Grain Exhibits For State Fair.

Helena Independent

Numerous samples of farm products are being received every day at the office of the state fair permanent exhibit, and if present indications can be taken for an example there will be a fine exhibit of grain and vegetables at the state fair to be held September 25 to 30. Letters are being received by Secretary of the State Fair James A. Shoemaker asking if this and that county can not be allowed more feet of space for exhibits as they all write, "we are going to have a bumper crop this year, better than ever before, so we must have the space to make a favorable showing."

Two samples were yesterday received at the fair rooms, one being that of some blue joint hay grown on the Tyrett ranch six miles northwest of Helena, and which is of the irrigated variety, and is a splendid sample. The other exhibit was received from the Spokane ranch, six miles east of Helena, and is a sample of turkey red wheat, from the non-irrigated section, and is one of the best specimens received at the state fair rooms.

Hingham Review: The Hingham Commercial Club next year is going to plant the town square in potatoes, and hope thereby to realize enough money to keep the town well in running order and to pay some other expenses which cannot be raised by taxation, the town not being incorporated. This will render the ground in fine condition for planting trees, and also serve as a good advertisement in the way of convincing new-comers that this section can raise vegetables.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS.

A Grist of Items Gathered From Our Northern Montana Exchanges.

Conrad Observer: Work on the irrigation project is progressing favorably, and new grading camps are being established daily. There will be five grading camps established between Conrad and the Jones ranch within a short time. Sub-contractors are arriving weekly at Valter.

Shelby News: W. W. Parrott was here Monday and took home a big load of grub from Meade's store. He says crops are immense all over the entire region extending from Shelby to the hills. In selecting his own ranch, however, he removed all temptation to plow by taking it up where the rock was so thick that he couldn't hit the ground.

Hinsdale Homestead: Tuesday afternoon Hinsdale and vicinity was visited by a destructive hail storm. It came from the west. The storm was about three miles wide and about fifteen miles long. Nearly all the flax in this strip was about ready to harvest and was almost totally destroyed, other grains, corn and garden truck, was badly damaged.

Chinook Opinion: The wool season is practically at a close here as the remainder of the clips in the warehouse are being shipped out this week. A large proportion of the wool was shipped on consignment and the buyers have all taken their departure without buying as large amount as usual. Prices offered have not been satisfactory to the growers and have not even been as good as at other points in the state.

Havre Promoter: O. G. Skylesd, chairman of the board of county commissioners, received a letter from L. W. Hill, president of the Great Northern, this week congratulating Chouteau county upon the excellent roads here. He states that the best roads encountered by the Twin City autoists in Montana were in this county and requests information as to the amount of roads improved, money expended, and methods used.

Glasgow News: The Culbertson Commercial Club has called a meeting to be held in Culbertson on Saturday, August 26, to discuss the advisability of making a move for a new county. Everyone realizes that the east end of Valley county is rapidly developing into a thickly populated district, sufficient to support a new county organization, and as all the towns from Plentywood to Culbertson are anxious for a new county in the east end, the meeting at Culbertson next Saturday, the 26th inst., will result in a rousing attendance.

Choteau Acantha: Some time ago, Peter Eyraud, contracted for a combined harvester and thresher, which arrived in due time, and is now on the job of taking care of the immense grain crop of the Eyraud ranch. The new machine was a success from the start, and is giving the best of satisfaction. It cuts, threshes and sacks the wheat on forty acres per day. The motor power is Mr. Eyraud's gasoline engine. Mr. Eyraud is preparing to haul his grain directly from the field to the elevator at Collins, having employed the Arneson traction engine for that purpose.

Joplin Times: Homesteaders should be very careful about driving livestock from their claims. Our laws do not provide for keeping up stock. It is a man's duty to fence against the stock coming into his fields and unless he does so there is no way to collect damages from the owner, except in the case of sheep with a herder in charge. It is within the law to drive livestock off one's land but it must be done in a decent manner and unless it is so done the owner might have a good case against the land owner instead of the latter having cause of action against the owner of the stock. Until you put up a good fence it will be well to go a little slow.

