A Match For "Tad."
T. A. Dorgan, the cartoonist, was trying to hire a chauffeur the other day and went about it in his usually breezy style. When the first applicant appeared Tad said, "Of course I want a man who can speak French, play pinochle, curry a horse and make a cocktail."

"Well, I can do 'em all and still have a few tricks up my sleeve," said the chauffeur, with becoming modesty. Tad looked him over and then said suddenly: "I don't know. When I lamp your face and see your horn painted up that way it strikes me that you are a hard drinker, and I don't want any hard drinkers driving a car for me and running me over some picturesque cliff."

"You are wrong," said the driver. "I am not a hard drinker. It comes easy to me."—Cartoons Magazine.

The Larger Life.
Oh, may I join the choir invisible of those immortal dead who live again in minds made better by their presence; live in deeds stirred to generosity, in deeds of daring rectitude, in scorn for miserable aims that end with self, in thoughts sublime that pierce the night like stars, and with their mild persistence urge man's search to vaster issues.

His Heavy Voice.
Some time ago the guests at a reception were discussing the relative merits of several songsters, when one of the party turned to a man named Brown. "By the way, Brown," said he, "you are something of a singer, are you not?"

Both Stung.
Some time ago an eminent London physician requested an equally eminent surgeon to accompany him to see a distinguished but slippery patient. The patient was exceedingly polite to both the medical gentlemen, shaking hands with them and bowing them out of the room in the most affable manner. Soon after this professional visit the same physician called again on the surgeon, requesting him to accompany him to see another patient. On their way thither the surgeon observed, "I hope this patient will behave more liberally than the last did."

Quick Story Telling.
Mrs. Bernhardt is fond of relating a very funny experience she had during her early days as an actress with an actor who was something of a wit and who was addicted to "gagging."

The Daughter Understood.
Once upon a time a fond mother disapproved of her daughter marrying. This was the more awkward because the young lady had picked the young man out. Also he had wealth. And the mother, who was widowed, had not the wherewithal to furnish her daughter with the variety of frocks and things which her youthful heart craved.

A Perfect Program.
This one has the merit of being true, anyhow: The official pessimist of a small city, a gentleman who had wrestled with chronic dyspepsia for years, stood in front of the postoffice as the noon whistle sounded.

DECLINED WITH THANKS.

All invitations were alike to the Dignified Young Man. "A very dignified young man took a seat in a smoking car," said the hostess, who joined in the after dinner story telling. "Near him were three traveling salesmen, well dressed, jolly fellows, one of whom suggested a game of cards, and the others agreed. They appealed to the young man to take part and make up a four handed game."

"Thank you; I never play cards," came the response to the invitation. "I am sorry for that. Will you have a cigar with us?" added the spokesman, producing his case. "I am obliged to you, but I never smoke," replied the dignified young man. "They thought they would jolly the young fellow out of dignity, so the

Act Quickly
Delay Has Been Dangerous in Cut Bank.
Do the right thing at the right time. Act quickly in time of danger. In time of kidney danger Doan's Kidney Pills are most effective. Plenty of evidence of their worth. Mrs. D. F. McClelland, 241 E. Railroad St., Missoula, Mont., says: "For several years I had kidney trouble and everything I tried failed to help me. My kidneys acted too freely and lumbago played havoc with my back. The kidney secretions were distressing in passage and my whole system was affected. Doan's Kidney Pills brought relief from the first, seven boxes curing me. (Statement given December 18, 1907.)"
