FREE SILVER MEN.
To Drop Politics and Combine For The Common Cause.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—The free silver forces of the United States will be consolidated, and headquarters established in Chicago. Gen. Warner will be president of the consolidated body and Edward B. Light secretary. This much was agreed upon at the conference of the silver leaders at the Auditorium hotel last night. A committee of nine was appointed to take charge of affairs and keep the headquarters open. The committee promptly launched a bomb in the shape of the following resolution: "It is the sense of this committee that an early conference of bimetallists from all the states who are willing to place the cause above party, be called to meet and formulate a plan toward holding a national convention to nominate candidates for president and vice president of the United States upon a platform with a sole plank providing for the restoration of silver to its original place in the currency of our country without waiting the action of any other nation on earth. Resolved, further, that all persons who attend said conference shall have previously declared their attention in writing of placing the cause of free coinage of silver independently by the United States above all party allegiance. Resolved, further, that the object of such conference shall be to inaugurate a distinctive silver movement for the campaign of 1896, before it is too late for effective action, to the end that all who believe in free coinage may unite for that campaign in the solution of this great question and be left free to readjust their political actions after this is settled. Resolved, further, that if said American Bimetallist League and National Bimetallist Union shall fail to join in said call by Nov. 1, 1895, then the president of this organization shall issue said call on behalf of this organization. Resolved, further, that the question of representation at said conference and the method of selecting delegates shall be settled by the presidents of the organizations herein mentioned, and such organization shall be entitled to equal representation."

Chicago, Sept. 19.—The resolutions formulated by the executive committee of the national silver convention are as follows: Resolved—By the executive committee of the national silver convention, that the American Bimetallist union be requested to join with this organization in calling a conference for the third Tuesday, in December, 1895, at Chicago, to take action in formulating a plan for holding a national convention to nominate candidates for president and vice president of the United States on a platform with a sole plank providing for the restoration of silver to its original place in the currency of our country without waiting the action of any other nation on earth. Resolved, further, that all persons who attend said conference shall have previously declared their attention in writing of placing the cause of free coinage of silver independently by the United States above all party allegiance. Resolved, further, that the object of such conference shall be to inaugurate a distinctive silver movement for the campaign of 1896, before it is too late for effective action, to the end that all who believe in free coinage may unite for that campaign in the solution of this great question and be left free to readjust their political actions after this is settled. Resolved, further, that if said American Bimetallist League and National Bimetallist Union shall fail to join in said call by Nov. 1, 1895, then the president of this organization shall issue said call on behalf of this organization. Resolved, further, that the question of representation at said conference and the method of selecting delegates shall be settled by the presidents of the organizations herein mentioned, and such organization shall be entitled to equal representation.

Resolved, further, that the question of representation at said conference and the method of selecting delegates shall be settled by the presidents of the organizations herein mentioned, and such organization shall be entitled to equal representation.

roads to get it out on. There is but little chance for work. Miners get $3, carpenters $2.50 per day. Money is plenty here, if one has any way to get it.

REPUTED ANACONDA DEAL.

The Miner's Correspondent Says The Rothschilds Are Buying. New York, Sept. 19.—[Special to the Miner]—Reliable reports from London confirm the news of the sale of a quarter interest in the shares of the Anaconda company to the Rothschild syndicate. It is positively stated that they have an option on the remainder of the shares and that they intend to float them in London on the basis of $30,000,000 for the property. Hamilton Smith, president of the Exploration company in London, will reach Butte today or tomorrow to make the examination of the property. It is thought here that the sale of the three-fourths interest will depend largely upon Mr. Smith's report, inasmuch as he has twice examined and reported upon the South African gold fields, and the Rothschilds have great confidence in his judgment. The general feeling among copper men is that the fact of the Rothschilds gaining possession of this property will give strength and stability to the copper market.

Mexico Wants Cuba.

City of Mexico, Sept. 20.—The Mexican Herald urges that Mexico, in her imperial destiny, has need of Cuba, which, if not interfered with, will, in case of independence being secured, drift to this country. "Cuba," says the Herald, "would be a rendezvous in the future for the Mexican navy, and every argument of race, tradition and language favors Cuba as a Mexican state rather than as an American territory." Several other journals here favor the annexation of Cuba.

A Dandy World.

I have noted one thing in a long career of newspaper work. Every trades or manufacturing occupation are always enthusiastically enthusiastic for their home papers to "give" up their respective callings, and give the people merry news for not patronizing home industry. My experience has been that a paper might jingling for this class until the imperial regions froze over without receiving one iota of advertising patronage. When they start in business they plead poverty; when their business is built up then they say no advertising is necessary. But they always invoke the aid of the poor newspaper, which has to suffer the curses of the community for its gambling and calumny howling. This is a dandy world and it is filled with dandy people.—The By-stander.