Hunt Bear In Helena Streets.

HELENA, Aug. 20.—Billings last week had a coyote and a prairie dog on its court house lawn. Helena today had a real wild bear come down from the hills south of Lenox and caused a great commotion in the Sixth ward. It finally took refuge from a score of hunters by climbing a telegraph pole and there was killed.

The animal was spotted in the hills just a short distance back of Lenox by William Austin, a youngster, who herds cattle. The bear, which was nearly grown, was frightened and ran north through Lenox across the flat to the Sixth ward, and Austin and several other boys in pursuit on horse back.

With about 60 hunters in pursuit the animal was chased through the streets and when the bullets began to fly it climbed a telegraph pole and was killed. Then every hunter claimed the glory and a wrangle ensued over who should get the carcass and hide, the most blatant sportsman finally getting away with the hide and a quarter of meat.

Buy it now. Now is the time to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed before the summer is over. This remedy has no superior. For sale by all dealers.

CONSERVE THE MOISTURE.

Agricultural Expert Advises Montana Dry Land Farmers.

By Thos. Shaw.

Montana has been visited with a fairly plentiful supply of rain in many localities; such a visitation is almost unheard of in the state. In many places the rain that fell in the first week in August, exceeded two inches. The damage to the crop that was being harvested caused some loss, but the extent of the loss is not to be compared with the benefit that will result from the rain.

In another way, however, this rainfall may be made to work great good. It has put moisture well down into stubble land. If much of it could be kept from getting away, the effect upon the crop of next spring will be very beneficial. How can it be kept in the soil? In two ways. By the first the land will be disked as soon as the grain is cut. By the second it will be plowed and harrowed as soon as plowed. The land that has been disked may be plowed later if necessary, or it may go over to the following spring in the disked form. But usually it will be preferable to plow it. Every effort should be put forth as far as this may be possible to save the moisture in the soil.

In many places the sod has been wet down far enough to make it plow nicely, could time be secured to do this work. This of course does not apply to all parts of the state, but it does to many places. The autumn is not so good a time to plow such land as the spring, but it is always a matter of much moment, to plow and land at a season when the work is not over-laborious.

The influence that the rain that has thus fallen may be made to exercise, may be far-reaching. It may be made to give much aid to the crop of 1912. It puts the farmer in a position to prepare at least a portion of his land in a way that would not be possible in a very dry autumn. Of course farmers are very busy with their harvesting at present, and because of this, they may not be able to do much that they would like to do as outlined above. Every effort however should be put forth in the direction indicated. These rains also favor greatly putting winter rye into the soil by drilling it into undisked grain stubbles as soon as this can be done. The ample moisture will insure germination in the rye, and this will go far to insure a fair return the next season, as rye sown under such conditions would not be liable to winter kill.

An ordinary case of diarrhoea can, as a rule, be cured by a single dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This remedy has no superior for bowel complaints. For sale by all dealers.

Killed By Saloon Robbers.

BUTTE, Aug. 18.—Telephone advices late tonight from Pipestone Springs, just east of this city, state that an attempt was made tonight to holdup the Springs saloon, two masked bandits entering the barroom and upon finding about a dozen men lounging around, apparently got frightened and commenced shooting. "Dago" John, a Greek section hand was instantly killed, being shot, was shot through the body twice and through the head, a man named Koontz perhaps fatally wounded, while another Greek section hand was shot through the hand and neck. His condition also is serious. The robbers without attempting to secure any plunder, turned and fled in the darkness into the nearby mountains. An automobile loaded with officers has left Butte for the scene.

Both Annoying.

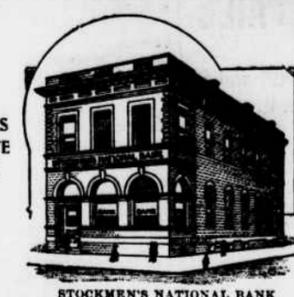

"Two things make my wife awful mad."
"What are they?"
"To get ready for company that doesn't come and to have company come when she isn't ready."—Philadelphia Inquirer.
