

ADVANCE PREMIUM LIST

MEAGHER COUNTY FAIR ASS'N
SEPTEMBER 21-22-23-24, 1910

As the harvest is at hand and the Fair Association are unable at this time to mail complete premium lists, owing to the fact that the same has not yet been received from the Printer, the Association hereby begs to announce a few special premiums offered for Irrigated and Non-Irrigated grains and grasses.

The premiums are very liberal indeed and should bring out to the Fair an exhibit of farm products unequalled by any other Fair in the state.

THE FIRST ANNUAL MEAGHER COUNTY FAIR is going to be a big success and it is now up to the Farmer to collect an exhibit that will do credit to Meagher County. The complete premium list will be immediately mailed to every resident in Meagher County.

FOREST DESTRUCTION IMMENSE

Helena Woman Tells of Danger When Traveling Through Fire Zone.

A well known Helena resident, who reached the city today after a 72-hour trip from Seattle, in an interview with a representative of The Montana Daily Record, relates a rather thrilling experience.

"People here do not realize," she said, "the danger in traveling through the fire zone. At various times yesterday, it seemed that our train would be consumed in the flames through which we traveled at snail's pace for hours at a time.

"I started from Seattle to Helena via the Great Northern, but because of bridges being burned out, we were obliged to transfer to the Northern Pacific at Sand Point. At this place passengers were brought to our train. They were compelled to desert their train in their night clothes and were glad to escape with their lives, so intense was the heat. The train, I understand, was consumed.

"The heat was terrific—in fact, almost suffocating, and there were many moments indeed when we did not know if they were to be our last or not. To say that it was a trying ordeal is putting it mildly, and I would not advise anyone to venture on a journey to the westward at this time.

"The destruction has been immense. It makes one almost shed tears to see the obliteration of the magnificent forests of western Montana and Idaho. While the loss will not be total so far as the lumber is concerned, it means a barring of the hills and valleys in the end, for the larger trees I am told, must be cut within a year or two or else they will decay. The smaller growth is burned to its entirety.

"Many stories were related to us concerning escapes of Montanians from the seething furnaces, but in Idaho the residents and fighters were not so fortunate, scores upon scores having sacrificed their lives. Northern Idaho is a veritable cauldron and the sight is one that will never be effaced from my mind."

The Watermelon.

In the old days, when the world was much better than it is now, there were good watermelons. As we remember them, the watermelons of twenty-five, or thirty, or thirty-five years ago, were huge affairs. They were none of your overgrown cucumber effects of to-day, but were great big round fellows, and the outside was a dark green. It was the same shade of green as the reflection of the trees in a swimming hole.

And when you sunk the knife into it the rind ripped and cracked for two inches ahead of the blade—and the melon just laughed itself open!

Hold on! You didn't use a knife. You lifted the melon above your head and dropped it to the ground and it burst open, as red as a rose and a hundred times as sweet. And you ate nothing but the heart—just the chunky, crisp, red heart.

Nowadays the marketman shows you an oblong affair done in pale green and greenery-gallery stripes, with a white blotch on the under side, that he calls a watermelon. And you cut it in slices like bologna sausage, and eat it with a fork like pie.

And you have forgotten whether a watermelon goes plunk-plunk or plunk-plunk when it is ripe. Because it doesn't make any difference now.

Esthetic.

"I have called, madam," said the reporter, "to ask for an interview. It is said that you have installed a complete force of Chinese servants in place of the colored ones you formerly employed."

"That is true," said the lady. "And is it because you find their services better, and them more faithful, more earnest in their efforts to please you?"

"Do you know? I never gave that a thought. I merely got them because they harmonize with the decorative treatment of my dining and reception rooms."

Why Bradley Shoes Wear Best

Bradley Shoes are made with the right allowance of leather at the ball of the foot. This does away with the necessity of stretching in order to make them feel right.

Shoes that have to be stretched never wear long. They run over the edges and the uppers leave the soles. Bradley Shoes prevent these troubles.

They Cost More to Make

Of course it costs more to put in high quality leather and to do the many other things which the Bradley & Metcalf Co. do to add to the quality of their shoes.

But the shoes don't cost you any more than ordinary shoes. And the manufacturers are well repaid for the extra cost by the great growth in the sale of their shoes.

The Bradley & Metcalf Co. have been making honest shoes since 1843. We have their complete line for men, women and children and our prices offer you a big saving.

Bradley Shoes are made in the very latest styles.

Pain in Heart

"For two years I had pain in my heart, back and left side. Could not draw a deep breath or lie on left side, and any little exertion would cause palpitation. Under advice I took Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy and Nerve. I took about thirteen bottles, am in better health than I ever was, and have gained 14 pounds."

MRS. LILLIE THOMAS, Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

For many years Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy has been very successful in the treatment of heart troubles, because of its tonic effect upon the heart nerves and muscles. Even in severe cases of long standing it has frequently prolonged life for many years after doctors had given up all hope, as proven by thousands of letters we have received from grateful people.

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy is sold by all druggists. If the first bottle fails to benefit, your druggist will return your money.

An Editor's Story

The following story was told recently at a dress banquet: "An editor died and was, of course, directed to ascend to the abode of the just. But during the ascent the editor's curiosity asserted itself, and he said, 'Is it permitted for one to have a look at—er—the other place?'"

"Certainly," was the gracious reply, and accordingly a descent to the other place was made. Here the editor found much to interest him. He scurried about and was soon lost to view.

His angelic escort got worried at last and began a systematic search for his charge. He found him at last seated before a furnace, fanning himself and gazing in the fire. On the door of the furnace was a plate saying, "Delinquent subscribers."

"Come," said the angel to the editor, "we must be going."
"You go on," the editor answered without lifting his eyes. "I'm not coming. This is heaven enough for me."

If.
"If this snow were in Panama, or some tropical country," says the man who takes a cheery view of things, "it would be worth hundreds of dollars a square yard."
"If it were in Panama, or anywhere else but here," says the man who has neglected to put in his winter coal, "it would be worth a blamed sight more than it is to me."

With a bitter smile he goes into the street and slips and falls at the next corner.

Why He Did It.
Seeing a man on the street ahead, the new chauffeur madly kicks at the levers before him. The auto bucks, stops, starts, backs and finally jams against a telegraph pole.

"What in sam hill were you trying to do?" demands the owner, from the floor of the tonneau.

"Excuse me," says the chauffeur. "I just quit a job as motorman, and when I saw that fellow I tried to stink the gong."
