BUTTE HIGH WILL PLAY ST. CHARLES

Arrangements for Saturday's Game Concluded—Centrals Are to Play Friday.

Arrangements for the football game on Saturday between the Mount St. Charles college team and the Butte high were concluded by telephone this morning. The college team plays here on Friday with the Central high and on the following day with the Butte high. The game should prove very interesting as it will give a line on the relative merits of the two teams. It was announced today that Emmet Daly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Daly, formerly of Grosvenor Springs and Butte and now of California, had returned to the college and would appear in the lineup on Saturday with the Catholic college boys.

The games on Friday and Saturday will be played, pending later arrangements, at the Hobson park, as this will be a much more central place than the gardens, especially in view of the fact that Friday is a holiday in the city and that if the grounds can be secured for the Friday game they will also be available for the Saturday game.

Both the Butte high and the Central high will put their best men in this battle with the Helena college team. The teams of football games in Butte for the latter part of the week will be assured of having two good games that should attract much attention.

MARQUARD WAS BEST ON BROOKLYN STAFF

Southpaw Supposed to Have Been Through Year Ago is Signed Again.

Brooklyn, Oct. 10.—When the Brooklyn Robins take the field next spring there will be on the pitching staff a man whom the critics a year ago agreed was in the case and yellow. He is Rube Marquard, who was generally believed to be about through with major league service when the Giants turned him over to the Robins, but who, this season, has come back with both feet and has been the most successful of all the Brooklyn pitchers.

There is one man who still believes in Rube Marquard, and he is Wilbert Robinson. The Brooklyn leader, who is one of the shrewdest judges of twisting talent in the major leagues, intends to have the angular southpaw on his club next season and believes he will be one of his most valuable pitchers.

Robinson expects to see Marquard in the major leagues at least five years more. The tall chap is in excellent physical condition, his left arm appears to be as strong as ever and his heart is in the work. He is one of the few members of the Brooklyn outfit who kept at their task throughout the campaign. No one can say Rube is quitting.

The comeback of Marquard shows again that McGraw never was, and perhaps never will be, a sound judge of pitchers. McGraw proclaimed broadcastly when he let the left-hander go that he was through for good and that he wouldn't let another season in the National League. In view of Rube's past work during the latter part of his career with the Giants, many were inclined to agree with the manager, but ever since he joined the Robins, Rube has shown that he is still able to hold the big league pace.

He has had his off days, just like the other twirlers, but when given forthright support he usually led his club to victory. This year he has been the most successful of the Brooklyn twirlers and that's why Robbie's strategy has made a place for him next season.

That Robinson realizes full well that his pitching staff is in urgent need of bolstering and Brooklyn scouts have been instructed to look over the minor league crop carefully. Robbie hopes to have a couple of staff next season. He attributes the loss of the championship largely to the poor pitching.

FORMER CHAMPION IS BIG AID TO DRYS

Milford, Conn., Oct. 10.—The successful campaign for no license waged this year in Milford, which resulted in the swing over of the town in ten years, was marked by the appearance of John L. Sullivan, former world's champion prize-fighter, as an advocate for the drys. Sullivan spoke here about two weeks ago and many credited him with assisting to secure the knockout administered to the liquor interests.

SHOULD HAVE PRACTICE.
"If you fancy there's anything wrong with your heart, why don't you see Blank, the specialist?"
"I'm afraid he'd discover it was something fatal."
"Oh, nonsense! He wouldn't—he's an awfully decent chap."—Boston Transcript.

Rumor has it that both the Braves and Red Sox first sackers are likely to become managers next season. Kometzky of the Braves is slated as the Cardinals' pilot and Hohlitzel is down to lead the Red Sox.

Clarence De Mar, former Marathon titleholder, made a remarkable "comeback" when he won the Brooklyn Marathon in record time. In this event De Mar defeated a trio of star distance runners, comprising Viljar Lyronsen, Arthur Roth and Bill Kennedy.

BUTTE PLAYERS AT CAMP LEWIS ISSUE CHALLENGE

Organize Team and Want to Get Revenge for Those Spokane Reports.

Numbered among the men who have already gone to Camp Lewis were Jeds who gained not a little notoriety for their prowess on the local baseball diamonds. Some of them were exceptionally fast for semi-pro players and many of them which they played carried away honors in many a baseball battle. That they have not forgotten their old love, despite their new surroundings and new work, is shown by an article in "Trench and Camp," a paper published at Tacoma by the soldiers at American Lake. The article is as follows:

"There's a little town in Montana called Butte. Some of its representatives are with us. They are afraid that everyone don't know they are here so they have taken the following methods to announce their presence:
"A picked baseball team from the Butte men from any other city represented on the grounds. Would particularly like to beat Spokane."
"Anyone interested get in touch with Mr. Kiestler, the athletic director, Y. M. C. A. Building No. 1."

