

Correct Autumn Apparel--The Topic of the Month And Hennessy's More Than Ever Before Prepared

These splendid stocks of women's wear, coats and suits particularly, are daily becoming more and more comprehensive, more and more worthy of your interested attention. Authentic in every detail (they must be to be shown at Hennessy's), they are illustrating for us with each arriving garment the tendency of the style creators to combine solid comfort and practical wearing qualities with beauty of line, material and color.

The Coats

With their long, loose lines, their military appearance (the popular French coat especially), some with handsome fur trimming, others with huge pockets and some with pockets hidden, their loose belts at the waist line and their heavy comfortable looking materials show plainly their real possibilities for defying the coldest winter weather. Pon-Pon coats, Bolivias, velours and all in the handsome new colors are awaiting your inspection.

The Suits

Are here in all of the novelty and staple colors; most prominent are beet-root, Pekin blue, reindeer, elephant gray, khaki, cinnamon brown, Jahu blue, Java brown, Oxford, navy, plum and black. In fine broadcloth, tricotine, velour de lain, tweed mixtures, serge and gaberdine. Seal, velvet and braid trimmings prevail. There is also a splendid showing of strictly tailored models in all colors; linings of brilliant novelty designs; also lined in soft satins and pussy willow.

Showing of New Millinery

This showing of the early millinery fashions will be of interest to every woman who wishes authoritative information on the fall styles. Entirely new ideas are to be seen in chenille embroidered ornaments with hatbands to match.

Combinations of chenille with bright colored silk, tinsel and tapestry stitch, beads and the tassel form some of the most novel trimmings. The newest shapes tend toward rather high, soft crowns, together with military visors in new forms. Colored felt and long-nap beaver are freely used.

The colors favored are those in direct and contrasting harmony with the new fall apparel.

Tuesday we offer a special selling of handsome pan velvets, hatter's plush and Lyons silk velvet in many new shapes, all the new colors and black, at $10.00 and 12.50
