KAUFF IS CROWNED "HOME RUN KING" OF THE SERIES

Benny Kauff, centerfielder born at Middletown, Conn., began professional baseball in 1911 with the Poughkeepsie club, Virginia Valley league, and the following year went to the New York Americans. Was sent to Hartford (Ct.) where he played in the outfield during 1913. Joined the Federal league at Indianapolis 1914 and went to the Brooklyn

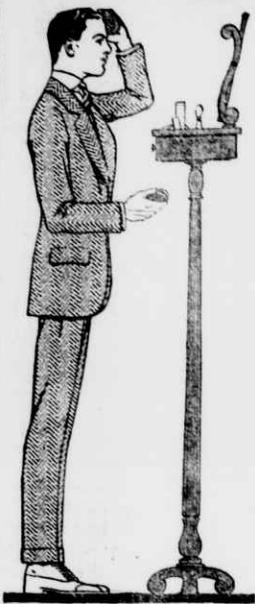

KAUFF

Federals in 1911. Became a member of the Giants in 1916 and has been an effective fielder and batter for McGraw's team for the past two seasons. Kauff bats and throws left handed. He is 28 years of age, 5 feet 4 inches tall and weighs 170 pounds. Kauff's work yesterday when he made two home runs for the only two hits he has made in the series, justified McGraw's faith in the former Federal leaver. He has been hitting better than 300 in the National league this year but the Sox warriors had the Indian sign on him until yesterday. His feat is considered remarkable. Last year he was the most abused player in the National league because of the so-called head and his continued efforts to play to the stands. This season, however, he has "saved wood" and improved in every department of the game. His work yesterday alone justifies the confidence McGraw placed in him when he paid a big salary for his services.

HARD LINES FOR ONE JIM SCOTT

San Francisco, Oct. 12.—It's awful hard on South Valley Jim Scott these days. While his former White Sox team mates were battling with the Giants in the world's series, Scott, a student at the officers' reserve camp here, is at Fort Barry trying to concentrate his mind on rifle practice. Jim couldn't even get off long enough to watch the game on a scoreboard.

GAB AND CHATTER OF THE WORLD'S SERIES GAME IN WHICH SOX TAKE ANOTHER COAT OF WHITEWASH

(Being a little dope on the second game in New York, gleaned from the telegraphic reports by "Eddie.")

The games are now 2-1, with the Sox on the outside seat and the Giants' paper.

With each of the teams having taken two leading blows from the world's series, it is now a case of who will have to be content with the rest.

The Sox, who started out so splendidly to send to their bedfellows a couple of stitches and balled up the Sox.

The leading pitcher of the Sox, Knickerbocker, was not so good as he looked, and the Sox were not so good as they looked.

McCarthy sent out a ball that was not so good as he looked, and the Sox were not so good as they looked.

man from the hill straight at Eddie Collins and sent him to the hospital. The next time up, however, Jim changed his tactics and poked out a three-bagger.

After another hit had been scored off Faber in the seventh, Howard sent Robertson to bat for him in the first half of the eighth, but a test hit, Sallee, could do was to go to Robertson after three balls had been called on him.

Robertson was ordered to the mound and he was treated to a "baptism of fire" before the smoke had cleared away the Giants had added a couple of runs and succeeded in winning this time.

home. He was tilted as he slid into the plate.

In the first of the ninth Eddie Collins was walked. He was the first man to get free transportation in the two games on the Polo grounds. After he had been advanced on Jackson's sacrifice he stole third. New York allowed him that satisfaction without so much as making an error to head him off.

Howard was the only man on the New York team to fall to get a hit. Jackson, Faber, Weaver, Faber and Robertson were the "punch" boys of the Sox.

SCHUPP SHOWED HIS TRUE WORTH ON POLO GROUNDS

Professional M. Schupp, pitcher, born at Lawrence, Ky., where he still resides.

January 16, 1892. Played amateur baseball for Mansel Training School, Louisville, and the first professional appearance was with the Decatur, Ill., club of the Three B's league. He came to New York in 1915 and has been in the Giants' pitching staff for five years. Schupp is 32 years of age, weighs 170 pounds and is 5 feet 11 inches tall. He is a southpaw, but bats right handed.

Schupp started in the game in Chicago last Sunday and was named in the second. It was said of him that he was troubled with stage fright and as soon as the Sox began to land on his delivery McGraw ordered him to the stable. In his own home in New York where the hillcock is a few inches higher than that in Chicago he showed his true worth. Schupp is the most popular pitcher on the Giants' staff and with Sallee holds the record of 19 straight victories this year.

MATTY HAS HAD FOUR YEARS OF THIRTY OR MORE DIAMOND WINS

In turning in his thirtieth victory of the season October 2, Alexander did not equal Mathewson's record made before Alex started to play professional ball. When he beat the Giants Alex rounded out three consecutive summers of having won 30 or more games per year, but lacks one year of equalling the record held by Mathewson, who has four years of 30 or more victories per season to his credit.

The high water years of the two great twirlers follows:

WOLVERTON RETIRES.

San Francisco, Oct. 12.—Harry Wolverton, former manager of the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast league, announced that he had retired from baseball and would enter business here.

Wolverton was dismissed as manager of the local club because of financial matters. Wolverton at one time had managed the New York Americans and the Philadelphia Athletics.

COMPOSITE BOX SCORES OF FOUR GAMES BETWEEN SOX AND NEW YORK PLAYERS

Figures Show That the Teams Are Evenly Matched in Every Department of the Game. Despite Home Run Clouts of Kauff and Felsch, Robertson of the Giants is Real Battering King With a Mark of .500. John Collins is the Sox Best Batter. Benton Leads the Pitchers, Having Allowed Only Five Hits and No Runs. Each Team Has Made Five Bobbles

COLLINS BREAKS RECORD FOR CONTINUOUS PLAY

Eddie Collins, the brilliant second baseman of the White Sox, holds the major league record for playing in consecutive games. Monday, October 1, against the Yankees, the Columbia boy completed his third season without missing a game, and so far has participated in 469 consecutive games. This beats George Burns' record by 19 games.
