

NERVOUSNESS AND BLUES

Symptoms of More Serious Sickness.

Washington Park, Ill.—"I am the mother of four children and have suffered with female trouble, backache, nervous spells and the blues. My children's loud talking and romping would make me so nervous I could just tear everything to pieces and I would ache all over and feel so sick that I would not want anyone to talk to me at times. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills restored me to health and I want to thank you for the good they have done me. I have had quite a bit of trouble and worry but it does not affect my youthful looks. My friends say 'Why do you look so young and well?' I owe it all to the Lydia E. Pinkham remedies."

BUTTE BOY WRITES OF LIFE BEHIND TRENCHES "SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE"

A. H. Burrell Describes Effects of Bomb Attack by Boches and the Suffering Victims. Repairs Flat Tire Under Shell Fire and Sees Russians Who Escaped From the Teuton Trenches and Reached the Allies to Tell of Enemy Conditions.

The first story from a Butte boy in France with the fighting forces has reached the city in the form of a letter from A. H. "Rags" Burrell to his brother, John Burrell, of the A. C. M. company. A. H. Burrell is with the American ambulance corps in France, and writes a vivid story of experiences under fire. Mr. Burrell left France on May 19 and the first part of his letter is dated June 25.

"I am on duty at a poste and under slight artillery bombardment," he writes under the headline of "at the front." "We are just in front of the French guns. The noise of the arrives and departs is awful. They sing through the air with that shrill 'ting!' It surely sounds like hell turned loose. The night driving with no lights is full of thrills, for the road is always crowded with heavy trucks and carts drawn by horses numbering from one to 10, a man to every pair. The horses are very well kept and in fine condition.

"About 11 o'clock this morning a Boche airship was flying just above the village where we are encamped. He must have been directing the enemy's guns, for the shells began to burst in a meadow close to our camp, and about that time the anti-aircraft guns were begun, but it was a proposition of a very delicate nature there for a while.

"Two Russians escaped from the Boche and came in here yesterday. There was no one here who could understand them but they knew a little French and a little Boche, so we gathered that our artillery fire was very effective and that the food conditions in and back of the Boche trenches was not good. It pleased all of us greatly to know that our fire was working to advantage. The Boche surely are many.

"A bunch of dead Boches were brought into our outer poste this morning, but I didn't happen to be there on service and it is too wild a haven for sightseeing. Every time we drive over the road it has new shell holes to make the blesses' (wounded) ride rougher and the ambulance conductor's task heavier. I had the pleasure of fixing a flat tire under shell fire today, and it didn't take very long. Those 75's of the Boche command a respect all their own. I'm very thankful, however, that I'm not dodging the eel from the shells slipped over by these French batteries. "The star shells of the Boche are beginning to make their appearance on the horizon. They light up everything in their path, and are meant mostly to guard against surprise attacks either by the land or air forces. They surely look pretty sailing along in the sky where everything is dark and cloudy.

"Thursday, June 26—We had a comparatively quiet night. I carried four blesses in one trip to the hospital about 2 o'clock this morning. I also got a few hours sleep at different times. This poste is situated on an old Roman road and under the ruins (caused by Boche artillery fire) of an old Roman farm, it would be interesting in itself without all the extra excitement.

"July 2—The duties are coming thick at present. Ten of the older men of Section 14 left for Saloniki on Friday. I should like to have gone but Saloniki didn't look very tempting in comparison to France. There are four or five boys left in the section, however, who are splendid fellows. One is named Cady and comes from Indiana and another, named Gibson, a nephew of Charles Dana Gibson, hails from Georgia and is typically southern.

"Things have been quiet along our route for the past three days. The Boche must have run out of ammunition, or maybe is just saving up. They pulled a gas bomb attack at daylight and we were very busy for awhile. It is a pitiful sight to see the men after that stuff has struck them. When the gas comes in the form of a wind attack it can be seen coming and everyone has time to put on his mask. But when these gas bombs explode they sound like a shell and the men get two or three inhalations before they can use their masks, and it doesn't take much to do the trick. The blesses act just like people coming out of ether.

"There was a very pretty fight in the clouds this morning, but I don't know its outcome, for they disappeared in the clouds. The tobacco and chocolate are scarce, expensive and awful.

250,000 HORSES FOR ARMY SOUGHT BY U. S.

Purchasing Office Has Been Located in This State at Fort Keogh.

Minneapolis, July 30.—Dr. Carl W. Gay, professor of animal husbandry at the University of Minnesota, has returned from Washington, D. C., where a conference had been called July 18 by Henry G. Sharp, quartermaster general, to consider means of purchasing horses and mules for the army. The war demand for horses is imperative, one horse for every four men being required," Dr. Gay said. "The war department, therefore, wishes to obtain 250,000 horses in the shortest possible time. While the bulk presumably will come through dealers at large markets, farmers and breeders will be dealt with direct, in case they can concentrate at least a carload at county seats or other convenient points. The country has been divided into four purchasing zones.

"Minnesota is in the northern zone, with the purchasing office at Fort Keogh, Mont. In Oklahoma a great many horses have been purchased direct from farmers through the state agricultural college. It is hoped Minnesota farmers may avail themselves of the same opportunities, as it is the most completely organized agricultural state. It is proposed to conduct cooperative shipping associations to get accurate reports on numbers available."

