Pershing Watches War Maneuver—Gives Men Some American Advice.

American Training Quarters in France, Wednesday, Oct. 3.—(By the Associated Press.)—Major General Pershing today watched a battalion of Major General Sibert's command as it stormed and took three supposed enemy trenches which had been named Wilson, Taft and Roosevelt for the occasion. The exercise was part of a program of battalion problems which is being carried out daily and will be developed gradually into regimental, brigade and divisional attacks.

In addition to General Pershing, several French officers witnessed today's maneuvers after which they were criticized by American and French observers and by the general himself. He said that in taking the three trenches the soldiers, he noticed, did not use their rifles. This he thought a mistake. "You must not forget that the rifle is distinctly an American weapon," said the general. "I want to see it employed. There surely will be plenty of opportunity for its use, and if you are unfamiliar with the weapon you will lose those opportunities. Bayonets and bombs are all right and very valuable, but rifle fire still has a place in modern war."

Rifle Great American Weapon.
The general said he had heard of soldiers in this war who had been chasing Germans a hundred yards or more for an opportunity to bomb or bayonet them. If they had thought they might have stopped and shot them easily with the rifle.

Some time ago the American army authorities here decided to devote much attention to muskets, but neither the French nor the British instructors are inclined to spend much time on that phase of warfare, having become accustomed to the tactics of attacking solely with tanks, bayonets and machine guns. American soldiers always have been fine marksmen, however, and the officers still believe in rifle fire for both offensive and defensive purposes.

Under Barrage Fire.
The practice attacks today were made under theoretical creeping barrages timed to move forward at a given pace. The men used live bombs as they advanced. The Wilson trench proved very easy, only six casualties being cleared from the field during its occupation. A green rocket announced success and then the attackers rushed forward against the Taft trench. Here again success was achieved quickly, being signalled by a red rocket. It required a second wave of attackers, who "leap frogged" over the troops holding the Taft trench, to take the Roosevelt trench. A green rocket announcing this final objective, the three started rocket announced the fact that the Roosevelt trench had fallen and that the position had been consolidated with machine guns in strategic position for a flanking fire to beat off counter attacks. The operation required just one hour.

DEMAND REFRIGERATOR CARS FOR BUTTE MILK

Testimony Shows 3,516 Gallons Soured on Way to City During July.

Helena, Oct. 4.—The hearing before the Montana railroad commission yesterday on the application of the state board of health, the Butte board of health, and shippers of dairy products for an order requiring the carriers to furnish refrigeration and to handle the stuff in a more sanitary way, resolved itself into a bacteria hunt.

The testimony showed that in July there were shipped into Butte 72,213 gallons of milk and 61,329 gallons of cream. Of the milk 3,516 gallons were sour.

I. G. Arthur, deputy state dairy commissioner, testified upon several occasions to having seen cream and milk cans which were full, standing in a broiling sun on railroad platforms. He admitted that it was in jacked cans. He admitted that if containers were not well sealed, in live steam and the tops allowed to remain off to admit a circulation of air, that milk would be more liable to sour.

The carriers contended that the milk and cream shipments to Butte were not large enough to warrant the expense of refrigerator cars, and as another reason why refrigerator cars could not be supplied, because of the low rates. For instance, a 10 gallon can of milk is shipped from Hamilton to Butte for 46 cents.

Young Men "Ask Permission" to Be Drafted—Family Gives Three Sons.

A few of the members of the Butte second contingent to Camp Lewis were men who literally "forced" their way into the services of the United States. The stories were told this morning by Mayor Maloney to show that the spirit of American patriotism is still abroad in the land.

"I find that one of our last contingents is Pat McGuirk," said Mayor W. H. Maloney this morning. "McGuirk was most anxious to enlist. When the call for volunteers first came he tried to enlist in the army and was rejected. Then he tried the navy. He was rejected again. When the first draft was called he attempted that and again was turned down. He failed to fill the requirements for the second draft.

"When the third draft was ordered he took another chance.

"He was examined and turned down. McGuirk stands about six feet in height. He is built like a bean pole and I suppose that was the reason he was turned down. He had a fighting spirit, though. He wanted to get on with the American army.

"What do you fellows want any way," he said. "Do you want a bit of fat fellow that the Germans can shoot the first time I go out there and I'll surely get some of them before they can lay a correct head on me."

"He was so insistent on joining," Mayor Maloney continued, "that I really believe he is one of the two who voluntarily joined the draft from this county and so swelled the number of the county." McGuirk lived at 22 North Main street.

"Another case," said the mayor, "is that of J. E. Bowden. This young man tried to enlist in both the army and navy. He was turned down by the recruiting officers. He made a trip to the coast trying to enlist. Again he was turned down. When he heard that we wanted volunteers for the last contingent he came to us and asked to be sent. We gave him a hasty examination and sent him with the bunch. We hear now that he has been accepted. We are sure that such a young fellow will make good."

Bowden lived at 429 West Silver street and was in no danger of being called for the draft. His order number was 6745.

Sends Three Sons.

Mr. and Mrs. George Couley, a well known Butte couple, have given three sons to the country in war. Two of the boys are in the national army, the third, and youngest, in the navy.

Stanley Couley tried to enlist in Butte and was rejected because of his eyes. He went to San Francisco at the time of the draft examination and was examined there for the Butte board. He asked that he be exempted because of his eyes. He was accepted and is now with the national army at Camp Lewis. An older brother, who is married, refused to claim exemption also.

"This is no more boys in the Couley family, that's all that keeps them from giving another son to the service," said a city official last night.

Michael Bolton has enlisted in the quartermaster's corps of the national army. When the first draft contingent left Butte, his brother, Patrick Bolton, among the conscripts. After his brother had been a while at the training camp, Michael "got the bug" and decided to get into the service with him. He has asked to be sent to Camp Lewis that he may be near his brother.

ONE GERMAN REFORM BILL GOES ON ROCKS

Copenhagen, Oct. 4.—German newspapers report that the project for granting additional representation to overgrown reichstag districts and for introducing the principle of proportional representation in the large cities is on the rocks. The government, while flatly rejecting all other proposals of the reichstag main committee for the reform of the imperial constitution, had promised to introduce a bill embodying this minor reform, but several federal states now object so vigorously to the bill that its fate is doubtful.
