STOCKMEN'S NATIONAL BANK

FORT BENTON, MONTANA

THE STRENGTH and financial resources of this old-established Bank have been increased by its association with the new Federal Reserve system, of which most of the largest banks in the United States are members. This new departure will assure a still better service to the public than has been possible under the former conditions.

In extending the greetings of the season to our numerous patrons, we desire to express our appreciation of their confidence and good will, and to assure them that it will always be our desire to co-operate with them in making our business relations satisfactory and profitable to all concerned.

It is our sincere wish that each day of the coming year will bring happiness and prosperity to all.