As far as known here in Butte, Spokane has been the neighbor of ours that pretended to be an athletic avenger when they claimed that Butte's soldiers had desecrated its picturesque atmosphere by merely walking up the street to the hospital and back. But, in fact, his failed to accept the challenge, but perhaps the Spokane lads would rather play a game of ping pong.

POPULAR PLAY TO BE FORWARD PASS

There is no play in football which has developed as rapidly as the forward pass. And this year it promises to be more generally used than ever before.

While it has been a legal form for advancing the ball ever since the powers that be decided football should be opened up and the old mass formations abolished, it was not until the closing stages of the 1915 campaign that many of the big It was regarded as too risky an experiment.

Then Notre Dame invaded West point an afternoon in mid-season and used the forward pass to such good advantage that eastern coaches stepped up and "took notice." The end of the season of 1915 will be vividly recalled by every follower of the national sport. The Army and Navy played at the Polo Grounds, and ruled almost a prohibitive favorite, but the Notre Dame game had mastered the forward pass. The Army won by the proverbial mile.

USING A PEEP SIGHT.
A peep sight on tang, frame or cocking-piece of the gun gives a longer sighting radius than an open sight on the barrel, with proportionally truer aim. The aperture of a peep sight for hunting should be considerably larger than that for target shooting. One's eye will cleave such a peep-hole instinctively, because the center of the hole gets more light than its edge. The shooter will scarcely be conscious of using a rear sight at all.

Dolan, Zollinger, Yarkos, Kirke, Derrick, Falkenberg and Wickham.

Dartmouth's football squad has been increased by the unexpected arrival of Gene Neely, the one-armed guard who gained quite a reputation as a clever grinder last year.

The Baltimore Orioles of 20 years ago have more members still in the major leagues than any other of the same age ever had. McGraw, manager of the Giants; Robinson, manager of the Dodgers; Kelley, scout of the Yankees, and Coach Gleason of the White Sox, are all Oriole veterans.

Tesreau, once the Giants' best bet in the box, stands fifth among McGraw's pitchers on the season's records.

Gene Delmont, the southern featherweight, is anxious to look up in a clash with any New England boxer before a Boston club.

Both the Cincinnati Reds and the St. Louis Cardinals moved up from their second division berth in 1916 to the first division this year.

Unofficial batting averages show that Duffy Lewis of the Red Sox landed within the 300 circle at the very finish of the season.

New York boxing promoters are angling for a return match between Jack Dillon and Herb Greb, the clever Pittsburgh middleweight.

A number of football coaches are needed at the various military training camps. The position carries with it a salary of $1,800 a year.

FEW STAR FIELDERS WOULD BE PITCHERS

Roush, Robertson and Kauff All Started In to Gain Fame on Mound.

Three of the National League's best outfielders started out as pitchers. Eddie Roush of the Reds signed with the Evansville club in 1912 as a pitcher, but was soon switched to the outfield and has remained there ever since.

Davey Robertson of the Giants might have been one of the sport's greatest pitchers had it not been for an injury he received playing football. It was while he was a member of the North Carolina A. and M. college in 1911 that he was injured about the shoulder. Robertson continued to pitch until he joined the Giants, when McGraw decided Robertson was not capable of pitching in fast company and he eventually pitched to Mobbie, where he starred in the outfield, to return as a star gardener.

Henny Kauff, center fielder for McGraw, pitched and played the outfield for Parkersburg in 1910, and went through the season of 1912 as a pitcher for Brockton, Mass. Kauff always wanted to be a pitcher from the time he was a coal miner in Ohio to make his fortune in the grand old game, but soon found that he could advance faster as a fielder and took up his place in the outer garden.

It is a coincidence, perhaps, that along with Robertson and Kauff, George Burns, the first member of the Giants outfield, aspired to be a pitcher, but was utilized in the minor leagues as a catcher until 1909 and shifted to the outfield by the following year.

Dave Griffith, team mate of Eddie Roush, pitched minor league baseball for four years, starting in 1909 with New Bedford. He took up outfielding in 1912.

SIXTEEN CLUBS PLAY IN WINTER LEAGUE

San Francisco, Oct. 10.—Sixteen clubs in two divisions will start playing in the East Bay Cities Winter Baseball League on November 4. A meeting of the league managers was held in the Cliff Blankenship building in Oakland.

In the Class A division any number of league players will be permitted to play, while in the Class B division only one league player will be allowed in the lineup. The Class B games will be played on the Oakland ball grounds. The first day's play in the Class A division will be Richmond vs. Maxwell Hardware; Alameda vs. Murrayland; Fruitvale vs. Native Sons vs. Oakland Native Sons, and Northern Pacific vs. Pittsburg.

In the Class B division the following games will be played: Berkeley Macca-bees vs. Maxwell's; Melrose Melvans vs. Harris Tailors; Berkeley Grays vs. Allendale; Saniel Improvement vs. Crystal Laundry.

