MONTANA NEWS BRIEFLETS.

A Budget of Readable Short Items From Various Parts of the State.

BUTTE, May 28.—Ed Murphy and John Howard, arrested on the charge of being the men who held up and shot Mrs. C. Rago in her store a few days ago, have been identified by the woman as her assailants. The woman was shot in the thigh, but her condition is not serious.

HELENA, May 28.—The supreme court has affirmed the decision of Judge Bourquin in the suit of the treasurer of Silver Bow county against Cyril Pauwelyn, executor of the estate of James Taub, deceased, and the Roman Catholic bishop of Helena and others, in which Judge Bourquin decreed that taxes amounting to $6,700 were due the treasurer from the defendants.

MISSOULA, May 28.—A. A. Swanson, a railroad track foreman, yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock was run over by the engine of an extra freight train at Bonita, and his head and both feet were severed from his body, which was horribly mangled. Swanson was at Missoula under the influence of liquor Sunday night, and it is thought he fell under the engine or laid down on the track while too drunk or sleepy to know what he was doing.

MILES CITY, May 28.—Lambing is not as fruitful to the sheepgrowers this year as in some others, cold weather reducing the saving to not over a general average of 50 per cent. But if the month of June, which is one of the rainy months, will make as good a record as the month of May, the animals on the range will certainly not want for grass. The normal rainfall here for May is but 2.26 inches while 4.40 inches has already fallen and good grass is assured.

TWIN BRIDGES, May 28.—It is reported that J. B. Welcome, proprietor and owner of the famous Creechly ranch at Waterloo, is about to cut up his land holdings in the Madison valley into 160 acre tracts and will sell them for farms. The big irrigation project in the Madison, on which Mr. Welcome has expended a large sum of money will be completed within a short time and will furnish sufficient water to irrigate all the land he proposes selling as small farms.

Brown was charged in Great Falls with robbing a man of $40 yesterday, and description was telegraphed to Butte. The chief at Great Falls has been notified.

Fortunes in Onions.

LAREDO, Texas, May 28.—The harvesting of this season's Bermuda onion crop in Texas will be pretty well finished by June 1. The shipments from this region are now practically over, but a number of cars are yet to be shipped from more northern points.

Laredo is the center of the Bermuda onion industry in this state. The crop this year was about 1,500 cars of about 25,000 pounds to the car, or a total of 37,000,000 pounds of onions. The shipments of onions from Laredo were more than 500 cars. The total profits to the growers exceed $1,000,000.

Bermuda onion farming has brought more wealth to the people of this border town during the last five years than was derived from all other crops combined during the preceding 100 years. As a matter of fact, there was very little farming or truck growing of any kind done around Laredo until the discovery was made a few years ago that it was an ideal place for raising Bermuda onions.

The largest onion farm in the world is near San Marcos, Texas, it embraces 200 acres and is owned by Col. Ed. Green, a banker of that place. The soil is well suited to onion growing. The harvesting of the crop is just about to begin and it is estimated that the average yield will be 30,000 pounds an acre, or a total of 6,000,000 pounds of onions from this one farm. The crop is said to have already been sold for upward of two cents a pound. This means a revenue of more than $125,000 from this season's crop on the 200 acres.

It is declared that there is nothing in this country that can beat these figures when it comes to the profits of farming. The expense of raising the crop will average about $100 an acre.

THE ARCTIC OUTLETS.

What Would Happen if These Ice Channels Were Closed.

It is well that there are the water gaps between the continents whose headlands form the boundaries of the Arctic ocean. Through Bering strait, Baffin's bay and the huge opening between Greenland and western Europe thousands of cubic miles of ice are annually discharged which if landlocked would long ago have so accumulated as to have impelled cataclysms that would probably have so swept life from the earth that the evolution of man would have been deferred indefinitely into the far future centuries.

Both poles are located with singular adaptation to ease off the otherwise inevitable too great accumulation of local avoidances, which would as surely change the earth's center of gravity as would the hanging of an immense weight at some local point on the periphery of a balance wheel.

It is to this good fortune in present polar locations that the world owes its immunity of cataclysmal inundations and reorganizations which otherwise must have laid down other strata to the mausoleums that mark the resting places of the forms that once sported beneath us.

THE HOTEL CLERK.

According to This View His Lot is Not a Happy One.

Who is the most envied and bedimmed among men? The hotel clerk. Who runs away with our helmses? The hotel clerk. Who gets the straightest tips on the stock market? The hotel clerk. Whose pride goeth not before destruction and whose glory is never dimmed? The hotel clerk's. So runs the accepted catechism.

Now a truth seeker in Chicago rises to say that the average hotel clerk's chance in life is a trifle less than nothing. He can't marry, for he is compelled to live in the hotel, and his wages won't pay his wife's board. Even as a bachelor he finds it hard to save money. When he reaches the age limit—not a high one—he is displaced by a young man.

There are then three things for him. He may become night clerk in a country hotel, a job that he rose from years before; he may be put in charge of a cloakroom and look to tips for most of his pay or he may try to get other work, using up his savings meanwhile, and end his life in the almshouse. Not a cheering conception and practically useless to the humorist.—Collier's Weekly.

KEEP YOURSELF YOUNG

Exercise Every Day Even Though You Steal the Time to Do It.

It is futile to try to lay down general age limits for the different kinds of athletic sports.

The limits vary individually within very wide marks, and if observations made on a number of individuals of the present generation put them very low this does not mean that they would be the true and desirable limits if we had a generation whose physical education from the beginning had been undertaken and carried out upon a plan only one-fourth or even one-tenth as elaborate as the plan for its mental education, not only as far as exercise and sport are concerned, but also in regard to eating, drinking, clothing, sleeping, pleasures, stimulants, etc., and whose individuals were willing to continue to live upon a similar plan after growing out of the hands of their educators.

Live a simple, natural life, take strenuous exercise every day of your life, even should you steal the time to do so, and see what will become of your personal limit for the various kinds of sports.—New York Medical Journal.

Indian Punishment.

Some idea of what Baroda, India, was in times comparatively recent may be gathered from the following: A hundred elephants were kept at the expense of the state, and criminals were executed in a most horrible manner. The poor wretch, tied hand and foot, was fastened by a long rope round the waist to the elephant's hind leg. Then the animal was made to trot through the city, and the man, at almost every step rebounding against stones and obstacles, soon became a mass of bruises and wounds and a ghastly spectacle. If he survived this, his head was placed on a block, and the elephant crushed it with his foot.—Exchange.

Sun Spots.

Astronomers have not generally accepted theory as to the cause and nature of sun spots, but some connection with terrestrial phenomena surely exists, because the curves representing the frequency of magnetic storms and of the aurora borealis are practically identical with the curve of sun spot frequency.

Real Sinkers.

"How did they catch the thief that robbed the railroad eating house?" "He was so weighted down with plunder he couldn't run." "Money and silverware, I suppose?" "No; doughnuts."—Milwaukee Sentinel.
