VOL. VI. NO. 17

CUT BANK, TETON COUNTY, MONTANA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1915

Two Dollars Per Year

Finest Stock Region in West

Northwestern Corner of Teton Has Unlimited Opportunities.

The upper Cut Bank and Milk River valleys are the finest stock Regions in the West today. No one will dispute this statement who has traversed these great dominions where "every prospect pleases" and like unto the days of Abraham one sees cattle on a thousand hills.

The writer had the greatly appreciated privilege of traversing this part of the boundless Blackfoot last week. Such a trip is a pleasant revelation of the almost unlimited opportunities to be found in the northwestern corner of Teton county and a trip over its silent hills and fertile grassy valleys, studded generously with lakes creeks and rivulets gives one a broader perspective and a deeper appreciation of the future possibilities now in the main lying dormant in that rich and scenic section.

A particularly attractive and well designed ranch home is that of B. W. Buck on the south fork of Milk river. Mr. Buck's building plans impressed one as being the result of much thought and everything about the place is in the finest order. About a thousand head of fat cattle, from registered stock to the familiar western mixed type are to be seen along the sunny slopes of the storied Milk River.

The ranch of Jack Galbreath on the north fork is one of the prettiest in that region, with the best modern buildings. The ranches of George and A. E. Paisley on the upper St. Mary's are by far the best in that part of the big reserve. The senior Paisley is building a barn at present that is probably the largest in Teton county. The immense structure is being erected almost wholly of logs. This barn, together with the fine residence and other buildings will be lighted with electricity, from power developed by means of a dam on the St. Marys. The Paisleys have one of the finest stock ranches we have ever seen.

Wild geese, ducks, chickens and deer have a haven in this region and seem to go practically unmolested. The good people of that section are more considerate of the perpetuation of the wild creatures than the people in more densely populated regions and the tameness

North Headlight

Ray Hull is hauling grain for H. J. Phillips this week.

The Robinet threshing outfit pulled into the North Headlight district last Sunday.

The fine macaroni wheat of F. Pierce on the farm of Mrs. J. Scott yielded 45 bushels per acre.

Orlie Hopfe who has been working on the Clapper outfit, spent a day in Headlight before returning to his home in Pleasant Valley.

The Clapper outfit last week made a fine record for swift threshing when they threshed out 1650 bushels of oats in 2 hours and 50 minutes on the Langabeer ranch. The oats yielded 91 bushels per acre.

The Market:

The grain market was strong all week and prices at local elevators yesterday showed a substantial gain over the same day a week ago.

The prices today:

Spring Wheat	78

of geese, ducks and prairie hens is surprising.

We discussed the question of the Reservation and while we found a wide diversity of opinion as to the best methods to be pursued, all seem to favor an early opening and the granting of rights and privileges now denied. The consensus of opinion is that the Blackfoot will be opened to settlement some time next year.

Markets Open for Million Dollars Montana Farm Loan Bonds

A. D. Stillman Disposes of One Hundred Thousand Dollars Worth to Women of Woodcraft. Wants More Co-operation.

To find the first purchaser for our Montana Farm Loan Bonds I went to the largest single line of investors whose business was founded and is maintained on "co-operation" the same business principle for which we are striving.

Not only is co-operation "their foundation and their superstructure" from a strictly business standpoint but most of them have builded thru fraternity, that inborn spirit of helpfulness and sympathy for others.

It is as true and certain as any of the other great laws of nature that we help ourselves when we help others.

On the two corner stones "Fraternity" and "Co-operation" the fraternal life societies in the United States have accumulated reserves that aggregate more than a quarter of a billion dollars.

I recognize a few of these whose head officers are possessed of imagination, who have a clarity of vision that sees beyond the merely selfish and sordid things of life. The first to whom I explained these Montana Farm Loan Bonds and their character was Mrs. Carrie C. Van Ordsall, Chief Executive of the Women of Woodcraft. "Yes," she said, "the law is wise and far sighted and the bonds are beyond question good, and for that investment are better than those where litigation or any inability to collect the taxes or assessments may cause delay or default. But, are they bonds in which our reserve can be invested under our constitution? Our investments are limited to State, County, City, School and certain other classes of municipal bonds."

So she put the question up to the lawyers and they confirmed her judgment that these Montana Farm Loan Bonds are State Bonds within the meaning of that clause of their constitution. She had then only to determine what amount she had for investment in these bonds and she promptly subscribed for three blocks, $50,000 for November, $25,000 for January and $25,000 for February. And I had that field open. It needs only that the merits of these bonds and the time of their issuance be exhibited to the fraternal investors.

