M. DONAHOE ANSWERS CALL
In Hospital at Rochester, Minnesota
Prominent Meagher County Resident.

Word was received in town on Wednesday by Richard Collins, from Mrs. M. Donahoe, informing him of the death of Mr. Donahoe, which occurred that morning at the Mayo Bros. hospital at Rochester, Minn.

Mr. Donahoe had been a patient at that hospital for the past six weeks and it was only last Saturday night that Mr. Collins, his superintendent, received a letter from him, stating that he expected to leave the hospital in a couple of weeks, and that he would visit the Springs on his way home.

Mr. Donahoe was one of the large land owners of Meagher county, his vast possessions being known as the Castle Mountain Live Stock Co. from which place large numbers of cattle were yearly shipped to the eastern market.

Mrs. Donahoe, who was at the hospital at the time of her husband's death, left the same time with the body, for her home in Seattle, where interment will take place.—Meagher County Republican.

In Memorium
Born to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. S. Gyles at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, on February 23, 1905, Master Charles D. Gyles, who died at his home in Harlowton, June 22, 1910, age 5 years, 3 months and 29 days.
A New Little Boy In Heaven.
"Oh, what do think the angels say,"
Said the children up in heaven,
There's a dear little boy coming here today
From the earth we used to live in.
Let's go and open the gates of joy,
Open them wide for this dear little boy,
Said the children up in Heaven.
"On the Earth do you hear them weep
Said the children up in Heaven;
For the dear little boy's gone to sleep,
The shadows fall and the night clouds weep,
O'er the earth we used to live in.
Oh, why do they sigh for this absent boy,
Said the children up in Heaven.
God wanted him here where the angels care,
For the children up in Heaven.
He'll play with us in the golden streets,
Of this new Jerusalem,
He had grown too fair, had grown too sweet,
For the earth we used to live in.
He needed the sunshine that dear little boy,
Which ever sheds on the gates of joy,
The bliss of that quiet Heaven,
Said the children up in Heaven;
Fly with him quietly, angels dear,
Said the children up in heaven,
Yes he is coming; look there,
Look there.
At the Jaspie light in his sunny hair,
Where the veiling clouds are riven"
"Oh, hush, hush, hush, the swift wings turl."
For the King Himself at the gates of pearl!
Is taking his hand, dear, tired little boy,
And leading him into heaven."

GOOD CROP IS ASSURED

Grain In This Section of Montana About Ready For Harvest---Big Yields.

The recent rains have put the crops in this section out of danger and a big yield of grain is expected. Hot winds and drouth have practically ruined the crops in many states while the much talked of "Dry Montana" will have a bumper crop in many sections.

O. M. Geer who returned this week from a trip of three weeks covering over 3000 miles in the Dakotas, Minnesota and Iowa says that the crops in this section of Montana are the best that he has seen. In speaking of the crop condition in these states he said the grain cannot be saved. That even with rain the grain will not be much more than half a crop and in places it is entirely burned out.

This section of Montana has had a sufficient rain fall during the entire season and the crops show it. Many of the new settlers who came here last fall and put in only a little crop on account of the reports of "Dry Montana" now regret their lack of faith, and will put much more under cultivation next year.

BURKE MURDER ARREST

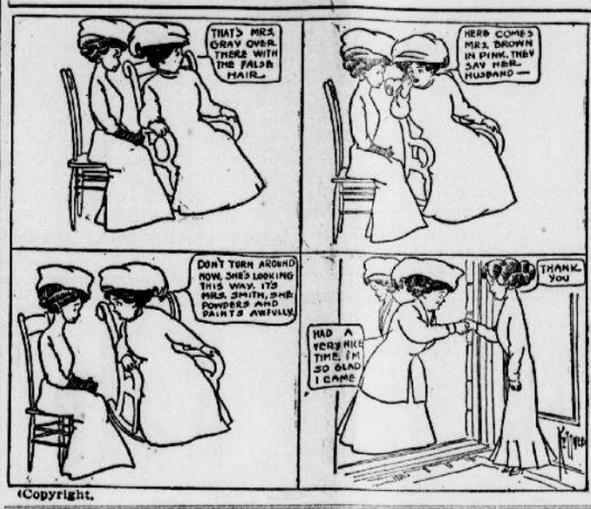

Stephen Suiter Under Arrest For Killing of Burke An Old Time Miner.

