LIARD NEWS AND GOSSIP

ank Taberski, the "Silent Pole" of recently, champion pocket billiardist world, surely is a wonder of wonders to give the handsome raven-haired York Stater another title, "King Procrastinators." Certainly he has had the sobriquet. He would pull that name thought. He had won the title last week at Buffalo. From far back in his previous championship contest with Layton, Greenleaf, Ralph, and Maturu, Allen, he had won on each of these matches defeat in one and causing the fans to marvel at his prowess, but against Concanon he showed too hopeless even to entertain thought of saving the emblem. Giving fast billiards and gaining such enormous lead after the first match that when they stepped to the table for the final and deciding block was asked to play 27 points to Concanon's 150. Frank not only turned seemingly impossible, trick, but tied with a margin of 58 balls to the leaving Concanon stranded and spectators too stunned to realize it. Concanon's high run was 38, made on last night of play. He had scored a second night, which was better than Concanon's best for the match, started the final block at 8 o'clock and completed it at 2:30 next morning. That's going some for one-six hours and twenty minutes. Under the sporting events never get to get the final result of a match for press when Taberski is going through one of his now famous procrasting finishes.

DOINGS OF THE DUFFS

Tom, I wish you would wait a while before going to the office - the landlord is coming this morning and I want to ask him to fix the place up. He may be more willing if you are here. Not me! I'll leave you do it, Helen. Three bedrooms ought to be papered and this ceiling is awful - it should have new paper. I want the bathroom painted and these floors should be gone over. All right, I'll see what I can do, Mrs. Duff. This is your landlord speaking - I'm sorry, but I find that I can't make the repairs your wife wants at this time - your rent, however, will be increased $10 commencing next month.

ENGLEWOOD TEAM WINS IN DEER LODGE

Butte Boys Too Heavy for Light But Game Opponents.

Deer Lodge, Oct. 22.—The Englewood football team of Butte proved too much for the local team in a fast and furious game at the fair grounds yesterday afternoon, and the visitors came out with the long end of a 19 to 0 score. According to preliminary arrangements the Englewood were to put on the field a team averaging 145 pounds, the local boys, outweighed nearly 25 pounds over, averaged. The team, however, the team, were unable to hold the terrific attacks of their husky opponents. In the first quarter Laurandean, the Englewood quarterback carried the ball over for a touchdown, and in the next period Corin and Harrington scored touchdowns. The third attempt at kicking goal was successful. Tige Harrington proved the ground grainer for the Butte team and time after time carried the ball for a substantial gain. Corin at left tackle and Hughes at right end also starred for the locals Howe and Hertz carried the ball most successfully. PREFERENCE GIVEN TO THE RAILROADS

They Must Be Kept Going Under Any and All Circumstances.

The Post's Washington Bureau. Washington, Oct. 22.—The railroads must be kept running!

This is the slogan of the national fuel administration affecting priority of shipments. The railroads, the arteries of trade and commerce, must be kept alive. Otherwise, coal could not be shipped to relieve other sufferers. All railroads doing business in Montana and other states will soon be served through the issuance of priority orders, just as the national fuel administration has come to the relief of the Pennsylvania railroad system through an order compelling the 700 miles on its lines to take care of its needs. The fuel administration realizes that the order that "the railroads must be kept running" will divert a good deal of commercial coal already contracted for, which will displace dealers to whom it has been assigned and will result also in confusion of cars that would otherwise have been available for commercial loading. In an announcement on the subject the national fuel administration says: "All producers of bituminous coal along the Pennsylvania lines will contribute pro rata to the fuel needed for its operation. Operators who have already agreed to supply the road with the amount that would be deemed their correct percentage will continue their contracts and remain unaffected by the new order. "Other mines must contribute the amount declared to be equitable by the fuel administration at the government price. The amounts required will, in some instances, interfere with delivery of full consignments called for by their contracts with customers. But the railroads must be kept running. The fuel administration suggests that operators withhold coal from persons or corporations needing it least and that they attend particularly to the supply of other railroads than the Pennsylvania. The plan is expected to show immediate results in an increased supply of coal cars and a steady, equitable flow of fuel to the railroads.

THE BAD PERFORMANCE

E. Henry Wall, a New York clubman, arrived one afternoon rather late at an opera matinee that was evidently not good. The doors were closed till the end of the first act, and as Mr. Wall stood in the lobby with the false strains of the opera floating round him a lady tried to enter the auditorium, but the door-keeper shook his head. "No, no, madame," said Mr. Wall, in his most wistful tone. "The door-keeper dare not open the door during the singing. Half the audience would rush out."

WHITWORTH GOES EAST

Deer Lodge, Oct. 22.—A. H. Whitworth left the latter part of the week for Boston to attend the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Rexall Drug company.

COMMERCIAL STRUGGLE WILL FOLLOW THE WAR

How a British Journal Views the Trade Situation of Future.

London, Oct. 22.—"After the war Great Britain will have to face a competitive struggle unique in history," writes the editor of the British review Engineering in his annual discussion of trade conditions. Germany and the United States he points out as the most formidable competitors of England in the after-war trade rivalry, saying: "On the one side Germany, well equipped, highly organized, forced by defeat and debt to desperate exertions, spurred by poverty to accept small profits, anything to regain her markets and her ruined credit. Unscrupulous and grasping methods will be backed by the German government and financed as never before. Germany has only to pick up the broken threads of foreign connections to sup-

"On the other side we shall find the United States, better equipped and staffed than any other industrial country, overflowing with money, with the highest credit and a big home market, and other conditions essential to low-cost production. "Great Britain's distorted industries, flanked by abnormal power and starved desperation, demand, first of all, definite and powerful government protection. Unless this can be secured her industrial leaders will have little encouragement to undertake a program of improvement and reform necessary to put her on equal footing terms with America and Germany. There is evidence that this will be insisted upon and secured."
