

PROHIBITION RESOLUTION PASSES IN THE HOUSE

Washington, Dec. 17.—(Bulletin)—On an official count the national prohibition resolution in the house seemed to have received the necessary two-thirds vote. The result was quickly officially confirmed. The resolution submits the proposed amendment for action by the states within a period of seven years. The vote of the house announced by Speaker Clark was 282 to 128, or 25 more than required.

A wild demonstration took place in the house. W. J. Bryan appeared on the floor and took a seat with Representative Webb as co-recipients of congratulations.

The resolution must now go back to the senate because it differs from the resolution passed by that body in respect to the time allowed the states for ratification.

CONVICTS HAVING FACES REMODELED

But Warden Has Their Photos Taken to Prevent Disguise.

San Francisco, Dec. 17.—Dejection, heavy and deep, has settled on the gentle faces, courteous strong-armed men and vigorous brawlers at San Quentin for Warden James A. Johnston has ordered convicts to be rephotographed upon their release—and thereafter to appear in a new guise.

A highwayman whose twisted features in a half dozen different ways after its deflection by a police club has been having it along freedom lines. Fred of Dr. Leo Stanley, resident surgeon. As a result, should he be arrested again after his release even though he wore his original photograph, he would be recognized by the warden. After dozens of convicts began looking to "Doc," the prison doctor, to have their facial terrain replotted and then avoid future surveillance, the warden realized that any one looking for a broken-nosed former guest would scarcely recognize him if his head had been rebuilt along classic lines. Hence the order.

Motives Humanitarian.

Dr. Stanley, from humanitarian motives, has been remapping the physiognomies of various gentry whose noses had been twisted. Some had been deformed by leaden ball ends of billiard cues, some by a fall from a horse, some by a mayhap swerve from their natural position by living steam beer. Others had been twisted by the unyielding pavement of the streets. Still others had been deformed by a patrol wagon collision. Dr. Stanley's method is to break the bones of a distorted nose up fine with a hammer, remove the bone to a pulp, mold it in a plaster, according to the shape of the nose in shape and then allow it to set over it.

How many men with reconstructed faces got away before the rephotographing order was issued is not known. However, the percentage of crooked noses is high among convicts, owing to their rough and exciting careers.

TACOMA ATTORNEY FALLS TO DEATH

Becomes Dizzy While Looking for Number in Telephone Book.

Tacoma, Wash., Dec. 17.—George A. Anderson, well known attorney here, fell to his death this morning from his office in the sixth floor of the Bankers' Trust building. Anderson was a legal partner of L. H. Thomas of the Northwestern Mercantile company. Those in the mercantile office believe that Anderson was standing with one foot on the window sill, which is low, looking for a number in the telephone book. The book fell with Anderson and was on the roof near him. He probably became dizzy, lost his balance and fell through the window, which was wide open.

Thomas said that he had just been talking to Anderson and had come back to his own room to give some dictation to his stenographer.

Anderson was about 30 years of age and leaves a widow. He was a graduate of the University of Michigan.

DANIELS READY FOR PROBE OF NAVAL AFFAIRS

Washington, Dec. 17.—Plans for the proposed inquiry into the navy's activities were begun today at a preliminary meeting of a house naval subcommittee entrusted with the work of starting their investigation.

Secretary Daniels has approved the purpose of the inquiry and declared that the more congress learns of the navy overseas and at home the better congress will be satisfied.

STRANGE

As through this old world a philosopher roams, He finds many things quite unfair: While horses have hair, they have not any comb.

When the women of Butte first started knitting they devoted their efforts to complete outfits for the soldiers and jacks. Recently, however, they centered their efforts on individual articles, it having come to their attention through the war and navy departments that, while some soldiers and jacks are in need of helmets, others require sweaters. In very few cases do Uncle Sam's boys require complete outfits.

Millions of women in the United States are busily engaged in this patriotic work. Articles are distributed to soldiers and sailors as fast as collected by the supply departments.

OFFICERS ARRIVE AT CAMP LEWIS

First Shipment of Christmas Presents Distributed to Soldiers.

Camp Lewis, Tacoma, Wash., Dec. 17.—Five hundred and forty officers have arrived at Camp Lewis to date from all points of the United States and more are still coming in.

The 262nd infantry is planning a big "stunt" night in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium, Camp Lewis, Friday evening. Lieut. W. A. Russell, who carried off the recent smoker in the Knights of Columbus hall so successfully, will have charge.

H. M. Strickler, Y. M. C. A. camp athletic director at Camp Lewis, left the hospital today for the first time since Thanksgiving day. He is recovering from a broken right arm received in an automobile accident.

The first shipment of Christmas presents for men at Camp Lewis, distributed by the Y. M. C. A., was received today. It aggregates 1,000 pounds of magazines, fruits, candies, garments, boots, etc. One of the big aims of the Y. M. C. A. in distributing general gifts is to select men who are not liable to receive gifts from outside and to see they are remembered. Capt. T. G. Cook, camp athletic director of Camp Lewis, has received assurances from Washington, D. C., that permission will be granted for the erection of athletic buildings at Camp Lewis.

A formal note of approval is expected in a day or two. The plan is to erect buildings 22 by 300 feet in dimensions to be used as gyms having full equipment for the playing of indoor games during the rainy season. It is suggested each state which has sent men to Camp Lewis furnish funds for the erection of one building at least. Montana has already given assurance she will erect one. The buildings cost $19,999 each. Athletic officers at the camp feel the buildings are necessary to the morale and good spirits of the men.

MEXICAN SOLDIERS FIRE UPON AMERICAN PATROL

One Cavalry Horse is Killed. No U. S. Soldiers Are Hit.

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 17.—Mexican federal soldiers fired on an American cavalry patrol which accidentally crossed the border on the "island" near Fabens, Tex., late yesterday, killing one cavalry horse and wounding another. The American soldiers returned the fire and one Mexican soldier was seen to fall from his horse. No Americans were hit.

The firing was reported to division headquarters here today and an investigation ordered. Fabens is 32 miles southeast of El Paso and the "island" is a large tract of land formed by a bend in the river on which the boundary line is not clearly defined.