How to Light a Cigar.

"Just look at that man trying to light his cigar," remarked an observing individual who stood in front of the Record building yesterday. He pointed, as he spoke, toward a smoker who had taken refuge behind a bronze figure of "The Lion Fighter" in front of the postoffice. He had struck several matches, but as he held them in the hollow of his hands they flickered out one by one. "Now if that fellow knew the secret, he could hold a match between his palms until it burned down to his fingers. All that is necessary is to open a little air space between the hands in back of the match to allow the circulation of air. By holding the hands tightly together the air rushes into the hollow between the palms and puffs the match out. Any one who is up to the trick of holding the hands slightly apart while the match is burning can light a cigar successfully nine times out of ten; in the stiffest kind of a breeze.—Philadelphia Record.

An Object Lesson.

The yield of wool in this country for 1895 is estimated at 294,000,000 pounds, a falling off in production of over 27 per cent since the Wilson bill went into effect. On the other hand, the importation of shoddy has increased over 1,000 per cent in the last seven months. The democrats predicted that, under the new tariff, the poor man would have cheap clothes. Their predictions will evidently be fulfilled.

Cast Iron Bricks.

An account of glass bricks has come to us from France, and now word of cast iron bricks comes from Germany. It is said that they are being used for the walls of several public buildings. They are hollow, fitting into each other by projecting ribs in one and corresponding grooves in another. They are lighter than bricks of clay, and require neither mortar nor skilled labor in their erection.

ALL ARE DEAD.

Effect of the Administration's Financial Policy on Idaho Towns.

Detective Meiklejohn gives a most gloomy account of the conditions of the towns in Idaho that he visited on his chase after Irvine which shows the effect the low price of silver has on the sister state. Salmon City is found quite lively and money comparatively easy. Four gambling houses are running full blast there and quite a number of gamblers who formerly lived here are holding out there. Challis is almost deserted. Two saloons are kept open but do very little business. The few inhabitants the place still contains do nothing but drink whisky, and between drinks curse Cleveland and his silver policy. Ketchum is dead. The large smelter that was built there some years ago is boarded up and in charge of a watchman who haunts it like a ghost. Nearly every building in the place is deserted, and Mr. Meiklejohn was offered for $200 a block that cost over $6,000. Hailey is also dead, but has a few more people. Bellevue is like Ketchum, not much more than a reminiscence.

DURING THE WEEK.

Mrs. Langtry is seeking a divorce in the California courts.

John W. Griggs has been nominated for governor by the New Jersey republicans.

Michigan has been visited by a cyclone which did great damage and killed several people.

The sovereign grand lodge of Odd Fellows has barred saloon men from membership in the order.

The supreme court has declared the A. P. A. police commissioners of Omaha, the legally constituted board.

The New York state republican convention have formally endorsed Gov. Morton's candidacy for the presidency.

Seven leaders of the mob of "vegetarians" who murdered the American and European missionaries in China have been executed.

The dedication of the battle field of Chickamauga as a national park, and the erection of various state and regimental monuments occurred last week.

Governor Culbertson, of Texas, still declares he will stop the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight, even to the extent of arresting and jailing the principals.

It has been decided to hold a grand colonial exhibition at Montreal next year. The exhibition will comprise the products of five colonies—Canada, Australia, New Zealand, the Cape Colonies and Newfoundland.

An official dispatch from Havana says a court martial has condemned the captain of the American steamer Mascotte to eight years and the fireman to ten years at hard labor for landing cartridges in Cuba for the insurgents.

Ex-United States Senator Jones, of Iowa, is growing blind. He has lost the sight of the right eye, and when a film forming over the left is complete, he will submit to an operation which will restore the sight or make his blindness total.

The city of Ipswich, S. D., was visited by fire early last Friday morning and all efforts to control it were futile. Assistance was offered by neighboring towns but came too late. The business portion of the city was completely wiped out.

William Carlton, a wealthy merchant of New York and Chicago, dropped dead at the Fountain hotel in the National park. He went to Cincinnati a few days ago and was making a tour of the park with the transportation company.

Henry of Navarre won a race at Gravesend against the best handicap horses of the year, including Sir Walter, Clifford, Domino and Rey El Santa Anita, thus establishing himself as the year's king of the running turf. Clifford was second and Sir Walter third.

Twenty-two violins of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries were found in a passenger's luggage on the North German Lloyd steamship, Fuerst Bismarck, in Hoboken. The violins were concealed in a quantity of bedding. They were seized. The violins are worth $20,000.

Mrs. Abbie Gardner Sharp, the only survivor of the Spirit Lake massacre, who was captured by the Indians, and whose release was effected by United States troops at the time of the massacre, is working to have a bill introduced in the next general assembly of Iowa making her the custodian of the monument for life. The bill will undoubtedly pass, and the salary that will be granted will be considered by the state as a pension.