Other avenues must be opened up. There is a much larger sum than a quarter of a billion dollars in these nine western states alone in sinking funds, trust funds, surplus lodge funds and the like available for investment in these farm loan bonds.

Will the fond Daddies of Montana; Farmers, Lawyers, Doctors, Merchants, and Miners; provide surely and safely for the future of the little Kiddie? And at the same time help develop and improve Montana farms? The Women of Woodcraft have a cinch on only $50,000 of Series Number ONE. The Daddies of Montana, if they are quick enough, can give the Kiddies a bond in series ONE. Come on fellow Daddies.

I am going to have Bond No. 100 in Series No. ONE for my kid if I can get it. That is one of six that will mature in 25 1-2 years. You have a wide range of maturities to choose from, ranging from six months to 25 1-2 years from date.

A $500 bond will amount to $1693 in 25 years, to $1326.50 in 20 years and to $814.15 in ten years. A $50 unit will be just one tenth as much.

Write to the State Treasurer for a copy of the law and amortization table.

(Signed) A. D. Stillman.

Browning Items

Our roller "skeeters" are now doing the side swipes, high kicks and headers.

We feel sharp here now since we had the use of a Whetstone from Cut Bank last week.

Jim Stone and wife were here last week on their way back from a visit to friends in Idaho.

The Dance and box social given in the interest of the public school fund was quite successful.

The benefit dance given on behalf of Lee L. Loomis, whose house was recently burned, was a grand success.

Our public school basketball team is getting its muscle up, and it is now looking around, seeking whom it may devour.

Although the seating capacity of our public school has been doubled, we are still shy of room, and an additional building is under contemplation.

The ladies basket club met lately at the Presbyterian Manse, when a good start was made for the work and enjoyment of the winter months.

The Commercial Club met recently and plans were discussed for the future improvement of our town, morally, socially and materially.

Rev. Geo. W. Young, D. D., of Louisville, Kentucky, gave a splendid temperance lecture at the Presbyterian church to a good audience last week.

Our Nimrods, John Merchant, Charlie Newhaus, Pete Gokey, Dr. Stauffer, Lee Loomis and Oscar Boyd, have taken pity on the wild game and quit for the season.

in His Name!

Remember the words of the prophet Isaiah: "The children that adhere to the Lord to worship Him, to love His Name and to be His servants—every one that keepeth My sabbath from profaning it—I will bring them to My Holy Mount, and will make them joyful in My house of prayer. For My house shall be called a house of prayer for all nations." Isaiah, LVI: 6-7.

Hence, we call upon our fellow-citizens of Cut Bank, Protestant and Catholic, to assemble in their respective churches on Sunday, November 21, and make this day long to be remembered for joy and fellowship.

Very respectfully,
Rev. R. G. Greven
Rev. Alex. Pringle.

"GO TO CHURCH" SUNDAY

Following the custom of many of our largest cities and towns we call upon the good citizens of Cut Bank and neighborhood to observe Sunday, Nov. 21st as "Go to Church Sunday."

In the communities where the day has been observed all denominations have co-operated heartily, with the assistance of the public press, to make the day a success.

It is a sad and distressing sight to see the people drift away from religion. For religion in whatever form it appears tends to bring man nearer to his Creator. Lack of religion necessarily causes decline of morality, and decline of morality means the unbridling of passions. It manifests itself in breaking of laws: divine laws, natural laws, the laws of the land. The man that asserts to be honest and moral, because he can not afford to be otherwise, will be dishonest and immoral as soon as he can afford it.

The violation of the Sunday is either cause or result of the decline of religion. But it is a sure sign of that decline. First work, then amusement, finally sloth is sufficient cause of not going to church. Catholics are under absolute obligation to sanctify the Lord's day and to attend Church on that day. But also protestants, who understand their religion, know it to be a most serious duty. And nobody should forget the advantages derived from attending the regular services on Sunday.

First: In participating in public worship you edify your neighbor and you are edified by him in return. You stimulate one another to piety and a spirit of holy enthusiasm and emulation is aroused among you. There will be a unanimous zeal to go to church.

Second: The whole week is occupied by temporal needs and wants. But you need thousand things for your soul. And even in regard of your temporal needs, do not forget that "every good and perfect gift is from above." In the Church you are away from the numberless cares that rush upon you at home.

Third: In united prayer there is invincible strength. Christ declared that "where two or three are gathered in my name, I am there in the midst of them." How much more marked will be His presence where a large congregation is assembled