July 7.—Stephen Suiter, who has been running cattle in the vicinity of Maiden for several years, was arrested by Sheriff Ed. Martin today for the murder of Thomas Burke, an old-time mining man, at Maiden last week. The arrest was not a surprise, as it was generally known that Suiter was suspected from the first, ill feeling between himself and Burke having existed for a long time prior to the tragedy.

The officers will not make public their evidence against the prisoner at this time, but Sheriff Martin and County Attorney Huntoon visited Maiden again today and secured further evidence supporting the theory that Suiter killed Burke. The prisoner has not made any statement further than to say he expects to be free within a few days.

A. H. Eiselein spent Tuesday of this week in Roundup.
Joe Collings came down from Moore to spend the fourth with his brother.
The town lot sale at Willow Creek on July 14th is indicative of the development of Montana. Another large agricultural district is creating its own market.

GEO. B. HAYNES HERE

C., M. & St. P. Immigration Agent On Tour of Inspection Through Western States---Much Pleased With The Conditions Here.

Yesterday afternoon George B. Haynes, who is at the head of the Milwaukee Railroad Immigration Department stopped off here to take a look over the country surrounding Harlowton. Mr. Haynes is making a tour of inspection along the new coast extension. Accompanied by the traveling immigration agent A. D. Jones of this place, Mr. Haynes drove out into the country south and east of Harlowton and was greatly surprised at the wonderful transformation which has taken place so rapidly since his last trip to this section of the Musselshell Country. While talking with the Newsman Mr. Haynes said, "It is indeed wonderful to behold the fast advancement this part of Montana is making. What was only a few months ago an ultimate desert is now beginning to blossom as the rose, since the invasion by the sturdy settler from the east. The crops are in splendid condition, which shows they have had an abundance of rain."

Mr. Haynes tells the Newsman that in a very short time he expects to have completed arrangements for another Farmer's Institute to be held at this place this fall.

He also wishes the News to urge farmers around Harlowton to bring in specimens of grains and vegetables to be placed in the exhibit car next fall. Mr. Haynes desires very much that this section of Montana should be well represented.

From here the immigration agent continued his tour westward, leaving on No. 3 this forenoon.

After listening to the returns of the Jeffries-Johnson fight and learning of Johnson's victory, Charlie, the colored porter in Qualls' barber shop, became abusive. It is reported that some one in the crowd called the negro to account and hit him a couple of times. The negro drew a knife and began slashing right and left cutting Michael Cyr who happened to be passing at the time. BIG TIME AT RYEGATE

Celebration At Ryegate The Fourth Well Attended---Good Music, Contests and Dancing.

[By special correspondent to the News.]
The celebration given at Ryegate on the Fourth was one of the finest in this section of Montana. Persons from many miles around attended. A large crowd from Harlowton came down Sunday night returning Tuesday morning. The town was too small to accommodate the large attendance but the hospitality of the citizens could not be excelled, many giving up their beds to the visitors. Everyone reported a good time and wondered how so new a town could get up so fine a celebration. The weather was ideal and many good contests were pulled off. A. H. Eiselein was the speaker of the day. His oration though not long contained much food for thought. His delivery was excellent, each word ringing clear so that everyone of the throng heard and appreciated. The applause was long and persistent. Miss Delila McMahon read the Declaration of Independence in a manner that made all realize the great truths of that wonderful document.

The Harlowton Brass Band played all day. The music was very good, and the citizens of Ryegate cannot say enough in praise of the band boys. Many good contests were pulled off and the prizes were liberal. In the horse race Amundson took first prize, Patterson second and Bateman third. Bateman took first prize in the bucking contest while Ross took the money in the roping contest. An interesting game of base ball was played on the diamond east of town. The throng was so large that it was necessary to give two dances in the evening.

In the evening an additional bucking contest was given with the result that the people who had contributed to the purse were not satisfied. The horse would not buck and the rider evidently did not try to give the people an exhibition of riding. Charles Lantis a member of the committee on sports seeing the way the people felt, rode the horse himself making him buck and giving a very good demonstration of riding. The horse tried many stunts but to no avail for Lantis was there like a leach.

The people of Ryegate are to be congratulated on their excellent program and the hospitality of the citizens. This was Ryegate's first attempt and it was certainly a success.
