DISASTER SWEEPS THE GREAT LAKES

Three Vessels Lost and Fourth Craft Found Deseried—Crew of Seven Lost.

200 ARE KILLED IN SOUTH

Appalling Loss of Life as Result of Terrible Storm—Property Loss Many Millions.

Detroit, May 4.—Three vessels lost, one of them with her crew of seven men, and a fourth craft found floating deserted on Lake Michigan, with the fate of her crew unknown, is the day's summary of disaster from storm and ice on the Great Lakes.

On the rocky shores of Huron Island and the schooner George Nester of Detroit was torn to pieces by the gale that swept over Lake Superior. All of her crew of seven were lost.

Goes to the Bottom.

On Lake Huron, lashed by the same gale, the package freighter Russia of Port Huron succumbed to the waves after her cargo had shifted, and went to the bottom. The Russia's crew of twenty-two men succeeded in safely putting off in their small boats and escaping.

On Lake Michigan the Ann Arbor railway car ferry No. 1 picked up, nineteen miles south of Fox Island, the big steel lighter Batavia, deserted by her crew and with no positive evidence as to whether they perished or were taken off the lighter of the steamer which is believed to have been towing her.

Face Great Perils.

To these fresh stories of marine disaster with the arrival at Sault Ste. Marie of the crew of the steamer Auraria, there was added the first story of how the Auraria was crushed by the ice and sank, and how the crew made a perilous way over nearly four miles of ice floe to the steamer J. H. Bartow.

Few days in the history of navigation on the inland lakes have brought such tales of death and disaster.
