

LYNCH THE ANARCHISTS

THREE CHICAGO MEN CALL UPON CITIZENS TO WIFE OUT THE VIPERS.

GENERAL FEELING IS WITH THEM

Want Ten Thousand Men to Meet Them at the County Jail to Take Summary Vengeance on Emma Goldman and the Other Anarchist Prisoners — Police Confident That There Will Be No Trouble.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—"If the death of President McKinley is confirmed by 10 o'clock Saturday morning we want 10,000 good American citizens to meet us at above named hour at the Cook county jail at the Michigan street entrance, to help hang every anarchist now confined in Cook county jail, and Emma Goldman, wherever she can be found."

—Charles Weinland,
555 West Monroe street.
—John Irving Pearce, Jr.,
Sherman house.
—Edward Myers,
248 Dearborn avenue."

This startling appeal was circulated throughout the city and sent to the newspaper offices last night. The three men who sign the proclamation calling on Chicago to take the initiative in ridding the country of anarchists and asking its citizens to summarily take the law in their own hands, declare that they did not issue it in a spirit of bravado, but with the sober expectation that it will meet with a response. Each avers that he would Willingly Lead an Avenging Mob.

"There are times when the people should take the law into their own hands, and when codes and precedents are not sufficient," said J. Irving Pearce, Jr., of the Sherman house.

"The present is one of those times. We want an expression of the wishes of the people, and offer them an opportunity to make demonstrations. Anarchy should be met by its own weapons. Emma Goldman, the arch-conspirator is the person whom we especially wish to secure and give her a taste of the beheading which she advocates.

"I have seen three presidents assassinated in my time," said Charles Weinland, who is a real estate dealer and for forty years has voted the Democratic ticket. Tears stood in the old man's eyes as he talked. "I have never been a soldier, just a plain citizen, but I love my country and it to hear of the crime against the president. Just because it is a free country these men think they will be protected in committing any crime.

"I carried a musket to defend the Union in 1861, and I will carry a rope to defend it to-day and avenge the death of our president," said Edward Myers. "Men know no reason in a time like this. There is a limit to the patience of the American people. I will be one of those to lead the mob and see that quick justice is done."

"I look for no trouble," said Chief of Police O'Neil, "and I am positive there will be none in Chicago. It comes I am safe in saying that the prisoners will be protected. At the same time I can sympathize with any one who is inclined to avenge the president. There will be no trouble here, the country may be sure of that. It may be necessary, however, to keep them all locked up until after the president's funeral, if he should die. It would be murder to turn them loose unless in the most secret manner."

TORRANCE IS COMMANDER.

Minneapolis Man Is Chosen on the First Ballot.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 15.—The convention of the thirty-fifth annual encampment of the Grand Army came to a close yesterday amid the silence and gloom of impending death.

News of the grave condition of the president cast a shadow over the proceedings. Gen. Daniel E. Sickles of New York withdrew his name as a candidate for commander-in-chief before the nominations were made. Comrade A. E. Ayers of Detroit moved the nomination of Gen. J. E. Stewart of Pennsylvania. Gen. Gobin seconding. Gov. Van Sant of Minnesota placed Judge E. A. Torrance in nomination. The Torrance vote stood 476 to Stewart's 230, when Gen. Wagner moved that the vote be made unanimous in favor of Torrance. The motion was carried. Other officers elected were: Senior vice commander, John McElroy, Washington, D. C.; junior vice commander, James O'Donnell of Illinois; surgeon general, Dr. W. R. Thrall, Cincinnati; chaplain-in-chief, Rev. L. M. Boyle, Pennsylvania.

IN A STATE OF FERMENT.

Crowd Driven Back From the Jail Where Czolgosz Is Confined.

Buffalo, Sept. 15.—The city, not only in those parts near the Milburn house, but all over and even out in the exposition grounds, went into a state of ferment when the news of the sudden collapse of the president was announced. The ill news of the early day had been somewhat softened by the later afternoon announcement that there was a slight improvement, and the sudden announcement of approaching dissolution came as a great surprise.

At the Pan-American grounds it was announced that he was dead and the majority of the immense crowd turned toward the city. In the city itself the papers refrained from any anticipation, but made it understood that there was no hope. It seemed but an instant when crowds formed at every corner, swarmed towards the newspaper bulletins and when they found that the rumors were confirmed, somebody shouted

"Let's Find the Assassin!"

With one impulse the crowd started for the station house where Czolgosz is confined. Telephones were utilized and the police notified and when the crowd arrived they found the police out in force. Supt. Bull, anticipating trouble, called out the entire force and in addition asked fourth brigade headquarters to be in readiness to assist. Col. Welch, in charge, answered by ordering two companies each from the Sixty-fifth and Seventy-fourth regiments to their armories to await immediate call. Around the station house at 8 o'clock it was estimated that at least 6,000 people were gathered. They were not particularly ugly, and when the police proceeded to drive them back there was little resistance.

RED RAG WAVED.

An Incident Tending to Show That Czolgosz Had Accomplished.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 15.—An incident previous to the attempt of Czolgosz to assassinate President McKinley came to light here to-day, and tends to show the would-be assassin had accomplices. Miss Mary Simons, a daughter of W. H. Simons, a prominent citizen of Warsaw, has returned from Buffalo, and states that she voluntarily appeared before District Attorney Penny, through the advice of friends in Buffalo. She said:

"Although I was not in the Temple of Music when the president was shot, I was within hearing distance when he made his speech the day previous. I noticed a red flag, about two feet in diameter, wave in the crowd several times and then disappear. I paid no particular attention to it. The following day, after the president was shot, I recalled the incident, and became convinced that it was a signal to Czolgosz from a confederate."

