HOME WORKMEN.

To the people who are thinking about building: If you contract, don't contract with a man who hires transient labor. Have the contractor work Ekalaka carpenters, so the money will stay here. People have to live and if you contract with some one who works honyokers or transients, how do you expect the carpenters to live and pay what they owe you, ask the contractor whom he is working. If he says some one out of town, turn him down and give your job to the man who will work Ekalaka carpenters. If he is new contractor turn him down hard. There are just as good workmen here as anywhere. Ekalaka men spend their money here and they ought to have the work. Think of this before you contract your work.

The Little Missouri Bank.

CAMP CROOK, SO. DAKOTA.

FIRST—Because it is one of the strongest and best banks in Northwestern South Dakota.

SECOND—Because it is progressive, up-to-date in every respect and aggressive.

THIRD—Because it is managed by men ripe in banking experience, who have stood the test and "made good".

FOURTH—Because your business, be it large or small, is appreciated and held in strict confidence.

FIFTH—Because it is always in funds to loan on good security at reasonable rates.

SIXTH—Because its condition is healthy and if you be a depositor your money is always ready and cheerfully paid over to you.
