

DUAL PURPOSE CATTLE FOR THE NORTHWEST

1.—Milking Shorthorn and Ayshire cows, imported by Mr. J. J. Hill for his North Oaks farm, near St. Paul, Minn. 2.—The milking Shorthorn bull, Bransby's Coming Star, 107990, champion of England as a two-year-old, imported by Mr. J. J. Hill from Babraham Hall, Cambridge, England. 3.—The milking Shorthorn cow, Eastover Kirklevington 14th, imported by Mr. J. J. Hill from J. Chivers & Son, near Cambridge, England.

By PROFESSOR THOMAS SHAW.

THIS is now in the quarantine at Quebec the largest importation of milking Shorthorns ever brought to America. Heretofore only a few individuals of this class have ever crossed the Atlantic for this country. These cattle were purchased in England by Mr. J. J. Hill and will be brought to his North Oaks farm not far from St. Paul. Mr. Hill is a strong believer in the value of the two purpose cow—that is, the cow for milk and also for beef, usually spoken of now as the dual purpose cow, and of cows of this class he regards none as superior to the milking Shorthorn, called in Britain the dairy Shorthorn. He believes that this type of cow is one that is admirably suited to the needs of the average farmer, and in this he is unquestionably right, notwithstanding the teaching of many in our experiment stations to the contrary. Mr. Hill's Shorthorn importation consists of twenty-eight animals, of which three are males. The females are young cows from two to six years old. They are all now milking and will calve again in due time. Individually they rank high, having been chosen with much care. They have milk records running from 6,000 to 10,000 pounds a year. There is certainly large room for this class of cattle in all the northwestern states. This does not mean that there is no place for the dairy breeds, but viewed from the standpoint of the present and prospective demand for beef there is a much larger place for dual cattle. This in future must come from the arable farm, and it must come mainly from dual cattle that will be milked.

BOY'S ROMPERS.

Good Style For the Small Folk.

CORDUROY ROMPERS.

Corduroy is a good serviceable fabric, and, although white was chosen for this attractive romper suit, it may be cleaned easily. The Russian blouse is slashed at the sides and faced with red duvety. It has buttons and belt of the same fabric.

TANGO SLIPPERS.

They're Made of the Most Elegant Materials.

The new tango slipper is made in any number of beautiful materials that no one dreamed of using for footwear a few years ago—silver tissue, cloth of gold, aluminum, copper and fancy tinsel, delicate lace and gem studded brocades.

The thing that makes a tango slipper the real thing, though, is not the material, but ribbons of the same shade, called tango lacings, which strap over the instep and around the ankle, holding it firmly. These are fastened to the slipper by four tiny clasps of rhinestones, two on a side.

The sandal slipper with strap over the instep is also popular for dancing, because in these vigorous dances of the moment you can't afford to do the Cinderella act, for while it might be rather fetching to lose a pretty tango trotter it might also be dangerous to the preservation of an upright position.

In other words, you and your partner might assume just such a position as you did when you first learned to skate.

The slipper with fur trimmings will never be popular, say the dealers. It is a novelty, and as such interests some, but it is too suggestive of the bedroom slipper, and, anyway, it is bound to make the foot or ankle look a little clumsy, and no one wants that to happen.

Pride Keeps Women Warm Nowadays. From the abundance of thin and gauze-like lingerie and knitted underwear offered for winter wear the saying of some one's grandmother, "Pride keeps folks warm nowadays," expresses the opinion of many others save those who claim to know the delights of the latest way of dressing. One is protected from the cold by warm coats and furs rather than by heavy, warm underclothing.

The prevailing fashions have brought about many new styles of underwear which take the place of lingerie to a great extent. Knitted silk undershirts, bloomers and combination garments are a generally approved class of underwear.

The silk variety, woven like gloves, are the favorites, even though they are expensive in the best qualities. Bloomers take the place of muslin garments to a great degree for street and evening wear. They are made with an elastic in the belt and in the legs at the knees, where there is a little fullness.

A Lunch Innovation.

Americans who have never been abroad will be surprised to know that they are only beginning to install bathrooms in the houses of ordinarily well off people in Paris. Twenty years ago few of the hotels even had baths installed in bathrooms. They had movable baths, and the bath cart stopped at the house, the man carrying up a tub and filling it with a hose and then moved on, to carry the tub away on his return.

Labor Saved.

Spread a couple of thicknesses of newspapers on your sink board. Set your skillets, saucepans or other dirty dishes on the paper instead of on the board. This saves the board from many a stain and saves much scouring.

The Weekly River Press is a good newspaper to send away to your friends in the east. It will save you the trouble of writing letters.

TRICKS OF LIGHT.

Why People Sometimes Feel Dull or Uncomfortable at Table.

How few people realize that they are actually suffering from snow blindness in miniature every time they read or work over a white surface on which a brilliant light shines directly. Half tone paper, for instance, which is the common medium for the majority of books we read, will throw a blinding glare into the eye of the reader if the light strikes it at the wrong angle, and it forms an excellent test for the selection of proper lighting for a room and for the placing of the lighting fixtures, for lighting diffusion should be such as to allow comfortable reading from half tone paper in any position.

A dome hanging above a dining table on which is white cloth causes the light to reflect into the eyes of those around the table at an angle that produces muscular strain. This has a peculiar effect upon the senses, and drowsiness and mental inertia are apt to result. People are apt to complain of a feeling of dullness at table or that they have indigestion when it is, in reality, the effect of the light.

A too brilliant light shining directly into the eye plays many curious psychological tricks. Deaf people, for instance, cannot hear so well if they are facing a brilliantly lighted room, and, as for being able to see better by a bright light than by a dim one, exactly the reverse is the case, for detail of objects become practically lost to the eye when too much light enters it.—Suburban Life Magazine.

Advice to Consumptives.

The only safe course for a person suffering from consumption is to select a good physician and be guided in all things by that physician's advice. If a new cure is discovered during your illness your doctor will know it. If the cure is genuine he will know that and be the first to insist on applying the new remedy to your case. If the so called cure is a fake his caution will save you from wasting valuable time and strength pursuing will-o'-the-wisps.

Meantime, while waiting on new discoveries, he will keep you on the commonplace but effective prescription of rest, plentiful diet and all the fresh air there is. This regime has cured tens of thousands of cases of tuberculosis and will cure hundreds of thousands more.—Chicago Journal.

Some Muse.

A poet is a crazy chap. We know a certain loon Who every spring desires to sing About the harvest moon.

And then there is that other boob Who always takes a pride To sing a tune some time in June About the blushing bride. —Yonkers Statesman.
