

DEMOCRATS LINE-UP

Precinct Vacancies Filled And Wilson Clubs Urged.

The Fallon county democrats in session at the mass meeting Monday transacted considerable business pertaining to the county organization. Vacancies in all precincts where no committeemen had been elected were filled and resolutions adopted. A large number of party supporters attended the meeting regardless of the sudden change in the weather and the general discussion amongst them will tend to inject added enthusiasm for the party's success this fall. C. J. Dousman of Baker presided as temporary chairman over the meeting, in the absence of George Dougherty who is still at the hospital at Miles City. Judge Daniel O'Hern of the Seventeenth Judicial District was present and gave a very interesting talk on the election laws and the duties of the voter. A suggestion for the organization of Wilson Clubs in the different precincts made by Judge O'Hern was favorably received and it is expected that within a short time this method of increasing the party strength throughout Fallon county will have been taken. It was decided that the present chairman and secretary of the central committee hold over in office until a meeting at some later date.

"Tex" Taylor Goes Over.

"Tex" Taylor who was arrested here about a month ago on a charge of assaulting an officer appeared before Judge O'Hern this week and received an indeterminate sentence of from one to three years. He was released on parole however on the condition that he behave himself. Freedom from the confinement of the county jail proved to much for Tex and he proceeded to celebrate and get himself pinched for being drunk and disorderly. The court immediately ordered him sent to Deer Lodge for the full term of his original sentence.

Band to Re-organize.

Local musicians have been agitating the reorganization of the Ekalaka Band the past week and we predict that it won't be long before the boys commence regular practice again. It has been found that some sixteen eligible members still reside here, which after a little work should be able to again render concerts weekly for the enjoyment of our citizens. The band treasury is somewhat short of funds but after the boys get together local boosters assure that the "where-with-all" will be forthcoming. All those having any property belonging to the former band in the way of instruments, music etc. are asked to notify this office, so that it can be ascertained what supplies are needed to insure the success of the new organization.

Yours truly,
R. B. LOWRY.

Parties once registering under the laws of the state need not re-register unless they fail to vote at any general election or removing from one precinct to another.

The Woolly West.

Those of you who have come to believe Montana as having passed from that wild and woolly stage of a few years ago should not overstretch yourselves in passing remarks along that line, especially if we are to accept eastern press reports to the contrary, such as the following "western dispatch" which recently appeared in the Binghamton, N. Y. papers:—

"In the beautiful little village of Cow Creek, 40 miles from Malta, the proprietor of a boarding-house was shot by an admirer of his wife at a town dance. They stopped the dance for a moment, carted the body outside and started dancing again.

"In the meantime the authorities of Blaine county swooped down upon the hall, but refused to act on the ground that the hall was situated in Phillips county. Then came the sheriff of Phillips county, who arrested all of the 34 dancers and sent for surveyors to run the boundary line between the two counties to find out who was responsible.

"For four days and nights the surveyors worked. For four days and nights the dance continued. The sheriff danced with the woman over whom the murder had been done. The woman danced with the man who killed her husband. A steer was killed and there was plenty to eat, folks took turns at sleeping on the floor.

"In the meantime the fiddlers grew tired and the body of the murderer in an outhouse froze stiff. But everybody had a good time. At the end of the fourth day the surveyors announced that the hall was right square on top of the county line and they didn't know where the murder happened.

"The Blaine County Leader printed this editorial comment: 'Neither Phillips nor Blaine county want murder trial. The shooter doesn't want to be tried at all; and the shootee doesn't care a whoop about the murder. So why all the fuss?'
