

JOHN McCLOSKEY,

First American Member of the Sacred College.

Cardinal-Archbishop McCloskey died at New York in the early morning of October 10, 1885, of exhaustion. The weary wheels of life stood still, because the prelate had used up his resources of vitality. From early boyhood he was a hard worker but accomplished the toll of a prolonged life before lying down to rest. His death is lamented not only by the clergy and laity of his own church, but by the community generally. On the Sunday succeeding it many Protestant ministers took occasion in their public discourses, to praise the dead Cardinal.

John McCloskey was born at Brooklyn, New York, of Irish parents, in the year 1810, March 10. His temperament and disposition as a child marked him out for the studious and religious life. He usually stood at the head of his class while a pupil in an elementary school. In the year 1821 he left home to pursue the higher studies, and by the time when he was ordained for the priesthood, had spent thirteen years at college and the theological seminary, including both. Mount St. Mary's college, Wilmington, and the Catholic seminary, Emmetsburg are the institutions at which he received his higher education. He was ordained a priest January 12, 1834. From 1835 to 1837 he attended lectures in the Georgian University, Rome. Before returning to the United States he spent a year in France. His first pastoral charge was as assistant priest at St. Joseph's church, New York City. He was made rector of the same church six months after receiving his earliest appointment. In 1841 Bishop Hughes nominated him first president of St. John's college, Fordham, New York, but, preferring the pastoral relation, in 1843 he returned to St. Joseph's. On November 21, 1843, he was made the coadjutor of Bishop Hughes. About four months after he was consecrated as such with the title of Bishop of Axiere. When in 1847, the diocese of New York was divided, he was made first Bishop of Albany, and so continued until 1861, when, after the death of Archbishop Hughes, he was promoted to the vacant dignity thus occasioned. His death gives the archiepiscopal position designated to the Right Reverend Michael A. Corrigan, who has been his coadjutor for several years. On March 15, 1875, Archbishop McCloskey was made a member of the Sacred College. The appointment of a successor to him as cardinal rests with the Pope.

During his administration of the responsibilities entrusted to him, Catholicism has made rapid growth in the United States. The erection of St. Patrick's Cathedral New York was largely due to his energy, ability and liberality. Cardinal McCloskey had a fine presence. He was about five feet, ten inches in height, somewhat frail but dignified impressing acquaintances with the intellectual, sustained strength of executive ability and exaltation of religious feeling which characterized him.

Probable Decline in Wool.

New York, October 17.—The Journal of Fabrics and Dry Goods Bulletin to-day prints an elaborate report on the wool situation. Since August 1st prices have advanced 15 to 33 per cent. in domestic wools from the lowest point touched for many years. The qualities chiefly affected were mediums and low grades. The despondency of the wool men in Europe and Australia over the results of the last London sales is very great, especially so in fine wools. Low as the prices ruled before in London sales, they suffered decline as the sales progressed. The principal support to the English market came then from America. A cablegram just received from Australia states that auction sales of the new clip have opened at a decline of from 5 to 10 per cent. With such a tone in the wool centers of the world it is useless to speculate on a continued rise or even the sustainment of the present rise for any long period.

LATER RETURNS.

It is now stated that the new chamber of deputies will comprise 200 conservatives and 384 republicans or radicals. M. Brisson, premier; M. Floquet, president of the chamber of deputies; M. Sodicarnot minister of finance; Duke de Bissocia, Messrs. Andrieux, Rouvier, Cochery, Raynal, Clemencian and Spuller have been re-elected. Thus far 208 republicans and 24 conservatives have been elected. The republicans polled 61,000 votes in Paris and the conservatives 31,000.

As we have more sheep than we can accommodate on our range, we wish to sell a band of about 2,500. Will sell a band of ewes and lambs entire, or straight ewes and wethers, in quantities to suit purchasers. As we have 15,000 sheep on our range to choose from, parties wishing to buy will have no trouble in finding what they require. These sheep shear a heavy fleece of fine medium wool, much sought after by buyers, as our sales of wool for the last three years amply prove. In 1883 our wool was purchased by Healy, at Fort Benton, at 26 1/2 cents per pound. In 1883, at Fort Benton, by Samuel Wilkinson, at 19 cents. These sheep are warranted free from scab and ticks, and all other diseases pertaining to sheep. For further particulars address—
