FORCED TO NIGHT SHIFTS BY RUSH

Stampede of Men Returning to Work is Greater Than Ever.

So great has been the rush of men to work that the mines are forced to night shifts. A few of the mines have been working night shifts since Monday, three will probably start shifts tonight and a half dozen more are likely to follow suit tomorrow night. Today there was another substantial increase in the number of men returning to work.

Members of the Metal Mine Workers' union continue to desert the organization by the scores. Not only have these miners awakened to a realization that the promises of Tom Campbell and his lieutenants were idle. They also realize that the treasury of the new organization is almost empty and that strike benefits will be discontinued soon.

A solar plexus blow was dealt the radicals in the Metal Trades Council last night when the Machinists' union decided to abide by the vote of the majority as ratified by the metal trades craft unions. The machinists had voted against acceptance of the schedule at the referendum of metal trades, but by last night's action they decide to stay with the majority.

The electricians who have left the mines are still wondering where they are at. At tonight's meeting of the Electrical Workers' union an effort will be made by the radicals to call a strike. The conservatives, however, predict that the effort will fail and that the union will order the men who have walked out to return to work.

The Carpenters' union last night voted to accept the new wage schedule offered by the mining companies with the exception of the basic scale, when copper is selling under 15 cents. The basic scale is $4.50 per day with a 25 cent increase for each 2 cent increase in the price of copper.

The Teamsters' union by a decisive vote decided to accept the wage increases offered by the Silver Bow Employers' association. The teamsters are given a horizontal increase of 50 cents per day.

At a meeting last night the International Mine, Mill and Smelterworkers reiterated their former stand regarding the outlaw miners union. The only way the members of the outlaw organization can join the Moyer union is as individuals.

The greater part of yesterday's meeting of the Metal Mine Workers' union was given over to a discussion of the hanging of Frank Little. Tom Campbell, who again presided, suggested caution. The speeches made were mild compared to those of the day before.

COMMENT OF STATE PRESS ON THE LITTLE LYNCHING

Newspapers the country over commented at length upon the tragedy that came to light in this city Wednesday morning when the body of Frank H. Little, executive board member of the I. W. W., was found hanging to a railroad trestle on the outskirts of Butte. In this state press opinion was pretty much one way. The comment has thus far come to the notice of the Post follows:

BOZEMAN CHRONICLE.

No law-abiding citizen approves of summary action by illegal process and the punishment dealt out by mob violence precludes any right of self-defense and leads to anarchy. There are, however, conditions under which the people of this country will not submit to the failure of the law to do its required duty, and if for any reason the instruments of government are unable or unwilling to cope with a situation that threatens the vital interests of organized society, the people of the communities, as a last resort, can be depended upon to take the law into their own hands.

HELENA INDEPENDENT.

In ordinary times the hanging of an I. W. W. agitator by self-appointed executioners in Butte would be regarded to a considerable extent and the incident would be referred to by the sentimental newspapers as a "blot on the state." It would be viewed and reviewed something as the application of the southern rape fiend remedy is commented upon in all parts of the country.

GREAT FALLS TRIBUNE.

We cannot permit any person or persons to take the law into their own hands and redress their own grievances, no matter what the provocation may be. That spells anarchy and revolution. It undermines the safety of society, so we hope the murderers of Little may be caught and punished.

BILLINGS JOURNAL.

Yesterday morning's little lynching here at Butte, no matter how commendable or abominable it may be in the minds of individuals of varied beliefs, but the sudden, swift, inevitable climax of a condition of affairs that has grown more and more tense with each passing day. It was a thing as certain as the sun that the Industrial Workers of the World could not much longer continue operations in the face of the great rising tide of opposition without some dramatic flareup. The flareup has come.

MONTANA RECORD-HERALD.

Wage agitation is one thing and treason is another. If the Butte miners or any part of them are not content with their earnings, it is their privilege to endeavor to secure a higher wage, but they must do it in a peaceable and law abiding manner and not by means of strikes against the United States government, threats to burn and destroy the property of unoffending citizens and slander of the military.

THE MISSOULIAN.

We hope that President Wilson will not send a telegram to the city authorities of Butte, as he did to the authorities of Bisbee at the time of the deportation of I. W. W. agitators, deploring the affair as one establishing a "dangerous precedent." The "dangerous precedent" lies in the failure of the United States government to deal with traitors and anarchists who are permitted to go about openly preaching treason when the nation is at war. If the government had done its duty, Little would be alive, and like Berkman and Emma Goldman, be behind bars where after for second, third, fourth and fifth year, and 53 1/2 cents after five years of service, with time and a half for all work over 12 hours, based on the price of copper at 20 cents per pound and over; 2 1/2 cents per hour off when copper is below 20 cents, 5 cents per hour off when copper is below 18 cents and the old scale when copper is below 15 cents. The old scale was 33 1/3 cents per hour for first-year men, 42 1/2 for second, third, fourth and fifth year men and 45 cents per hour after five years.

"The union demands the elimination of the five-year clause, with a demand for 53 1/2 cents per hour for first-year and 55 1/2 cents per hour for second-year and after, irrespective of the price of copper, with time and a half for all work after 10 hours. The street car men consider they are worth at least as much as the common laborer, whose scale is 3 1/2 cents per hour for eight hours, especially since street car men are put to the extra expense of buying uniforms, caps, etc.

"The management rejected the proposition of the union without submitting a counter proposition or offering any concession."

IRON CROSSES NO MORE RARE EMBLEM OF VALOR

Kaiser Distributes Them in a Lavish Manner—Swivel Chair Heroes Gain.

Copenhagen, Aug. 2.—That 2,200,000 iron crosses of the second class and 49,000 of the first class have been awarded during the war is shown by announcements published in Berlin which have been received here. Of this number 3,660 were conferred upon individuals "behind the front," but it is certain that the number of persons wearing the decoration who have never been under fire is even larger. The classification "behind the front" probably applies only to non-combatants engaged in war service, and not to individuals, like von Jagow and other civilians, who from time to time have been stationed at the main headquarters.

A horde of wearers of the iron cross have been simply employed at the headquarters and by the staff; never smelling powder unless perhaps it was during the repulse of a long-distance airplane raid. As an example of the lavishness with which the crosses are handed out a correspondent of the Associated Press was present at a luncheon party of eight at the main headquarters in 1915 where the seven Germans present all had been decorated and not a single one of them had ever been under fire.

During the Franco-Prussian war about one in every twenty participants was given an iron cross, and except in the case of high military commanders and sons of royalty it was awarded only for exceptional bravery in the field. The value of the iron cross now has become so debased, because of the vast quantities granted and the number of swivel-chair heroes who have, through their influence, received them, that the establishment of a new order for valor is being talked of.

MEXICAN "GOES NORTH" WITH MONEY, THEY SAY

Mexico City, Aug. 1.—The department of state has asked the United States authorities to aid in the arrest and extradition of Paymaster Eduardo Lacarra, formerly attached to the forces of General Guillermo Chavez, in Sonora, who is charged with embezzlement of $120,000, and who is supposed to have fled to Texas.
