Mr. Thompson hails from Reservation creek.

Jerry Thompson came in the first of the week for supplies.

Henry Grierson from Pease Bottom country was in Forsyth Monday.

Price Terrett from Otter creek came in the first of the week to deliver a bunch of horses.

The coal man is wearing a broad smile of satisfaction these days. This is where he gets his inning.

J. B. Grierson returned the first of the week from Crow Agency where he had been assessing property.

Best grade of lignite coal now on the market. Only $3.75 per ton. Leave orders at Katzenstein's.

Our spring weather man stole a "march" on us the early part of the week and left old Boreas in command.

All these having pelts, skins or furs for sale will receive the highest cash price for same from S. H. Erwin.

Andrew Hullinger, a north side ranchman, was in town looking after affairs of business the first of the week.

Miss Jessie Taber, accompanied by her father, C. B. Taber returned Tuesday to Miles City where she is attending school.

Owing to a severe storm in the eastern part of the state, all eastbound trains for several days have been many hours late.

Merchants and others desiring grain in carload lots are requested to communicate with S. H. Erwin.

Mrs. James McGraw from the north side and Miss E. Gertrude Markes, who teaches in the Hammond district were in Forsyth last Saturday.

If you want your tin work and plumbing done in workmanship like manner call on J. W. Selvidge, the old reliable. He'll do it right.

Justice C. R. Dick is improving the appearance of his residence property in the west part of town by digging a cellar and placing a foundation under the house. The work has been progressing nicely during the past week.

The Charity Ball to be given by the Eagles on Friday evening of this week in the Marcyes block, promises to be a very large and swell affair. The Eagles understand managing an affair of this kind. Every thing bids fair to be a great success.

Optical work done at home by resident optician. Dean is an experienced and graduate optician. His lenses are ground by experts who do nothing else. All work guaranteed.

John Hay, a merchant tailor formerly of Lincoln, Neb., opened up a tailor shop in the rear of the Longley building on Wednesday, March 14. Suits made to measure, also clothes cleaned, pressed and repaired.

Master Everett Keeler, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Keeler, had the misfortune to fall last Sunday and break his arm just above the elbow. The little lad had placed his saddle on a chair and in riding his improvised steed met with the accident.

Attorney F. V. H. Collins, who for the past few weeks has been confined to the house more or less suffering from painful attacks of rheumatism, expects to leave the latter part of this week for Hunter's Hot Springs. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Collins.

Mrs. Waddell gave her spring millinery opening last Saturday afternoon at her millinery parlors in the Odd Fellows block. She is showing a full line of stylish street and dress hats. Every Forsyth lady can most surely find something to her liking in Mrs. Waddell's display.

The worst blizzard of the year visited this section of the country the early part of the week. In addition to a piercing wind, the mercury dropped to an uncomfortably low point. Solicitation was shown on the part of the stockmen, but no great damage to the stock was experienced.

The Livingston Enterprise in a recent write up of the school exhibit at that place makes the following mention of the work done by Miss Carrie

Casselman, now a teacher in the Livingston schools, and formerly a well known Forsyth teacher: The painting and designing in water colors

How about that base ball team for Forsyth this summer? The spring time is now at hand and the spirit of the baseball enthusiast should show itself. Start the ball rolling and we'll do all we can to help it along. With a land rush and an initial county fair for Rosebud—we need the ball club to make things complete.

The Forsyth study club met Tuesday evening with Mrs. Thos. Alexander and after the transaction of regular business the regular program was given. Roll call was answered by quotations from Milton. Mrs. Taber read a paper on Paradise Lost and Mrs. Coleman conducted the current event discussion. Miss Ross gave a vocal solo.

The N. P. depot has been wired and electric light fixtures placed thru out for lighting it. There will be four 32-candle power lights placed on the outside for illuminating the platform and vicinity, and eleven 16-candle power lights throughout the waiting rooms. The night employes at the depot greet this much needed change with delight and the town people are glad to see our little city assume a more metropolitan air to the travelers passing through.

The cold weather of the past week has put a stop to the work on the building projects in Forsyth. Work on the Alexander hall was being pushed, owing to the fact that it will be needed for entertainments, which are to be given in the near future, but so long as the present cold weather continues nothing can be accomplished. Prospective builders and those who have their plans well under way of construction will be glad to see approaching signs of spring. There will be a great deal of building going on this summer in Forsyth and when the prospective home seeker lands in our little town he will see landmarks of prosperity that will lead him to believe that this is a good place to dwell.

are also deserving of special credit. Miss Carrie Casselman who has been supervising the drawing and painting in all the grades this year is entitled to a large share of credit for the work done in that line. The work in all the grades testify to her supervision but in no grade so much perhaps as her own. There the work of the sixth grade pupils is almost past believing so perfect is the work in all its clearness and finish. The same thing can be said of the paintings in the other two grades, the seventh and eight, who have come directly under Miss Casselman's supervision, and who have accomplished more difficult work owing to their advanced grades.

Schoof & Berge have entered the painting and paperhanging business in Forsyth and respectfully solicit a portion of your business. They are agents for the American Wall Paper Co., and are showing the best line of samples in the city.