NEWS OF THE STATE.

All the buildings except one at Fort Harrison have been turned over to the government.

Lack of funds for wages may lead to the suspension of work on the Castle railroad from Helena.

Judge Woody, at Missoula, sentenced the Clarks to 17 years in the penitentiary for the killing of Stewart.

Lillie Hamilton, a once-gifted actress and dancer, well known in the profession, died at Butte last Friday night.

The Northwest Stone company have presented to the capitol building committee at Helena sufficient blue granite for building the exterior.

The Burlington road has notified section foremen along their line to take immediate steps toward routing out the Russian thistle wherever found.—Billings Gazette.

Joe Weir is in jail in Cascade county, charged with criminal assault on a little 7-year-old deaf, dumb, and crippled girl. He confesses his crime and is in great fear of lynching.

C. W. Cook secured a pack of eleven wolf hound pups last week for the use of himself and Len Lewis, and expects to make it depressing for wolves and coyotes next year.—Husbandman.

C. Sailer, of Missoula, was the successful bidder for erecting the Normal school building at Dillon. His figures were $31,750, or $1,250 less than Architect Paulsen's estimate. Work will begin immediately.

The Wickes Pioneer calls attention to the unsafe condition of the high railroad trestle of the Great Northern near Corbin. It is 100 feet high and when a train passes over it, it rocks from side to side like a ship in a storm.

Martin Strasburg is in Grand Rapids, Mich., purchasing machinery for the Great Falls Stucco company, the newly organized company that will develop the deposits of gypsum and other minerals discovered some time ago near Kibbey.

The old employees of the Spotted Horse mine at Maiden have foreclosed their liens and their claims have been taken up by the Bank of Fergus, which has obtained possession of that gold property. The total liabilities are $25,000.

At Helena the case to test the constitutionality of the anti-gambling law, entitled the state vs. Peter H. Kelly, was argued before Judge Blake and submitted. The losing party to the action will carry it to the supreme court, which will consider it within a day.

Seven girls in the Helena Cracker factory are out on a strike. They were earning from 50 to 60 cents a day and thought they were entitled to more. The factory management refuses to accede to the girls' demands, so that their places will be filled by others.

A teamster named Becker, employed in hauling ore from the Daisy mine at Cooke to Cinnabar, was found dead on the road beside his horse. It is supposed that in coming down a steep grade he was thrown off in front of the wagon and the wheels ran over him. He was holding onto the lines when found and the horses were turned up against the side of the hill.

Frances E. Moore, department president W. R. C. of Montana, arrived here in Missoula, Saturday. Mrs. Moore was elected a member of the national executive council at the convention in Louisville, Ky., where she has been to represent the department of Montana. This is the first time in the history of the W. R. C. of Montana that it has been honored by an elective office.

The Knights of Pythias at Harve have organized the Pythian Building association. The following officers have been elected: President, C. N. Atkinson; first vice president, T. Lyons; second vice president, T. H. Raymond; secretary and treasurer, H. W. Stringfellow; directors, E. B. Norell, J. W. Hyndman, L. Newman. This association will erect a hall to cost between $15,000 and $30,000.

W. F. and D. F. Robinson, of Minneapolis, are passing through the state riding a tandem bicycle on their trip around the country. They spent the last ten days in the National park sightseeing. The riders left Minneapolis August 4th. They will ride to California and spend the winter, and in the spring continue their trip through the southern states, and expect to reach New York next September. They are writing articles for eastern journals describing the country through which they pass.

San Diego, Cal., has at least one woman with a genius for invention. Being bothered by a neighbor's chickens invading her garden, she hit upon a novel scheme for luring that offending birds be kept at home. She tied a lot of small cards with strong threads to big kernels of corn and wrote on the cards: "Please keep your chickens at home." The chickens ate the corn and carried the message to their owners in a fashion that was startling and effective.

How to keep his love. Do not buy his cigars. Do not buy his neckties. Do not buy his suspenders. Do not criticize his hat or ask him where he got it. Do not at breakfast ask him what he wants for dinner. Do not insist on his going to church simply to please you. Do not insist on receiving company that is unbecoming to him. Do not tell him that your boy, if you have one, takes his temper from him. Do not wear a bonnet when he thinks you look better in a hat, and vice versa. Do not ask him when he comes home in the evening what he has been doing all day. Do not persist in his giving you the same attention he gave you before you got him. Do not cross him in his opinions. For heaven's sake let him think he is smarter than anybody else. Do not tell him what your dearest woman friend has said about her husband's good qualities. Do not tell him that every woman you know has more clothes and has a better time than you.—Chicago Chronicle.