Miss Simons related to District Attorney Penny her story, which was corroborated by her sister and a Miss Myers, both of whom saw the red flag. The authorities attached some significance to her statement is shown by the fact that she was told not to mention the incident to newspaper reporters at Buffalo.

SILENT GRIEF.

New Yorkers Spend the Day in Comparative Quiet.

New York, Sept. 15.—This city manifested its grief at the tidings from Buffalo concerning the hopeless condition of President McKinley's case by eagerly seeking for the latest news. Of excitement there was none for the city was prepared for the worst. Large numbers of people scanned the bulletin boards of the newspaper offices, waiting for the announcement of the president's death, but the crowd was not dense, and no expressions but those of sorrow were heard as the succeeding bulletins told of the hopeless fight for life.

If threats were made against anarchists they were not in loud or angry tones. There was no gathering whatever near the Tombs, where Herr Most is being kept in solitary confinement.

All the Broadway playhouse managers started their performances, but stood ready to stop the plays on hearing the news of the president's death. Their announced intention was to stop the play immediately, no matter if an act were on or not, after announcing to the audience the news.

The services in all the Jewish synagogues which marked the eve of the Jewish New Year, were turned from one of rejoicing to one of grief. Special extempore prayers were offered by the rabbis for the president and his wife, and during their delivery the large congregations of worshippers manifested deep emotion.

PROTECTION FOR THE PRESIDENT.

Law Making an Assault Upon Chief Executive Punishable by Death.

Washington, Sept. 15.—Messrs. Botkin and Bynum, members of the commission to revise and codify the criminal and penal laws of the United States, since the attempt upon the life of the president have been investigating the authorities with a view to the preparation of a law making an assault upon the president with intent to murder cognizable in the courts of the United States and punishable by death. They have prepared a draft of a bill to be submitted to congress, making assault upon the president a felony and punishable by death, when the assault is for the purpose of obstructing the operations of government. It is believed that this qualification will have the effect of giving the federal courts jurisdiction in such cases.

CZOLGOSZ IS STRUNG UP.

Children Vent Spite on Assassin's Effigy.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Czolgosz was hanged in effigy at Oak and Larrabee streets this noon by a number of children. More than 500 persons collected and the Larrabee street electric cars were delayed for some time. The effigy consisted of a straw man, on which was the placard:

"Czolgosz, Anarchist."

This was hung by a rope around its neck from a trolley wire in Larrabee street. The cars could not pass while the effigy hung from the wire and the shouts of the children collected a crowd. Officer Johnson was called and cut the object down. At the approach of the officer the children ran away. After it was cut down the cars were and the crowd dispersed.

To My Many Friends—I am pleased to make a report to you of the pleasant visit my wife and I had in Western Canada.

We visited the territories of Alberta, Assiniboia, and Saskatchewan, and found them far surpassing our imagination, but little did I expect to find such rich, loamy soil, so much of it, and so uniform in its level prairie lay. I do think the soil of Canada as a rule equals if not excels the finest prairie farm lands of Indiana. These lands are immense in their richness, and when once the sod is rotted and pulverized, it is as pliable and as easily cultivated as Indiana sandy soil.

Western Canada, from my point of view, offers as fine opportunities for mixed farming as any place in my knowledge. The long, sunny days, together with the rich soil, produce very fine wheat, oats, barley, flax and other cereal products. There is scarcely any attempt to raise corn, except early varieties for table use. The season is too short to depend upon maturing field corn. From the standpoint of getting this land ready for the plow, I must say that I never saw such a vast extent, practically all ready so all that one has to do is to hitch up the plow and go to work. This is not the case with all the Canadian land, however; some of it has quite a bit of timber, much of it may be called brush land, and some of it has lovely forest groves, dotted here and there, thereby covering a hundred and sixty acres.

I have no doubt but that this country excels as a grazing or ranching country, because they have such rich grass, having an abundance of rain to keep it fresh. They also have plenty of water streams, and as a rule water may be reached at a depth of from 20 to 40 feet. From this you can see there can be plenty of hay mown for winter feeding, and I have had reliable farmers to tell me that their stock will feed on hay alone, and be ready for market in the spring. Upon inquiring about the expense of raising a steer, a farmer replied that he did not consider it would cost any more than $4 or $6 to develop a three-year-old steer.

I truly think Canada offers a fine opening for a young man or a man who is renting land in Indiana. One hundred and sixty acres of good black land will cost you only $10 at the time you enter it, and by plowing and cultivating five acres each year for three years, gives you one hundred and sixty acres of good land for $10. This land can be bought from the railroad companies, private corporations or the government for $3 to $4 per acre.

From a financial standpoint, I believe that for a series of years (five) a young man can make $10 in Canada, whereas he would only make $1 here, and I feel sure that I spent more money to get my eighty acre farm in White county, Indiana, cultivated than it would cost me to cultivate eight hundred acres in Canada. This may seem a strong view to take of the matter, but when you take into consideration the clearing, ditching, fencing and the expensive breaking in of the stumps, and then compare the expense to that of land needing only the breaking, you will conclude that it is not such a wild or exaggerated statement as you might at first think.

I enjoyed the balmy, breezy atmosphere, which was bracing and refreshing, and the cool nights which made it so pleasant for sleep.

On making inquiries regarding the winters in this country, I learned that the people never suffer from the cold, as the weather is dry and invigorating, and in a great many places farmers and herders allow their stock to run outside the year round.

One great advantage to the settlers in Western Canada is the free creameries established by the government and run exclusively in the interest of the farmer.

I visited Thomas Daley, a farmer near Edmonton, Alberta, who showed me oats he had raised, some of which took the first prize at the Paris Exposition last year. The same yielded 110 bushels to the acre in 1899.

Yours truly,
