It is reported that one of the fastidious newly married ladies in this territory kneads bread with her gloves on. This incident may sound somewhat peculiar, but there are others. The editor of the "bird" needs bread with his shoes on, he needs bread with his shirt on, he needs bread with his pants on, and unless he gets some more subscribers to this "old rag of freedom" before long he will need bread without a d—m thing on and old Montana isn't any garden of Eden in the winter time either.

Be a booster. You will have more friends and the world will treat you better. Boost your own town, the people and the business enterprises. Don't be afraid to tell the advantages of residing in Ekalaka and the country. When you here of anyone regarding this as a little "jerk-water" town just tell him that he is mistaken and then show him that Ekalaka has:-

Two good general merchandise stores,
One exclusive hardware store.
One confectionery and notion store,
Two banks,
Two good hotels,
One rooming house.
Two livery barns,
One blacksmith shop,
One paint shop.
Two saloons,
One barber shop,
Two good doctors,
One up-to-date dentist.
A good church,
An $8,550 new school building in course of construction.
Three lodges,
A photograph gallery,
Three different telephone lines,
A large I. O. O. F. hall,
A U. S. Commissioner,
One live newspaper.

and
A set of the best people in the world.

And if this don't convince him to the contrary show him the road home. In telling him about the country just mention that over 90 bushels of oats to the acre were raised here this year. Bury your hammer. Anyone can be a booster.

BELIEVING that a bank should render the same service every one like no matter what may be their position in life we have tried to impress on our depositors that this is a bank for all the people. That its success is built on a foundation of satisfied customers, gained through an endeavor to be courteous, accurate and prompt in every transaction. That its assets are distributed in the most useful channeling for the needs of stockmen and farmer and other legitimate business enterprises and facilitating the the financial affairs of individuals.

These are the services which should appeal to any one opening a bank account or one who is thinking of making a change in his banking connections.