SHOW CALLED OFF.

The athletic show which was to have been given Saturday by Paddy O'Brien for the benefit of the soldiers stationed in Butte has been indefinitely postponed. Inability to secure a convenient place to hold the tournament and the absence of some of the proposed participants from the city on that day are given as the reasons for calling the show off. It is probable that it may be held at some later date.

HOOSIER GRIDIRON TEAMS GET BUSY

War Preparations Fail to Stop Work of the Football Elevens.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 10.—Despite the preliminary announcements of some Indiana colleges at the beginning of the war that athletics might be dropped during the war, preparations are in full swing for the major branches of collegiate sports. Practically every college in the state is claiming to have been the most seriously affected by the loss of athletes who have gone into war service, but a careful survey of conditions discloses the fact that while every institution has been crippled to a great extent, there is in every case a nucleus of seasoned men who can aid the coaches in getting the new material together.

The usual interest in Purdue, Notre Dame and Indiana obtains at the beginning of the season this year as usual as the smaller institutions are holding for attention because of their intrastate contests scheduled more generally with the larger schools.

Wabash is hard at work under its new coach, J. E. Towson, who just arrived to take the place of P. P. Sheeks, who is now an officer in the army. Five letter men—Capt. Hamrick, Stonebraker, Bacon, Walker and Thompson—are already practicing and the new athletes are slowly getting into form.

Coach Buss had had the DePauw men in hand for more than a week. The old men have been slow to show up for practice, but the coach has been taking the new men through active practice. DePauw is actively awaiting the contest with Purdue at Lafayette this Saturday.

The Franklin team is again working under Coach John M. Thurber, and while the visit will be the first on any service was largely from the ranks of athletes, the college reports a number of prominent high school athletes in view.

Rose Poly has one of its largest schedules—six college games and one alumni game—and Athletic Director Rufus Gilbert has been putting the men through a grilling every afternoon. Capt. Graff, Capt. Howard, G. Henry, Blake and Orr have been showing the best form in practice.

With fourteen of last year's athletic squad in service Cully Thomas faces a hard fight at Lafayette this Saturday. Mike Brown, Bill Davis and Joe Bailey in line. A new Butler ruling that every man must participate in athletics is expected to bring out new material, however.

Earlham, Hanover and the State Normal school at Terre Haute have done little as yet because of the late opening of those institutions this year.

YALE MEN WILL FORM CREWS TO ROW THIS FALL

New Haven, Oct. 10.—Athletic plans at Yale are slowly taking form, with a glance for a more general participation by the student body as a whole than in any previous year. Instead of a university crew it has been decided to have four crews made up of the most available material from the three upper classes. These crews will row every other day and will be trained by Professor Albert, as Coach Guy Nickalls will not return from Europe.

As most of the men who answered the call for football were freshmen, the athletic managers have asked the men of Sophomore classes to turn out for practice on the eleven which will play informal games with outside teams if a fair squad to represent the university can be got together. Three days a week have been set aside for athletics, and students have been urged to come out for football as well as try training asset, on which particular stress will be laid during the fall term.

LEAGUE WILL NOT DISBAND IN 1918

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Any rumors that the Three Eves league is to disband were set at rest at a meeting in the Palmer house of managers of the organization. It was announced that baseball will be played next season by the league next season. The league president, by Albert Tarnay, was present and the league, which was organized by prominent minor league players are to be opened as soon as red tape is done away with.

"The Three Eves league is still on its feet of dissolution. Next year will see football played as usual."

GOTCH GOES TO SPRINGS.

Humboldt, Iowa, Oct. 10.—Frank Gotch, long time world's wrestling champion, expects to leave for Hot Springs, Ark., next week, where he will probably remain several months and perhaps all winter. Mr. Gotch has been in extremely poor health the past four months. Last year he received much benefit at the springs, where he was much of the winter months.

BUTTE GOLFING STARS TO PLAY IN MISSOULA

Local Men Are Invited to the Garden City for a Team Match Saturday.

According to advices from Missoula, the Country club of the Garden City is making elaborate preparations for the visiting Butte Country Golf club members next Saturday. A match game will be played between teams of the two clubs, later there will be a dinner and a dance in the evening.

The visit will be the first on any service was largely from the ranks of athletes, the college reports a number of prominent high school athletes in view.

HAUGHTON WILL BE THE FOOTBALL COACH AT CAMP DEVENS

Ayer, Mass., Oct. 10.—Camp Devens is expected to have one of the best football teams among the United States army training camps this year, following the announcement made from the camp here Thursday evening that P. D. Haughton, Harvard varsity football coach and president of the Boston National League Baseball club, will coach the soldier candidates this fall. Coach Haughton will have over 40,000 men from all over New England and Northern New York to select his players from, and it is confidently expected that Camp Devens will come out with a football team that will be more contented than any other.
