Small in the Air

Last week Saturday Ed. Mackin, a sheep herder near Bercail, tried to take his life by cutting his throat. He was found in his wagon by one of the ranchers shortly after the attempt had been made, and Dr. Campbell of this place was sent for at once. When Dr. Campbell arrived he found Mr. Mackin in a very low condition, and that he had very small chances to recover. Up to this time, however, there has no news arrived of his death. It is thought that Mr. Mackin was somewhat mentally deranged.

The above item appeared in Thursday's Great Falls Tribune, from the correspondent at Harlowton. The correspondent is correct in everything except the physician who attended the patient. When Mr. Mackin was brought to Judith Gap, Dr. Moffet was called and dressed his ghastly wound. The patient remained in one of the rooming houses of Judith Gap under the care of Dr. Moffet.

The Journal understands that Attorney Husband is the correspondent of the Tribune at Harlowton. If so, he will certainly make the amends honorably to Dr. Moffet in giving the Judith Gap physician credit for services Dr. Campbell of his own city was undoubtedly very desirous of securing. Dr. Campbell may be a very good physician, but we have a first class one right here in Judith Gap and it is not necessary to send out of town for a capable surgeon.

As the News man is the correspondent for the Great Falls Tribune instead of Mr. Husband, he takes upon himself to make the necessary corrections. Brother Small is right in that the Judith Gap doctor attended Mr. Mackin, the sheepherder, that cut his throat a few weeks ago. The News man thinking that since the doctor of this place, Mr. Campbell, had been the first one to be called that he naturally attended him, but we have since found out that before Mr. Campbell appeared on the scene that the unfortunate man had been taken to the Gap on a train.

Just what made the editor of the Journal go up into the air over such a small mistake, which he knows can creep into the best of newspapers, we do not know, but it displays some fungous mindedness on his part. The statement, that Dr. Campbell was so desirous of receiving the credit of attending Mr. Mackin, that he misconstrued things to the writer of this article, is enough to make the ordinary man call Dr. Moffet of Judith Gap to feel his pulse.

Go After It

Some time ago one of the officials of the Milwaukee railroad made the statement to the News man that Harlowton is badly in need of an experimental station, which it could easily get if the citizens of this place would get together and ask the Milwaukee to help them. The Milwaukee railroad is willing to help to put in an experimental farm at this place if it gets the hearty support of every citizen and business man in Harlowton, but it will not go ahead without this support. There is not a single person in this city that does not realize that the "Pride of the Musselshell" is badly in need of this one thing, so it is up to us all to put our shoulders to the wheel and start the thing going.

Dosen't Know Any Better.

A Chicago man has written a book attacking the evils of the day and winds up a paragraph on Childless life of the fashionable marriages as follows: "I would rather be a squatter on a western prairie, living in a dugout fighting floods and fires, with a true woman beside me, than to live in a palace in Chicago with a fashion plate for a wife and a poodle dog for a child."

The spirit of this writer is very good, but he has about as good an idea of the western states as an Indian has of an Egyptian mummy.

The Forsth-Times Journal says that Roundup has secured a "watch inspector" for the Milwaukee road, which leads The Record to believe that the town is to be made a division point; if a kid killed a tomcat it would probably be designated as a mountain lion at least, for publicity purposes.

The News flashes a new heading on its front page this week. This does not denote prosperity, but it means that a few of our delinquent subscribers will not only have to pay the News a visit, but also that subscription.

Build up This Country.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway is interested in the development and settlement of this country and, in the work of attracting immigration, needs the active assistance of settlers already located here.

This section of the country needs more farmers, dairymen and stockmen. The new towns need more merchants, business men and professional men. There are opportunities for all.

Nothing appeals so strongly to a prospective settler in a new country as a letter from an actual resident giving details as to the crops raised, the yields, the prices, the climate, the cost of getting a start, the water and fuel supply, and other information.

You have a splendid country. The soil is fertile, the climate good, and the chances for getting a start are much better here than they are in the thickly settled portions of the East.

You can help build up this country. If you have friends in the East try to interest them in locating here. I would like to have you write me about your personal experience since you located here. Geo. B. Haynes, Immigration agent, C. M. & St. P. R., 348 Marquette Bldg., Chicago.

Supreme Love

Modern Teaching Makes It Essential Thing

By COUNT LEO TOLSTOI

THE CHRISTIAN teaching in its full and true meaning, as in our day becomes more evident, is that the essence of human life is the conscious, ever-growing manifestation of that source of all, the indication of which in us is love; and that, therefore, the essential thing in human life and the highest law that can guide it is love.

That love is the necessary and most blissful condition of human life was acknowledged by all the religions teachings of antiquity. In all the teachings of the sages, Egyptian, Stoic, Brahmin, Buddhist, Taoist and others, concord, pity, mercy, philanthropy and love in general were considered the chief virtues. In the highest of these teachings this acknowledgment reached the point at which love for everything that lives was lauded and even the principle of returning good for evil; and this was particularly taught by the Taoists and Buddhists.

In all the pre-Christian teachings love was considered to be one of the virtues, but not what the Christian teaching acknowledges it to be: metaphysically the foundation of everything; practically the supreme law of human life—that is, the law which admits of no exception.

The Christian teaching in its relation to all the ancient teachings is no new and special teaching; it is only a more clear and definite expression of that foundation of human life which was felt and vaguely preached by previous religions. The Christian teaching is peculiar only in that, being the latest, it more exactly and definitely expresses the essence of the law of love, and the guidance for conduct inevitably following therefrom.

So that the Christian teaching of love is not, as in previous religions, merely the inculcation of a given virtue, but it is the definition of the supreme law of human life, and of the guidance for conduct inevitably resulting therefrom. The teaching of Christ explains why this law is the supreme law of human life, and it also points out the line of action a man must follow or avoid in consequence of his avowal of the truth of this teaching.

But the Christian teaching, in its real meaning, acknowledging the law of love to be supreme, and its application in life to be exempt from any exceptions, by that acknowledgment rejected all violence and consequently could not help rejecting the world's whole organization, founded as it is on violence.
