

BRING UP BUILDING CONSTRUCTION IN THE BUTTE SCHOOL DISTRICT UNTIL COST OF MATERIALS DROPS

ARCHITECT'S DRAWING OF THE GREELEY ADDITION, BEING RAPIDLY RUSHED TO COMPLETION. It appears that while actual war has not touched Butte, war terms are finding their way here. The cut above will really be a portion of new buildings to surround the old Greeley school and, therefore, comes under the term "camouflage." When the buildings shown above are completed the Greeley school will be surrounded and the old structure will not be observable from the outside. The auditorium and gymnasium portion of the reorganized structure.

Work on the annex to the Greeley school is being rushed and the building will be ready for the scholars by Jan. 1, it is expected. The annex to the Greeley, a picture of which is shown above, is perhaps the most novel idea of school architecture in Butte. The old Greeley building was found entirely insufficient to cater to the needs of the fast growing population of the Wilson addition. It is now proposed to surround the old building with a Colonial structure. The first unit in the additions is being hurried by Mowat and Cannon, the general contractors. It is so arranged that subsequent additions can be made as the needs for the district grow and when the several units are added, the heart of the old school will be taken out and the old building will fill the place of an auditorium and gymnasium, while the old structure will be entirely hidden by the new Colonial style additions which will surround it. The new annex has four class rooms, a teachers' room and a principal's office and the combination old and new building will afford 15 class rooms. The annex is a one story building with an exterior of Helena tapestry brick trimmed with artificial stone, hand-carved. The rooms are standard class rooms, uni-laterally lighted, with lighted cloak rooms and a modern plenum system for the heating and ventilating. The contractor is now ready to plaster the building. The general contract calls for $19,400, while the plumbing and heating contract held by Harry Hanson, is for $4,900. W. Wellington Smith is the architect.

MONTANA BOYS PROVE THEIR WORTH BY MAKING BEST POSITIONS AT CAMP LEWIS

THREE BUTTE SERGEANTS HOME AGAIN FOR A FEW DAYS' FURLOUGH. Boys from Butte and other parts of the state arrived at Camp Dodge they quickly realized that hard work win them promotion. They just smiled and got in and dug, and they were successful. The three young men in the accompanying picture are well known here. They are visiting friends and relatives over Thanksgiving and to Camp Dodge about Dec. 2 or 3. They are, reading from left to right, S. Nelson, Joe Peters, Charley Staples.

The fact that Nelson is top sergeant, Staples supply sergeant, and Peters truck master, all with the rank of first sergeant, the highest non-commissioned office they can hold, until they are commissioned, is quite a tribute to the worth of the Montana delegation at Camp Dodge. "Don't forget, too," says the soldiers on furlough, "that Tommy Greenfield, formerly of the Post and really a Butte boy, is also a first-class sergeant and making a great hit with the officers and men in the camp. He is chief clerk in the subsistence department. Greenfield has surely made good since he entered the army service and is one of the liveliest and most active of the men.