CONVEYS A MESSAGE TO HUMAN HEART

Tosti's Song "Parted" needs no words to convey its message of human heart's unrest, when played by the Taylor Trio, who have recorded it for the Columbia Graphophone company. Under the fingers of these artists of the cello, piano and violin, the lovely melody becomes a tonal study in sombre shadows. The voice of the cello sounds the very depths of despair—a hopeless response to the pleading memories voiced by violin and piano.

MRS. IDA SAFLEY DEAD FUNERAL AT LIVINGSTON

Had Many Friends in Butte and Other Parts of the State.

Friends of Mrs. Ida Safley in Butte were shocked yesterday to learn of her death. Mrs. Safley died Saturday evening in Livingston. The interment will be at Bozeman beside the body of her husband, the late Dr. L. E. Safley, who died nearly two years ago. The funeral service probably will be held at Livingston Wednesday afternoon.

Both Dr. Safley and his wife were very well known in Butte, where they had very many friends. They had lived in Bozeman and Livingston for many years. Mrs. Safley had appeared to be in good health until very recently. Within the last two weeks she had visited Mr. and Mrs. George R. Safley at Bozeman, and few of her friends knew that she was critically ill. She last visited in Butte late in November, 1915. From this city at that time she went to California, returning a few months later to Livingston.

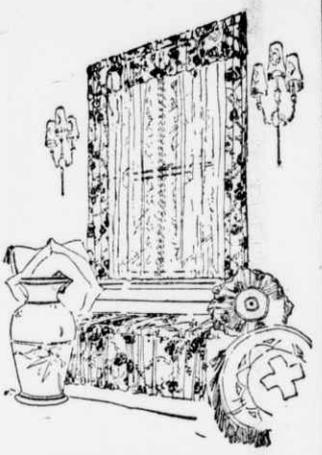

Mrs. Safley leaves four children: Mrs. Marie Guhl of Chicago, Mrs. Ernestine Prouty, Harry Hills and Clifton Hills. Harry Hills lives in Livingston; her other son is a member of Company K of the Second Montana regiment. All of her children were with her at Livingston at the end except Mrs. Guhl, who visited her recently.

Many Butte friends of the Safleys had been entertained by them at their lodge in the upper West Gallatin basin, near the Yellowstone park line. This property, which was sold by Dr. Safley shortly before his death, was picturesquely located and was in the center of a big game district of international reputation. Dr. Safley was a famous hunter of big game, and Mrs. Safley herself had killed some fine specimens of elk.

RED CROSS TO USE U. S. DOGS OF WAR

Canines Will Locate Wounded Soldiers—Wear Gas Masks.

Washington, D. C., July 30.—The American dog is going to do his bit in the war. Red Cross canines are in big demand on the western front. Wearing gas masks, they go out between the trenches and locate unconscious, wounded men in piles of dead.

The Red Cross establishment which will care for American wounded when the national army starts pounding the Kaiser would be incomplete without its quota of dogs. Plans are under way to have Uncle Sam's bowwows take their places on the fighting lines beside those of France and Great Britain, some of which have actually received decorations for their work under fire.

Several months of training is necessary before the dogs are ready for service. They must be taught to range the shell-swept areas of No Man's Land, hunting the wounded, whom the stretcher-bearers could not at first glance distinguish from the dead. When an unconscious man is located the dog is taught to carry his "tin-hat" or shrapnel helmet to the stretcher-bearers and then to lead them back to where the sufferer is lying.

Many Red Cross dogs have been produced in England. As trench warfare has rendered them a necessity, a project is under consideration to train the American "rovers" somewhere in the United States and to send them over with other Red Cross units. Blue-bloods are not the only ones needed. Yellow curs can do their bit for America also, if they have the spirit and enough "dog brains."

Men Are Worst Offenders When It Comes to Caring for Their Teeth and the Biggest Cowards When it Comes Time to Have Their Neglected Teeth Corrected

This is nothing new—for men are always the most "nervy" patients—and their teeth troubles are always far more numerous than is the case with the gentle sex. But those men who would avoid all the trouble of the dental chair—and the pain and discomfort of dental operations—are urged to come to BUTTE'S MODERN DENTAL INSTITUTION, where all teeth and gum troubles can be attended to by the most modern scientific methods and where all work is carried out on the latest scientific principles.

To get and idea of your teeth troubles, come in and let us give you our examination—also our estimate. This service is free.

KING AND QUEEN AT AMERICAN CAMP

London, July 30.—The censorship allowed newspapers to print the pictures of King George's visit to the American camp and they availed themselves largely of the permission. The favorite subjects are those showing the king talking to an enlisted man, questioning him about his rifle and kit; the king and queen walking through lines of saluting soldiers and the march past the saluting base where the Stars and Stripes were flying.

COLORED SWAMPER DEAD.

William Ryland, aged 45 years, negro, a character of this city for many years, died Saturday night. Ryland was a graduate of Tuskegee Institute from the school of law. He began a brilliant practice but later waived his career in favor of the "dope" habit. Since then he has earned his living in Butte as a swamper and at odd jobs. The sight of this unfortunate negro delivering an address to curious listeners was a familiar one in Butte and many people have been astounded by his excellent command of the English language. The remains are at the Daniels & Bilboa funeral parlors.
