 80 per cent from Russia, Roumania and Hungary, and the rest, 20 per cent, from the United States. It says raw meats were imported almost entirely from Austria-Hungary, Italy and France and that 99 per cent of its coal came from Germany and practically all of its iron from the same source. With breaking out of the war imports from belligerents were stopped and Switzerland of necessity turned to the United States. Thus imports of grain, for example, increased five and six fold.

The protest calls attention to treaties between Germany and Switzerland, dealing with trade, approved by all of the countries now belligerents, permitting exportation of native products of its own soil. These imports are carefully supervised by a Swiss society designated for that purpose, and called into existence by France and England.

Claim of the right to trade equally with all belligerent powers surrounding Switzerland, "the very reason why the United States entered the war," is set up in the protest.

The proposed embargo, the protest says, "would deny the rights of existence to a nation whose ideals resemble most those of the United States." "It would seal the fate of the oldest of all the republics, the very country which has exclusive right to claim the parentage of democracy," it continues.

A plea is made for careful consideration of Switzerland's position before decision is made on the proposed embargo.

CLOCK 127 YEARS OLD IS STILL GOOD TIMEKEEPER

Sharon, S. C.—J. D. Gwin of this town has "grandfather" clock that he believes holds the record for age and continuous timekeeping service of a perfectly satisfactory character. He is able to trace its age back 127 years and is of the opinion that it is much older. The works were brought over from England, and the frame of black walnut, inlaid with maple, was made in this country. The clock has never ceased to keep accurate time, not a penny has been spent on it for repairs of any sort, and its present condition is excellent.

Freeport, Ill.—A man calling himself Charles Osenkoecor, 36 years old, and who claims to be a priest, holding an Illinois parish, was arrested here dressed in woman's clothes in the lobby of the Senate hotel. He was placed in the county jail, where upon search he was found to have in his possession a watch bought by friends in Galena in 1910 and a picture of himself taken in Chicago in which he was dressed as a chorus girl.
